TEAM LINING UP FOR FRAY

Varsity Engages Freshmen in Scrimmage Tuesday afternoon.

WASHBURN GAME IS SATURDAY

Selections for Positions on First Team Not Yet Announced.

With the opening game of the season but three days distant, Coach Schulte is now exerting every possible effort to whip his team into shape for that date. This week has witnessed a decided improvement in the appearance of the squad on the field. More fight and spirit has been manifested by the Varsity than any time hitherto. Schulte seems to be pleased with the progress of his proteges and evidently believes that the invading host from Washburn is due for a licking next Saturday. He is by no means letting up in the work, however, as he realizes that the Kansans are likely to give the Huskers a real tussle.

In scrimmage practice yesterday the Freshmen and Varsity battled fairly even, neither seeming to have any decided advantage over the other. The lines of both elevens were apparently evenly matched as both backfield combinations made about the same amount of gains. Newman, at quarterback, generated the Varsity ranks and Dale, Moore, Hartley, Hubka and Thompson lugged the pigskin.

The Frosh were unable to stop the terrific smashes of Hubka, the Husker veteran going through for several long gains. On the Yearling crew, Noble, Dewitz, Morgan, Lamb and Lewellen comprised the backfield. A real forward pass completed by the Freshmen, Lewellen to Lopp, was responsible for the longest gain of the entire encounter. Whether or not the Varsity and Freshmen will scrimmage again before the Washburn game has not yet been announced but it is probable that Schulte will prescribe another skirmish in order that the Varsity will be in fighting trim Saturday.

Speculation is rife as to what lineup will prance into the field for the Scarlet and Cream in the initial combat of the year. No inkling of what men will start the game has as yet leaked from the Athletic Department and consequently the fans are making various conjectures as to the men Schulte will select. In the backfield, Newman will probably be stationed at quarter, Hubka at full, and the two halfbacks chosen from Wright, Dale and Howarth. The line will be likely to contain the familiar names of Swanson, Dana, Pucelik, Weller, Monte and Wade Munn and Captain Day with a possible addition of Young, Moore, Berquist and Scherer. Whatever lineup will be started, however, there is little doubt but that practically all of the squad will be used unless the Washburnites take into their heads to pile up a few touchdowns on the Cornhuskers. This target is not considered threatening, although the strength of Washburn is by no means underestimated.

Freshmen Still Work at Farm.

Assistant Coach Schissler is still drilling his plucky squad of Yearlings on the State Farm gridiron. Schissler is well pleased with the showing of his proteges against the Varsity last Saturday and believes that the next time the two elevens meet, the Freshmen will have things pretty much their own way. The Husker school is certainly to be congratulated on the wealth of first-year material present this year. The "Frosh" backfield boasts of three huskies who can tear off one hundred yards in ten seconds flat. In weighty too, as well as speed. Schissler's squad is not lacking. The beefy Yearling forwards piled the Varsity backs for losses time and again in the Saturday scrimmage. The Athletic Department hopes to book several games for the Freshman team this year, matching them with the strongest teams of the state conference. The young Huskers should have little trouble in disposing of any college eleven in the state.

NEW STUDENTS TO BE GIVEN MENTALITY TESTS

Dr. Winifred Hyde, of the Psychology Department, will examine all the students of the Freshman class today. She will use the mentality tests that were originated at the University of Columbia. These same tests are now given in every state university in this country.

Dr. Hyde said that she will give this same class a second examination when they are Seniors as an experiment to discover whether the minds of the students will have changed after four years of study at the University. She admits that some will show much more advance than others depending on the effort that is exerted in acquiring a higher education. Dr. Hyde has given the army psychology test for two years, but has found that it is inadequate for her purposes.

The tests will be given to groups of two hundred each and will last three and a half hours.

The results of the tests will be watched with interest by many people outside the University.

FRESHMEN SHOW HUSKER SPIRIT

Men of First-Year Class Crowd Memorial Hall for Initial Convocation.

INNOCENTS PUBLISH PAMPHLET ON UNIVERSITY TRADITIONS.

Over four hundred enthusiastic Freshmen men filled the chapel of Memorial Hall yesterday morning at 11 o'clock for the first Convocation of the year. The slogan for the meeting was "pep." True Cornhusker spirit was instilled into the minds of the Freshmen by Russell Bailey and his staff of assistants. A small pamphlet was issued to the first-year men containing what should be known as "The Creed of the University of Nebraska." Guy U. Reed, of the class of 1911, is the author of the book and he is to be complimented for the true Husker "spirit" that the pamphlet brings out.

