FARMER'S FAIR TO BE APRIL 10

Floats, Greased Pigs and Stunts
Will Feature Gala
Day.

COMMITTEES ARE NAMED

Plans for the Farmers Fair, given by the College of Agriculture on the Far Campus, Saturday, April 10, are at last well under way.

The Fair opens at noon with a parade down O Street. Floats, representing the various departments of the College, will be shown in gala array. Following the parade, which will terminate at the farm, free attractions will be offered. Greased pigs, steer riding contests, and stunts of a similar nature, are being planned by the various committees. Dancing and side-shows will be features of the afternoon's entertainment.

In the evening the Pike, with all its splendors and attractions, will offer added amusement. Free entertainment will again be given at this time. A musical comedy promises a rare treat.

Dancing will complete the evening's fun. The committees, as selected by the Fair Board, have for their chairmen the first-named persons. They consist of the following members:

Parade

Paul Ottenstein, Earl Borchering, Imane Walrath, J. F. Thaden, Leonard Redd, Asa Hepperly.

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE WEEK TO BE OBSERVED

Leaders Will Co-operate With Students in Mass Movement to Begin March 23.

The combined inter-church movement and vocational training meetings occur respectively March 23-24 and March 24-25 at the University and hundreds of students will participate. Committees appointed for each movement are diligently at work preparing an elaborate program. Local committees held preparatory meetings Monday. Four-minute speakers were sent to each fraternity, sorority, and lodging house to announce the meetings. Addresses will be given in the Temple Theatre. Lunches, dinners and conferences will be held in Woman's Hall unless otherwise specified.

At convocation this morning Miss Bertha Conde will speak in the interest of the vocational work.

She will also be heard at a five o'clock meeting. At six p. m. March 24 denominational dinners will be held in various city churches when special speakers will be provided. On Thursday, March 25, Miss Helen Bennett will speak at convocation. A luncheon for faculty women will be held that noon; in the evening there will be a dinner for university students. An evening meeting with addresses is also booked for that date.

PLAYERS TO PRESENT "THE WITCHING HOUR"

Fourth Production by Famous
Playwright Comes March
18-20—All-Star Cast.

The author of "The Copperhead"—Augustus Thomas, who is considered by many to be the leading American dramatist, wrote "The Witching Hour." Lionel Barrymore has played "The Copperhead" on the stage and on the screen. John Mason starred in "The Witching Hour" nine hundred and forty-seven times before his death.

Herman Thomas, '21, of Hebron has been chosen from the University Players to play the leading part in "The Witching Hour," Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. The entire cast has been most carefully chosen and all the members are well fitted for their respective parts. The director is wondering if Herman Thomas can live the part three times, if the great John Mason stood up under the strain of 947 presentations.

Tickets are on sale at Ross P. Currier's. The price is fifty cents plus war tax. The place is the Temple Theatre. The date is March 18, 19 and 20. Get all reservations now.

R. O. T. C. EXAMINATION

Physical Examination of all students in the R. O. T. C. is being conducted by Medical Officers of the U. S. Army. It is imperative that all students in this Department take this examination. Examination will be conducted during the regular drill hours for the various companies and batteries.

Medical Examiners will be at Room 202, Nebraska Hall, on Tuesday from 9:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon and from 1:00 to 3:30 p. m. for the purpose of examining students who cannot be examined with their companies or batteries.

Syracuse, N. Y., March 11.—The Orange Peel, one of the Syracuse University publications, has been ordered suspended by Chancellor Day because it contained pictures of chorus girls who had peeled off their stockings and other portions of their apparel. William J. Dalton, managing editor of the paper, also was suspended and an investigation has been ordered to place responsibility for the publication.

Co-ed Who Can't Live on $200 a Month Arrested For Shoplifting

Nona Banta, dramatic art student at the University Conservatory, and who claims to be the daughter of a wealthy western Nebraska land agent, is under arrest in Lincoln, alleged to have "shoplifted" from city department stores to the extent of $500. Miss Banta is only seventeen. The stolen wearing apparel and finery was found in her room after secret investigations by the police for several days. They were at first baffled by the successful operations of the girl, because of her apparent good reputation, officers assert.

The stolen articles included dresses, skirts, jackets, hats, and shoes, as well as miscellaneous goods, according to the police. Chief of Police Johnstone says that department stores which have been the victims of the girl's strategic "shop-liftings" have identified practically all the stolen goods.

$200 a month allowance from her father is not enough to buy all the beautiful clothes Miss Banta longed for, according to statements she made to officers.

Father to the Rescue

Juvenile authorities will have charge of the case, and the girl will be held in the custody of Police Matron Doyle at the police station until her father arrives from North Loup.

The girl's downfall is attributed to a "trick" which she is alleged to have perpetrated at Magee's store last week. She purchased a $145 suit and made a payment of $10 by check, Captain Anderson said. After she had left the store, the jacket to the suit was missing, according to the story of store clerks to the police.

Two jackets and one skirt were appropriated in one day last week, according to a check made by the police. Sardeson-Hovland lost one jacket, the Fashion Store a skirt and Magee's the other jacket, the police say.

Was a Busy Girl

Police claim Miss Banta took a dress from Mayer Bros.; a velvet dress from Robinson's; jacket from Herpolsheimers; hat and night gown from Rudge & Guenzel's, and some shoes. She had purchased some of the footwear, police say. The hat was taken from Rudge & Guenzel's store last week, the police found. It is claimed that the girl "swapped" her old hat for the new one, making the change in an instant in the store.

