Soiled Down for Busy Readers

Washington, March 9.—President Wilson today was firm in his demands concerning article X and its reservation. He opposed very strongly anything that would impair "the full force" of the article.

Lincoln, March 9.—Contracts for paving roads in sections of the state, are to be let the first ten days in April. The amount will be approximately $1,000,000. Paving of the Lincoln Highway in Douglas county will amount to $850,000, this is exclusive of the amount set out by the state aid fund, it having been voted in a recent bond issue.

New York, March 9.—Terrific winds and gales along the Atlantic coast caused added destruction to marine equipment. Several ships have been abandoned and others have been lost. From some ships they have been unable to get messages.

Lincoln, March 9.—A 2-cent passenger rate on all railroads in Nebraska will become effective September first, unless congress or rail officials make some radical move before then.

Indianapolis, March 9.—The United Mine Workers of America will refuse the findings of the commission unless there is an increase in wages and an improvement in conditions throughout. Unless this is done the miners will feel that an injustice will have been rendered.

GOVERNMENT REGULATION ADVOCATED BY ENGINEERS

The Lincoln chapter of the American Association of Engineers advocates placing the practice of engineering under government regulation as is the practice of medicine and dentistry, to protect the public from inferior treatment. At a meeting Monday evening in Nebraska Hall the necessity for government regulation was discussed.

Dr. George E. Condra gave an illustrated lecture on the manufacture of potash. He advocated the establishment of a board of public works to care for the expenditure of public money. The present system makes necessary seven or eight bureaus of public works which leads to confusion and waste.

"It broadens our outlook upon life; it gives a lively interest in foreign conditions; it gives Nebraska women a chance to come in touch with women who are doing a great work, like Miss Coppock, Miss Burner, Miss Mai Yung Ting. It gives every girl on the campus an opportunity to support something really worth while."

The campaign will continue until every girl on the campus has been visited. The committee wants this work to be supported by the student body in proportion to each person's ability to give, not solely by the few wealthy girls who can afford to make large pledges.