Clarence Haley, president of the Innocents, welcomed the Freshmen and told them something of the different activities of the school. He emphasized the importance of the Freshmen in these activities. The next speaker was Chancellor Avery who talked on scholarship. He told the history of the Hainer cup and what was expected of the Yearlings in regard to scholarship. Dean Buck followed Chancellor Avery and gave a short talk on the informal spirit of the University and what it meant to the Freshmen. He congratulated the class of 1924 in having such a large number to represent it.

Luehring Explains Value of Activities.

Director Luehring gave a spirited talk to the first-year men in regard to the producing of "big" men for the different activities of the University. He gave the new men some idea of the important part athletics were going to take in University life in the future. Coach Schulte talked on the "Prospects of 1926," telling about the team and what the Freshmen could do to make it a bigger year for Nebraska in athletics. He emphasized the wearing of the "noisy" headgear by the men of the class. Capt. "Bill" Day, as the next speaker, was given a big send-off. When he finished it was evident from the applause that followed that he had gained his point.

The last speaker on the program was Dr. Condra who is known as the "Father of Convocation." He spoke on "Nebraska Traditions." He told of the University of yesterday and of the University of today. In connection with his speech Dr. Condra spoke of the necessity of every man in the University being an 100 per cent Nebraskan.

Immediately after the close of the Convocation, Dr. George E. Condra took motion pictures of the Freshmen. These pictures will be shown in all parts of Nebraska as part of the program of the University.

TRACK MEN ATTENTION.

Track men who have boxes in the storeroom must look after their track equipment by Friday, October 1, at 6 o'clock, or it will be issued to some other candidate.

FINAL STEPS IN HOUSING SYSTEM

"The Commons" for University Co-eds to Open Next Week Near Campus Entrance.

SOME ROOMS ARE STILL VACANT

University Women's Commons, the boarding place for dormitory and other University girls, at 1228 R street will open October 5 as the final step in the organization of the dormitory system. A few rooms are still vacant.

One hundred fifty girls can be accommodated in The Commons. Applications of girls rooming in the dormitories will be accepted first, but the matter of their boarding at the Commons will be voluntary. If less than one hundred fifty girls from the dormitories speak for board, other University girls will be accommodated until that number is reached. Applications may be handed to Miss Hertha Wyman, manager of The Commons, at 1228 R street between two and five, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week. Board must be engaged for the semester and paid for at the Finance Office a month in advance. The price is one dollar per day.

Still Some Vacant Rooms. Rooms scattered in all the dormitories are still to be filled. These rooms are open to any University girls. They were reserved for Freshmen until September 15 and then (Continued on Page Four)

ALL-UNIVERSITY PARTY PLANNED FOR SATURDAY

WASHBURN TEAM TO BE GUESTS AT FIRST GET-TOGETHER.

The first All-University party of the school year has been planned for the night of the initial home gridiron game with Washburn, Saturday, October 2. Elaborate preparations are under way and it is expected that more students than at any time before will throng the doors of the Armory for admission. The Washburn eleven will be guests of honor, according to Harry Reed, chairman-in-chief of the big get-together.

Alype O'Laughlin will have charge of decorations, Jack Virtue and Nancy Pennoyer will see that enough refreshments are provided for thousands of students; Asa Hepperly and Lillian Blanchard are planning the entertainment for the evening; Clarence Swanson and Mary Sheldon will head the reception committee.

Luther Andrews has charge of the checking facilities. It is announced that a splendid new system of checking wraps will be put into use, and that the greatly cramped conditions which usually accompany "mixers" will be relieved.

The party will cost each person thirty cents. This modest sum in eludes war tax and incidental expenses. The program for the evening will begin promptly at 8:15.

PENNSYLVANIA STATE PREPARES FOR HUSKERS

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 28.—Pennsylvania State College is making enthusiastic preparations for the coming clash with the Huskers, November 6. This game will be a feature of Pennsylvania Day, when more than 10,000 persons are expected to throng the stands to witness the struggle between East and West. Additional grandstands are being constructed for the game.

