"Under Cover" Presented as Phi Benefit at Orpheum Tuesday.

RECORD ATTENDANCE

The University Players presented "Under Cover" Tuesday evening at the Orpheum theater for the benefit of the Pi Beta Phi settlement school near Gatlinburg, Tennessee.

The audience, which equalled in size any that has turned out for the most finished and highest productions of the season, was very enthusiastic over the really clever work of the University people. There was no hint of amateurism and a great deal of credit is due Prof. Alice Howell under whose direction it was produced and who also took a part in the play. The stage settings were very attractive, and the production moved from start to finish without a hitch.

Miss Eleanor Fogg was charming as the society girl, Ethel Cartwright who has many wealthy friends but little money since the death of her father. Because the deputy, a part played exceptionally well by C. L. Coombs, has discovered that Ethel's sister, Amy, has pawned her sister's jewels and collected the insurance, he compels Ethel to use her position as a guest at a fashionable house party to expose Steven Denby, whom it turns out she has known in Paris and whom she loves. Floyd Johnson was a very determined and convincing Steven Denby.

Josephine Strode as Nora Rutledge one of the house party guests and Carlisle Jones as Monty Vaughn, Nora's devoted slave and who has assisted Denby to smuggle in the necklace and is frightened to death were very amusing and proved themselves very capable. Melba Bradshaw and True Jack though on the stage for only a few minutes in the first act were very good and the public hoped they might appear again.

Music before the performance and between the acts was furnished by the University orchestra.

PHI ALPHA TAU WILL ENTERTAIN IOWA TEAM

Following a custom in force for several years previous to the war, Phi Alpha Tau, professional public speaking fraternity of the University, will give a banquet in honor of the Iowa debating team on the evening of the Nebraska-Iowa forensic clash here the latter part of this month. The Iowa debaters are planning a similar banquet in honor of the Nebraska team which invades their state.

Revival of inter-collegiate debating at the University again gives the local organization a number of excellent men from which to pick its membership and it is expected that the society will assume its pre-war strength by the end of the present school year. Phi Alpha Tau is the organization which brought the idea of University Week to the University. While its membership is chiefly limited to students who have shown interest in argumentation, it is also open to students prominent in dramatics.

60 STUDENTS TO ENROLL FROM BLAIR NEXT YEAR

Two hundred state alumni and undergraduate students attended a recent Blair get-together meeting. University songs, yells and the new chant were a part of the program. Forty-eight Seniors expect to be graduated from Blair High School this year and nearly all of them intend to come to the University. In all about sixty students will enter the University from Blair next fall. The program given was as follows:

- Toastmistress.....Mildred Jensen
- Next Year.....Myrtle Jensen
- Expectations.....Thelma Underwood
- Backward Glances.....Helen McKeen
- University Life.....Coy States
- Nebraska Spirit.....Lyle McBride
- "The American Opportunity of the Twentieth Century".....Prof. R. E. Cochran

S. B. Wright of the American telephone and telegraph company called on Prof. O. J. Ferguson this week and also interviewed seniors in the electrical engineering department relative to engagements for next year.

RECEPTION FOR RUDOLPH GANZ

The faculty and students of the University School of Music were invited to attend a reception for Rudolph Ganz, Wednesday afternoon in the main hall of the School of Music Building. Mr. Ganz gives a recital at the Temple Thursday night. This was an exceptional opportunity for both students and professors to meet a great artist.

ALUMNI NOTES

J. C. Mitchell, '10, is the newly elected superintendent of schools at Holdrege.

Richard O. Cromwell, who received the degree of Ph. D., has accepted a position as an expert for a commercial company in Chicago at a large salary. He has been at Ames since leaving Nebraska.

Harold Stockman, '16, is doing graduate work in chemistry at the University of Chicago.

Marion Swezey, '13, is visiting her father, Prof. G. D. Swezey, of the state university. Miss Swezey has been connected with the Walter Reed government hospital at Washington, D. C. She has accepted a position in the hospital at Gary, Indiana, for physio-therapy work of which she will be director.

Harry B. Coffee, '13, of Chadron, writes alumni headquarters in acknowledgement of list of Dawes county alumni and states that a banquet will soon be held, at which time he hopes the alumni secretary may be on hand and make a speech.

S. W. Pinkerton, '98, of St. Paul, Minnesota, writes alumni headquarters that the company with which he is engaged is having more calls for the publishing of law books than can easily be filled. He also writes "I am glad that you are to have President Burton with you for commencement. He is the real stuff and Minnesota is sorry to lose him. Michigan got a good man when they employed him."