The police have learned that Miss Banta started her alleged shoplifting career shortly before Christmas, and that she had "worked" her game in Omaha once, appropriating a costly suit, Chief Johnston said.

Police questioned the girl about the disappearance of a saxophone from the University Conservatory but she had denied stealing the instrument. She claims that she purchased it from a "light-haired girl" who was in trouble. Miss Banta says she paid $20 for it. Police say the saxophone is now in the hands of a young man in Grand Island to whom Miss Banta presented it. The officials expect to have the instrument here within a few days.

STATE FAIR COMMITTEE MEETS TODAY IN M. E. 101

The General Committee of the University exhibit at the State Fair will meet in the office of the chairman in the Mechanical Arts Building, Room 101, March 16, at five o'clock. The following are the members of the committee: Prof. G. R. Chatburn, chairman; Profs. C. W. Taylor, T. A. Kieselbach, P. H. Grumann, Assistant Professor A. A. Luebs, Purchasing Agent H. A. Evans, and Miss A. C. Hunter.

DR. TUCKER WRITES OF CHINESE HOSPITAL WORK

Former Alumni Tells of Pupils
Studying Nursing in Far-Away Land.

Miss Hunter, Director of Publicity at the University, has just received a communication from Dr. and Mrs. F. F. Tucker, of the classes of '94 and '96 respectively. They have returned to their work at Tehchow, Shantung, China, where they are in charge of the Williams hospital for men and the Porter Hospital for women.

They tell of the first graduating exercises of the Nurse's Training School in China. This is the first training school in the parish of the North China Mission, a province with about 35,000,000 inhabitants. The school is taught by Miss Sawyer. The pupils are not only taught nursing but translation and teaching. They have no basis of home ideals to make the work of the instructor easier. The pupil nurse does not know the difference between a thermometer and a tongue depressor. They object to nursing the lower classes. They ask why they need to study four years when one year would suffice to learn all they needed to know. They must also be taught the necessity of nursing at night. The first graduating class consisted of three women and six men.

Lincoln, March 15.—A contest carried on by one of the local newspapers offers $100 in prizes for the best editorial on "Americanism." This is for high school students only. Several prominent pedagogues have signified their support to the campaign.

Lincoln, March 15.—Governor McKelvie announced today that the campaign for the Code Bill will be carried on in every corner of the state. State Auditor Marsh said that he would refuse to draw money for offices that have been created by the Code so far.

BASEBALL BUG STINGS HUSKERS

Nebraskans Once More France
Around on Diamond After Years of Rest.

VETERANS REPORT FOR DUTY

The baseball bug has invaded the University of Nebraska after staying clear of the Husker institution for a number of years and the wearers of the Scarlet and Cream are once more prancing around on the diamond. Outdoor workouts are now being held and Coach Schissler is prophesying a high class baseball aggregation. A number of candidates of well-known ability are found among the squad, including Pickett, Hubka, Reavis, Kline, Peterson, Schellenberg and others.

The city of Lincoln has granted the use of the M street park to Coach Schissler's team and this gives the Husker nine an excellent field on which to stage their games. The field is being put in condition and in the course of a few days will be ready for use. Until that time the Huskers are practicing on the University athletic field. About fifty Varsity candidates are expected to be out by the time the squad moves to the city park.

The matter of arranging a class schedule is receiving its share of attention. The Haskell Indian School is the latest addition to the Nebraska chart and this is a game that will put the Cornhuskers to a real test. The Indian school always has strong teams in all branches of athletics and will no doubt give the Huskers a hard battle for honors on the diamond. The Redmen take to baseball with avidity and are very adept at the game.

Coach Schissler states that he is still desirous of seeing more men reporting for baseball. Not only Varsity candidates are wanted but also men for the freshman squad. It is his intention to have a freshman team for practice with the Varsity and several games with colleges of the State Conference will be arranged for the first-year men. A good freshman nine is a very essential part of a successful Varsity team. All men who desire to try for either the Varsity of freshman team are requested to report at the athletic office.

NEW FARM STRUCTURE TO BE DEDICATED APR. 14

Agricultural Engineering Building
Said to be One of Finest in Country.

The new Agricultural Engineering Building of the Nebraska College of Agriculture, said to be one of the finest of its kind in America, will be dedicated April 14, according to an announcement of Dean E. A. Burnett of the College. The building was completed nearly a year ago but delay was experienced in obtaining equipment. The building completely equipped will cost nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

The dedicatory address will be delivered by Prof. C. R. Richards, dean of the University of Illinois College of Engineering and formerly dean of the Nebraska Engineering College.

The building is constructed of concrete and iron, two stories and a basement. The main part is 180 by 76 feet, with a rear wing 140 by 84 feet. The basement houses testing equipment for tillage implements, automobile repair laboratories, storage rooms for farm machinery and farm motors parts, locker rooms, toilets, etc. The main floor has a large carpenter shop where students are taught farm wood work, a large forge room for teaching farm blacksmithing, farm machinery, motors and automobile laboratories, a pump testing room, and lecture rooms. On the second floor are the main offices, four class rooms, two physics laboratories, a rural architecture laboratory, a reading room, a dark room and a blueprint room.