Hugo Bezdek, director of athletics at Penn State College, announces that the Eastern team is confident over a Nebraska victory. The easy victory over Muhlenberg College has given su, porters of the Blue and White reason for this assurance of victory November 6.

State College meets Dartmouth, Lehigh, University of Pittsburgh and University of Pennsylvania this season in addition to the Nebraska game. Six veterans have donned the mole-skins and Director Bezdek is busy coaching the recruits. Bezdek is an old-time director, having coached at the University of Arkansas and at Carson University before he began his work at Penn State.

MORE PLEDGES ARE RELEASED

Committee of Investigation Announces Additional Names on Fraternity Lists.

BLOCKADE GRADUALLY LIFTING

Three men were today added to the list of fraternity pledges. The process of investigation is still in order and more names will probably be added to the growing list. This controversy has been the result of a tangle in regard to pledging men into the University Greek-letter organizations from similar high school societies.

The affair has caused great delay in the acceptance of pledges by the special committee of investigation. Considerable feeling has arisen between the two factions concerned. The blockade seems to be clearing up gradually as the high school secret organizations give up their charters and membership lists. It appears that the result will be the disbanding of the Nebraska high school fraternities. The following are the latest additions to the lists:

Sigma Phi Epsilon.
David Derring, Sutton.
Sigma Alpha Epsilon.
Ralph Redfield, Omaha.

Phi Kappa Psi.
Robert B. Parrott, Beatrice.

The lists are still incomplete, but as the remaining pledges are announced by Chairman R. D. Scott they will be published in the Daily Nebraskan.

TWO HUNDRED ATTEND BIG OPENING BANQUET

Unified Financial Campaign is Launched Tuesday.

The Committee of Two Hundred served over two hundred fifty students at a luncheon Tuesday noon in the Y. M. C. A. Red Room, in the interest of the big finance campaign that is being staged this week.

The history of the organization was given by Mary Brownell, '21. Lawrence Slater, '21, gave a talk on "Why We Should be Glad to Take Part in this Campaign." Clarence Dunham, chairman of the Finance Committee, closed the meeting with an earnest appeal to the members of the teams for their hearty support and enthusiasm in the work which they have to do.

Pep Injected into Meeting.

The Committee of Two Hundred is entering this work in the belief that its religious program will build character in the students who are graduated from this school and they believe that there is no greater motive that a student could have in any of his work here.

Luncheons will be held on Wednesday and Thursday of this week and the campaign will continue until Friday. F. W. Luehring, the new director of athletics and physical education, who has just come to the University from Princeton says: "I am heartily in sympathy with the unified program. It should be productive of greater things in the religious life of our campus." "Now drives for war purposes have ceased, the unified program offers a worthy cause to which every student should freely give his aid and support," said Gaylord Davis, '20. "I know of no movement on the campus in recent years which ought to produce more worthwhile results than the present campaign," was the comment of Prof. Hattie Plum Williams Tuesday.

MRS. COLLINS SPEAKS BEFORE PAN-HELLENIC

Mrs. Mary Collins, grand president of Chi Omega and former president of the National Pan-Hellenic, addressed the Pan-Hellenic council Tuesday afternoon. She spoke to the members on the subject, "Ideals in Fraternity Life," at the invitation of Miss Marguerite McPhee.

In her talk, Mrs. Collins emphasized the need of clear thinking on the part of college women if they wished to use their fraternities as good influences, and as a solution of all the problems that face college women.

College life is not all for intellectual training, according to Mrs. Collins, but must be put to practical use in solving any problems that arise during the four years.

SPECIAL CONVOCATION SCHEDULED TOMORROW

Special University Convocation is scheduled in the Temple Theater at 7 o'clock Thursday, September 30. It has been decided to have only Convocations for which an important out-of-town speaker is provided. Mr. Samuel McCord Crothers, of Cambridge, Mass., will speak. Mr. Crothers, it may be remembered, has in past years spoken before University audiences with a never-failing interest and charm. It is to be mentioned that Mr. Crothers is called the Charles Lamb of America because of his similarity of wit and style. The "Gentle Reader" is perhaps the best recognized of this author's works, though he is also widely known through frequent contributions to the Atlantic Monthly. Mr. Crothers is a minister in Cambridge and has the distinction of numbering among his parishioners several members of the Harvard faculty. Charles Elliott, late president of the college, was during his lifetime a most illustrious friend and pupil of Mr. Crothers.

