COMMANDANT GIVES OUT INFORMATION

Properly prepare lessons, etc., will result in demerits, the number depending on the nature of the offense.
5. Demerits awarded individual students will also be counted against the student's company, and the demerit record for the entire year will be a part of the annual military competition.
6. The articles of uniform issued to you are the property of the United States. They are to be kept in the best possible condition by you, and returned when called for in good condition, except for fair wear and tear. You will be required to pay for any articles lost and are punishable under the Federal law for misappropriation of the uniform. Delay in returning articles of uniform results in serious inconvenience to the department. The following simple rules, if followed, will enable you at all times to appear in uniform to the credit of yourself, the University, and the army: Always have your coat hooked and buttoned throughout; never appear without all the ornaments you are supposed to wear; wear your cap straight; if you are issued a hat, sew on the hat-cord and you will not lose it; brush your uniform before you put it on, and keep it pressed; have your shoes cleaned and polished. The infantry drill regulations and other text books which may be issued to you are also government property, which must be cared for and returned when called in.

Saluting Regulations.
7. Saluting. You are required to comply with the saluting regulations whenever in uniform, and are under the orders of the officers and non-commissioned officers during the hours of military instruction. Orders require you to salute all commissioned officers, and you should also salute all cadet officers during instruction hours. The saluting regulations are simple; study them. Non-compliance or a slovenly compliance indicate that you lack the manly qualities essential to an officer. A cadet is always considered as officer material. You should strive to become suitable for a leader in time of war even if you have no present military ambitions.

Entrance Drill Credits
8. You may be one of the students from such preparatory schools as the Omaha Central High School or the North Platte High School, and have two entrance credits granted you for four years of military training not under an officer in the army. If that is the case, you will be excused from attendance during your Freshman year, except on the first Tuesday of each month, when you will attend military instruction at 5 p. m. The remaining year of military instruction will be taken during your Sophomore year.

Colonel Moses says that he is very much pleased with the attitude taken by the members of the faculty and students towards the Military Department this semester and appreciates their co-operation and interest. The new Commandant came to Nebraska from similar work at the University of Minnesota, where he was very successful. Excerpts from his lectures were published at times in the Minneapolis Tribune.

LUEHRING HERE FROM PRINCETON

the lack of space and are having to cut down the size of their squads. At present there is no space for the hundreds of students of the Varsity teams to enter into athletics.

The plans which Mr. Luehring has outlined provide for the development of his work along four separate lines as follows:

- (1) Development of inter-collegiate sports.
- (2) Development of intra-mural athletics.
- (3) New physical education requirements.
- (4) Development of normal training.

Mr. Luehring has gained a wide reputation in both inter-collegiate and intra-mural athletics. Before locating at Princeton, he held the position of head coach and athletic director at Ripon College in Wisconsin. From 1906 to 1908 he turned out three championship football teams and two all-victorious basketball teams.

Advocates New Sports.
Without making any radical changes, Mr. Luehring plans to bring more men into inter-collegiate sports and to bring in many new sports. Departing from the three stand-by sports, football, basketball and track, he is anxious and will as soon as possible arrange to have Nebraska compete with other schools in baseball, soccer, tennis, cross-country running, golf, swimming and water polo. This not only will bring in more students but will raise Nebraska's athletic reputation. He will introduce second team competition and will have the Freshmen teams play against outsiders.

Intra-mural sports have a great future at Nebraska and must be developed to a great extent in the near future in the carrying out of this program. There will be contests between the fraternities, the different colleges, as well as between classes and societies. This work will all be under instruction from competent instructors who will be brought to Nebraska in the near future. It is their aim to have every man in the University receive some form of physical education and take part in one or more of the fighting games.

Physical examination for everyone in this department will soon be required. While the scope of this work has not yet been determined, every man will be given practical experience along these lines.

Training for Coaches.

Mr. Luehring plans to develop the normal training and will develop instructors in physical education and give training for athletic coaches. That Nebraska is the first University to develop this phase of the physical education work is a fact not realized by the majority of the students. The work was introduced here by Dr. and Mrs. Clapp. A great field for development is open and this work will be carried on to a much greater degree than before.

Detailed plans for the development of the combined physical education and athletic departments will be published in the Daily Nebraskan from time to time from the outlines which Mr. Luehring is planning.