The Senior class of the School of Agriculture at Lincoln are planning to erect as a class memorial some electric light posts on the driveway at the farm campus.

Ruby Barneby, '09, has charge of English in the Great Falls, Montana, High School. O. L. Barneby, '08, and his wife, nee Amy Hallowell who also attended the University, are living at Detroit, Michigan.

Twenty alumni of the state university from Curtis, Stockville and Eustis met last Tuesday at Curtis. Harry Villars, '10, of Tecumseh, who happened to be in the town was present and said that he would take steps to organize the alumni of Johnson county. Luke Cheney, '87, of Stockville, acted as chairman. Fred Schroeder, '14, an attorney at Curtis, was made president of the new alumni club of Frontier county; Ilma Razez, a former student at the state university was elected secretary. It is planned soon to canvas all the towns in the county and have an alumnus from each as vice-president. B. L. Schaeffer, a pioneer in the county and editor of the Enterprise was a guest.

Margaret Wooster, '13, who is attending the University of Chicago, writes that the following have contributed to the Wolfe memorial fund: Dr. C. A. Elliot, '95; Charlotte Andrus, '92; Helma Holmes, '09; Meta Kunde, '17; Iva Dunn, Ex; Edith Abbott, '01; Grace Munson, '11, and Margaret Wooster. The total contribution to date amounts to $135 from Chicago givers, exclusive of those who have contributed through the Palladian fund. Harold Campbell, Grace Munson and Margaret Wooster are the Chicago committee.

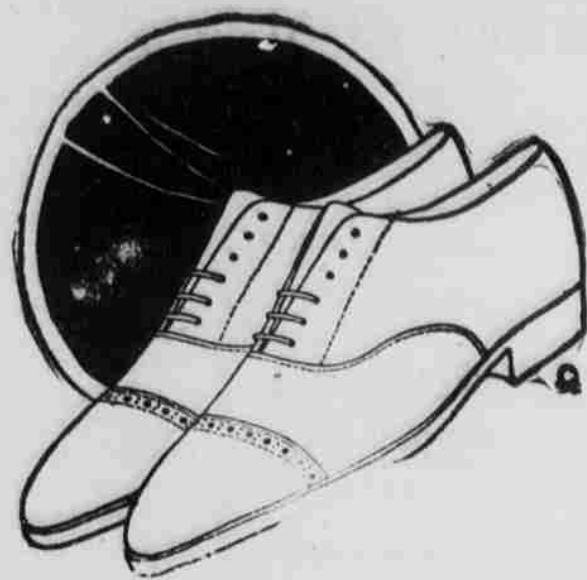

Helena Holmes, '09, is doing special work in mathematics in the Chicago university graduate school.

Dr. C. A. Elliot, '95, lives near the University of Chicago and has a large practice.

Harold Stockman, '16, is doing graduate work in chemistry at the University of Chicago.

"Judge Magee Shoes By Their Users"

Men who are not seriously concerned about the price of footwear choose Magee Shoes, even though they spend more. They're interested in the shoes more than the price. It's the right way to buy. The fact that the price is by no means extravagant is just another point of credit to the shoes.

Nebraska engineers when they make their inspection trip this month.

A dinner was served the alumni by the girls of the Sophomore cooking class under the direction of Miss Jessie Lowe, who is head of the home economic department in the agricultural school at Curtis. Superintendent C. K. Morse extended the use of the school and its facilities for the alumni organization at any time. The Curtis club promises to send a delegation to attend commencement exercises in June. An effort will be made to bring about the closest possible co-operation between the alumni of Frontier county and the authorities of the University.

At one time there was a University of Nebraska alumni association in Frontier county. Dr. E. S. Case, '95, was president and Luke Cheney was secretary. The latter is also a member of the present board of the alumni association.

Dean E. A. Burnett of the University Agricultural College attended the Curtis meeting and went from there to inspect the sub-station at North Platte.

MISTAKES

When a plumber makes a mistake he charges twice for it.

When a lawyer makes a mistake it is just what he wanted because he has a chance to try the case all over again.

When a carpenter makes a mistake it is just what he expected because chances are ten to one that he never learned his trade.

When a doctor makes a mistake he buries it.

When a judge makes a mistake it becomes the law of the land.

When a preacher makes a mistake nobody knows the difference.

When an electrician makes a mistake he blames it on induction and nobody knows what that is.

But when an editor makes a mistake—Good Night!

When a printer makes a mistake—get the gun.—Lightning Line.