GIRLS INITIATED INTO TRADITIONS

Cheers and Songs Introduce Freshmen Girls to Phases of University Life.

PURPOSES AND WORK OF ORGANIZATIONS ARE EXPLAINED.

Freshmen girls were initiated into the mysteries of University traditions at the first Convocation of the year in the Temple Theater Tuesday morning. Rousing yells and songs were capably led by Lois Melton, Ruth Lindsay and Dorothy Wright, with Mrs. Carrie Raymond at the piano, followed by short snappy speeches from representatives of various student organizations.

Co-eds Explain Organizations' Purpose

Mary Brownell explained the work of the W. S. G. A. in a very thorough manner, reminding the Freshman of the coming Cornhusker party. Sue Stille made an energetic plea for W. A. A. enthusiasm. Y. W. C. A. benefits were very clearly presented by Ada Stidworthy, and Faye Curry told the girls of the purpose of the "Big and Little Sister" campaign. Betty Scribner explained the organizations of Silver Serpent, Xi Delta and Mystic Fish, and Ruth Lindsay spoke very convincingly of the Student Council. Dorothy Barkley emphasized the place that the Daily Nebraskan can take in the students' every-day life.

Dr. Winifred Hyde concluded the series of talks. She told about the christening of Ellen Smith Hall, the historic and artistic collections of art, and University musical interests. Her talk was called "And So Forth."

Special Convocation Thursday.

Professor P. F. Grumann announced a special convocation at the Temple Theater on Thursday morning, September 30, when Dr. Samuel McCord Crothers, of Atlantic Monthly repute, will address the students.

The meeting concluded with more songs, yells and pep and spirit of the whole assembly seemed alive with Cornhusker interest and enthusiasm.

GROUNDS FOR MILITARY DRILL NEAR COMPLETION

Work on the newly extended campus is rapidly nearing completion. The grounds just north of the Social Science Building are going to be used as a parade grounds. This covers an area of four blocks and is to be used for military drill and for some forms of athletics, probably baseball. For several weeks workmen have been blasting the old trees and getting the grounds into shape for future use. This extension to the former Athletic Field will be one of importance, and one which has been badly needed.

APPLICATIONS FOR NEWS EDITOR.

Applications will be received for News Editor of the Daily Nebraskan at the Student Activities Office. Students must file before Thursday night, September 30.

CO-EDS AFTER EASTERN TRIP

2,800 Football Cards Given Solicitors By 11 O'clock Tuesday Morning.

CAMPUS COMPETITION IS KEEN

Organizations and Fraternities Rating Hundred Per Cent to Be Announced.

The campaign for the sale of student season football tickets for six games on the home field started off Tuesday morning with the momentum of a drive of the allied armies. Over 2,800 season ticket booklets were handed out to solicitors from the Student Activities Office before 11 o'clock yesterday morning. An earnest effort is being made to sell $3,000 worth of tickets, and to pass the goal of $2,500 which was reached by committees working under the guidance of the Innocents Society last year.

As early as Monday noon groups of co-eds from various sororities and other organizations made the rounds of dormitories, fraternity houses and rooming places to urge students to "promise" them their orders for books. Each organization is behind one individual who is working with an eye for the round-trip ticket to the Rutgers and Penn State games which will be the prize for the person selling the largest number of season tickets before the end of the campaign Friday evening.

Record Made of Each Purchase.

When solicitors take the $5 which entitles the bearer to a season ticket for all home football games, they hand the purchaser a card, bearing the buyer's name, address and class. This card must be exchanged for the coupon booklet at the Student Activities Office. This book will admit the purchaser to the Student Section in the stands without reservation. A record will be kept of every student purchasing a ticket in order that students will know the organizations that are supporting campus activities. A list of 100 per cent organizations and fraternities will be announced after the drive closes Friday night. Two organizations have already pledged 100 per cent and many others are fast nearing the goal.

The price of each ticket, which is five dollars, enables students to save seven dollars and makes the admission price of each game less than one dollar. "I would gladly give five dollars to witness the games with Notre Dame and Washington State," said a Junior yesterday.

VIRTUE HAS NEW BOOK.

Dr. G. O. Virtue, professor of Economics and Public Finance, is the author of a new study of the packing industry of America, which has been published in the American Economic Review. The article deals with the phases of the meat packing industry in this country and its application to every-day life. It is very interesting in its intimate study of economic problems.
