WHAT ROOSEVELT SAID.

The one permanent move for obtaining peace which has yet been suggested with any reasonable chance of obtaining its object is by an agreement among the great powers, in which each should pledge itself not only to abide by the decisions of a common tribunal, but to back with force the decision of that common tribunal. The great civilized nations of the world which do possess force, actual or immediately potential, should combine by solemn agreement in a great world league for the peace of righteousness.

ATTENTION FRESHMEN-SOPHOMORES.

There are to be no scraps between individuals or groups representing the Freshmen and Sophomore classes before Saturday, the day of the Olympics. Hazing and class scraps are a thing of the past and are not to be revived this year. Last year the Executive Dean definitely stated, "that every student who took part in the kidnapping of Olympic contestants would be immediately expelled from the University." This year he has made the same statement.

Through the efforts of Dr. Condra, the father of the Olympics, an agreement between the faculty and students was entered into, whereby they agreed to set aside a certain day of each school year for an annual inter-class scrap, known as the Olympics and they further agreed that the supremacy of the underclasses should be definitely settled in this one conflict. Therefore there can be no advance skirmishes by either side.

University spirit is above class spirit and it is now time for you Freshmen and Sophomores to forget your high school pranks. Concentrate your surplus pep and enthusiasm for the rally Friday night and the game Saturday. The officials mean business, when they say, "no kidnapping before the Olympics."

GREEN GOBLINS.

The Green Goblins is an honorary society made up of fraternity and non-fraternity men of the first-year class. It was founded for the purpose of giving organized Freshmen aid to the advancement of University activities and to produce a democratic spirit among the neophytes of the University.

The Green Goblins fulfilled their purpose last year. Who was it that was called upon to sell basketball tickets, debate tickets, usher University night, conduct Freshmen smokers and back the green cap tradition? It was always the Goblins that were called upon and they responded to a man and made the above named movements great successes. The outgoing president, Jack Austin, in his address to the initiates laid stress upon the fact, "that the organization has never been a political group and that they are counting and demanding of the new men to keep entirely out of politics as an organized force, that they have but one purpose to fulfill and that is to work for every University activity that needs its services."

Are the Goblins going to carry on the valuable work of their predecessors? We believe they are. However, there have been considerable rumors to the contrary and in order to put all ends to these rumors, it would be advisable for the Goblins to make a public statement in the Nebraskan setting forth their purpose and then to get busy and justify their existence.

DATING AT FOOTBALL GAMES.

There was a notice in Friday's Nebraskan which read as follows: "Men cannot bring girls to football games and sit in girls' section. Engberg-Scott."

This statement was not authorized by Professor Scott or Dean Engberg and is retracted at this time. The editor was out of the city at the time the notice was printed and has been unable to date to learn who was responsible for the unauthorized statement.

However, it has been the desire and recommendation of the coaches at Nebraska in the past, that there be no dating among University students at the football games. This year the students are again greatly in accord with having two student rooting sections, one for the men and the other for the women, and the students are going to enforce the tradition.

So, although Professor Scott and Dean Engberg did not authorize the notice, we do not believe it would be wise for any student to attempt to bring his girl to the Notre Dame game Saturday. More than this we are convinced that every student is in accord with the slogan, "No dating at football games," and there is no need for further agitation.

Student Opinion

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 12, 1920.

Daily Nebraskan:

Would it not be possible for all Saturday morning classes to be dismissed Homecoming Day, October 16, in order that those who are compelled to go to school on Saturday will be permitted to attend the Olympics?

Several classes in the Law College, as well as many laboratory periods, are scheduled for Saturday morning. The annual Olympics between Freshmen and Sophomores is a Nebraska tradition. Surely it will be possible for instructors to allow Cornhusker students to stay away from classes next Saturday morning when the existence of a mighty Nebraska tradition is at stake.

The lower classes will need some one on the side lines to urge them on if they expect to stage a worth while scrap.

Is it not possible, we repeat, for Saturday morning classes to be abandoned October 16, that students may watch the lower classes lock horns at M street ball park?

Bubbles

By Ima Cuckoo.

I was asked yesterday why we ran a cut of a football recruit on the first page. I replied that the player whose likeness graced the top of the front page was a veteran Husker player. "But," the wise one added, "he is a 'New-man.'"

It is characteristic, of course, that the fire department should officiate at a "smoker," said a well-meaning Engineer yesterday. This deserves the "tub."

We were walking down the campus walk Monday and a sorority Freshman asked: "Is Matilda Jane a co-ed?" We replied we didn't know, but that she is a Jane, anyway.

"How are you getting along in your course at the Y pool?" he asked. She answered, "Oh, just swimmingly."

A heading over a University notice yesterday said "Freshmen Girls—Notice." Freshmen girls notice what? Or rather we all notice Freshmen girls? Why wouldn't we?

You tell 'em, Red, I'm awfully Blue.

—the College Gossip—
 —One never drops a handkerchief now—they are far too pretty. Imagine losing a fascinating bit of petal-pink linen with rolled edges and tiny roses in its corners, or a fine Madiera square lovely with countless fine stitches. Or if you want something with a little more snap and dash, there are certain purple, green, navy and rose kerchiefs, polka dotted and bordered in white. Exclusive—therefore $1.25 each!
 —Street Floor.

—Considering the high cost of marcel and gups these days, I rather imagine that some of you haven't more than about $50 or $60 to put into such a necessary evil as a winter coat. Am I right? Then gather around and hear about the good looking ones priced from $40 to $65. They look like so much more that you'll probably think there must be something wrong with them, but no, they're high grade in every way. Browns, tans and blues principally—some of them fully lined in honest-to-goodness silk.
 —Second Floor.

—A few words to the ambitious young seamstress, or "How to fool the public into thinking your new evening dress is just out of its Paris wrappings." Really, our collection of embroidered tulle, and lace flouncings makes it the simplest matter in the world to fashion your own frock. Gorgeous metallic effects, particularly in copper and burnished gold, bright orange tulle heavily embroidered, sparkling jet trimmings and any number of clever ideas in brown, will give you a dress that is far removed from the prosaic pink rose bud and silver lace combination.
 —Street Floor.

—A veil's the thing—not only to add a little verve to one's street costume, but to give one's physiognomy a little more subtle appearance. If you're a modest violet, you'll like the small conservative patterns in browns, blues and black. Made for girls whose clothes have the courage of their convictions are the chenille patterns, which are dashing yet in perfect taste. Imagine a navy veil dotted in red and blue, a brown one dotted in beige and brown, or a navy one dotted in henna! 85c to $2.00 a yard.
 —Street Floor.

—The question soon before us, the most important one—will be gloves. The next drop in the thermometer will send you all scurrying to the glove counter for certain brown leather gauntlets I'm thinking of. One style is real dark brown, stitched in black, and priced at $7.00. The beaver shade evidently costs 50c more because gauntlets of that color are $7.50. If you're feeling real wealthy and want something very, very smart, there are brown gauntlets, with insert, strap and stitching in a lighter shade for $9.00.
