 CORNHUSKER—Arrangements have been made with Townsend, the photographer, to make the picture for the 1921 "Cornhusker." On account of the unusually heavy holiday business any who desire to use them for this purpose should arrange to have their settings as early as possible. 81

Society
 Irene Barton, '20, was the guest of honor at an informal shower given in her honor by members of her sorority, Alpha Omicron Pi. This is just one of the many social affairs which are being given to Miss Barton preceding her wedding to Dr. Clyde Nelson which will take place the latter part of this month. Miss Barton was presented with a mirror by the active chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi on Saturday.
 Miss Barton was graduated last year from the Nebraska Conservatory of Music. Dr. Nelson is an instructor at the dental clinic here.

Theatre Reviews
"Held by the Enemy"—Paramount.
 It is keen enjoyment to see on the screen now and then a true picture of the life, bustle and activity of the period of strife between North and South—the era of ringlets, hoop skirts, side burns and romance. It makes the older of us reminisce, and the younger of us realize that our histories are meagre expressions of the tide of feeling that swept the country in the days of 1861-5.
 This picture will rival "The Copperhead" for popularity. It is not a sad theme in itself that unfolds on the screen, but it represents a great problem. A Southern girl, believing her husband dead in the war, has just decided to marry a Northern hero—when the "deceased" husband again turns up.
 The little Southern town breathes war and blood. Its streets look like those we have seen pictured in histories of the Civil War. The true atmosphere of the conflict is carried out. While the plot and emotional appeal of the picture are not so great as that of "The Copperhead," it is the little episodes of sorrow that wring sympathy from the hardest heart.
 Agnes Ayres, former heroine of the popular O. Henry stories, emerges in a new kind of role. As the serene, yet determined, wife of a Southern spy, she is not only optically pleasing, but she really acts. Wanda Hawley, as her "little sister," is a bundle of joy and prettiness. Lewis Stone as the Southern spy is superb. Jack Holt, the husband of the famous Fanny Ward, returns to the screen as Colonel Prescott, the Northern lover who finally triumphs. Josephine Crowell, as the haughty Southern mother, is the truest example of perfect characterization. She will be remembered by theater-goers for her splendid work in "Hearts of the World," "Intolerance" and Griffith's recent vehicle, "The Greatest Thing in Life."

"The Devil's Pass-Key"—Universal Jewel.
 Certainly money is "the Devil's pass-key"—and especially in Paris. Noted theater magazines and motion picture journals proclaim this as one of the best pictures of the year. We beg to differ with them. Optically, it is pleasing to the highest degree; emotionally it is satisfactory; but for simple and direct human appeal it will not "get across" to the common people. The plot, although so simple, is so intricately unwoven, that you won't go away from the theater saying: "Yes, that PROVES money is the devil's pass-key."
 The new dreamy, vague, indistinct and softening close-ups are the chief center of interest the picture offers. Second, however, are the gowns and settings which carry out the Parisian atmosphere. Had the picture been produced in Paris itself it could be no more real than the shops that are shown in this picture.
 Sometimes, however, when the dreamy close-ups are not used, the characters appear a trifle coarse in expression. To one, not paying the strictest attention to the picture, it may seem quite confusing because so many of the characters lack originality. In spite of this, however, there will be many people who will like the picture.
 The picture shows the careful detail work of Eric von Stroheim. Maude George is pleasing in one of the leading feminine roles.
 Arline, '21, Mercedes Abbot, '23, Helen Walpole, '24, and Jean Dow, '21, visited at their homes in Omaha during the past week-end.

Bill Day Selected to Head Inter-Frat Group
Husker Grid Captain Elected President of Athletic Association Tuesday.
 Captain "Bill" Day of the 1920 Husker grid team was chosen president of the Inter-Fraternity Athletic Association at a meeting of that body Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock in the Athletic office of the Armory. Other officers were chosen as follows: Vice-president, Farley Young; secretary-treasurer, John Pickett.
 An inter-Greek bowling tournament will be held as soon as the basketball season closes. Inter-fraternity basketball will also be continued this year. No Greek football tourney will be held.
 Those fraternity members who have won an "N" in basketball or who have been a member of the Freshman or Varsity squads will not be eligible to play in the inter-Greek basketball tourney, the committee decided.
 Several Greek teams have been practicing basketball already and much good material has been discovered.

 papers and periodicals which will total more than those of rival groups. Requests to conduct canvasses for subscriptions.
 "(2) Requests for more memberships in local organizations, like the W. S. G. A., etc., than are taken out by rival groups.
 "(3) Support of the United Church drive and contributions of five dollars or more to it.
 "(4) Picketing for the "Anna Howard Shaw Thank-Offering," at the polls on election day.
 "(5) Picket duty for the Red Cross for several days.
 "(6) Competitive activity in selling (and buying) season tickets for the dramatic club ($3.00).
 "(7) Rehearsing for and singing in the chorus of the Y. W. C. A. opera, and purchase of tickets to hear friends sing in it.
 "In the spring comes the 'Grace Coppock' campaign, with the heavy subscriptions asked for it, and the canvassing for it.
 "All these causes should be supported. But such demands fall very heavily upon many students—and their parents—and when they are added total an alarming sum. So do the demands made on the time of many students mount up heavily.
 "Women's fraternities are expected to study hard—as hard as if they did nothing else. Their scholarship averages are given wide publicity; and they are often criticized that their averages are not higher, although the lowest of the women's fraternities usually averages higher than the highest of the men's, as it is. The calls upon fraternity girls in connection with social events, for public work, and for group subscriptions—make an old-time student wonder how they have time left for study at all. Or that their parents have money left to keep them in school.
 "Suggested that committee consist of three alumnae, at least one from campus, (Miss Heppner) and one or two undergraduates."
 Dorothy Barkley, ex-'22, has returned to school for the rest of the semester.
 Laila Ryan, ex-'23, of Columbus, will be a guest this week-end at the Delta Gamma house.
 Gretchen Wlech Eddy, ex-'23, of Fremont, will spend Saturday and Sunday at the Delta Gamma house.

Farm Campus Notes
 Professors Howard and Werner of the department of horticulture attended the fourth annual convention and show of the Nebraska Potato Improvement Association at Kimball, Nebraska. Prof. Werner is secretary-treasurer of the association. Both will attend the mid-west Horticultural Exposition at Council Bluffs this week. Professors Wiggins and Hoppert will join them.
 Professor Bruner will return for a months visit about December 1, according to Prof. Dawson of the department of entomology. Prof. Bruner has been connected with the entomology department of the University of California for the last eight months.
 One hundred and fifty stock feeders attended the Annual Feeders Day program at the Judging Pavillion last Friday, according to Prof. Gramlich. Bad weather prevented many from attending. Governor McKelvie and his father, Samuel McKelvie and ex-Regent W. G. Whitmore were the principal speakers. The visitors inspected the animals that will be shown at the International Stock Show at Chicago this winter and discussed plans for feeding tests to be conducted at the Farm this winter.
 Elva Ohlsen, '24, visited Saturday and Sunday at her home in David City.
 The committee of Big Sisters, who are planning the Christmas party for all Freshmen girls December 4, ask that every Big Sister contribute a quarter toward the fund. A box will be found at Ellen Smith Hall in which to drop the money.
 Frank Aplan, '22, has returned from Omaha, where he spent the week-end.
