Seventy-five Y. W. C. A. cabinet and staff members and the Freshman Commission took dinner together at Ellen Smith Hall Wednesday evening. This was a "get together" meeting to better acquaint the girls with the work which the cabinet is doing. After the two-course dinner, Ada Stidworthy, the president, presented each member of the cabinet, who, in turn, gave a report of her work and introduced her staff members.

Black Masque is planning an afternoon party for all Sophomore girls on Saturday, December 4.

Ronald (after church service): I say, sis, did the curate really mean that those black people don't wear clothes?

Sister: Yea, quite true.

Ronald: Then, what was the use of grandpa putting a button in the collection?—London Blighty.

Student in Anatomy class—"How long could I live without brains?"
Prof.—"That remains to be seen."

"How much will you sell your cat for?"
"Two dollars purr!"

She—"Why does the University of Illinois have so great an enrollment?"
He—"Because it is so near Champagne."

Perhaps the reason that some students don't take notes during lectures is that they have it all in a nutshell.

Those tutoring this year will certainly have a hire education.

She has the flush of youth,
This maiden with dark brown locks,
But it is only an illusion,
She gets it from a box.

Why should people think philosophy such a hard course? Who is there that cannot define Time, Cause, Goodness, Space, Mind, Life and the rest. For, "Time," is what my wrist watch does not keep. "Cause," is what she says when you ask her "why." "Goodness," is an obsolete expression formerly used by girls when they were mad. "Space," is what you gaze into when you go to a Chemistry lecture. "Mind," is what you did before you came to "Nebraska"; and "Life," is what you subscribed for and get every week.

Georgia lawyer (to colored prisoner)—"Well, Ras, you want me to defend you; have you any money?"
Rastus—"No, sah; but I've gotta mule an' a few chickens, an' a hawk er two."

Lawyer—"That is just as good as money these days. Now, let's see what do they accuse you of stealing?"
Rastus—"Oh, a mule, an' a few chickens, an' a hawk er two."

Thrift.

A man tells of a country editor who started poor twenty years ago and has retired with a comfortable fortune of $50,000. This money was acquired through industry, economy, conscientious efforts to give full value, indomitable perseverance and the death of an uncle who left the editor $49,999.50.—The Fraternal Record.

THE CAMPUS HOUNDS.

How jolly are the hounds that play Upon the campus everyday!
They frolic, jump and yelp, and run So carefree and so full of fun.

Of course, you know the reason why These hounds don't mourn, or sob, or sigh;
And do not wear a solemn face But take life easy and with grace.

They have no dates with books or profs;
They are not seniors, juniors, sophs, Or frosh. They neither sow nor reap,
And have no bank account to keep.

As I go by upon my way I cannot help but stop to say,
How jolly are the hounds that play Upon the campus everyday.

X. Tempo Raneous.

An old man going a lone highway,
Came at the evening cold and grey,
To chasm vast and deep and wide,
The old man crossed in the twilight dim—
The sullen stream had no fear for him;
But he turned when safe on the other side

And built a bridge to span the tide.
"Old man," said a fellow pilgrim near,
"You are wasting your strength with building here;

Your journey will end with the ending day,
You never again will pass this way,
You've crossed the chasm deep and wide,

Why build this bridge at even tide,
The builder lifted his old, grey head,
"Good friend, in the path I've come," he said,

"There followed after me today
A youth, whose feet must pass this way.

This chasm that has been naught to me,
To that fair-haired youth may a pitfall be;

He, too, must cross in the twilight dim;
Good friend I'm building this bridge for him."

Oh, there's a heart for every one, if everyone can find it.

CURRENT POETREE

The rain falls on the Just and Unjust,
But it falls more on the Just than on the Unjust,
For the Unjust feller
Steals Just's umbrella.

SAGE SAYINGS

One cannot teach what he does not know.
One cannot lead where he does not go.

Hist! Were you baptized a Baptist? A colored minister of the Baptist church, in order to strengthen and confirm the faith of his congregation, took as the text of his discourse the third verse of the third chapter of Matthew: "In those days came John the Baptist, preaching in the wilderness of Judea." "Oh," said he, "how I like to read those precious words in the blessed Bible. You don't read them anywhere about John the Presbyterian or John the Methodist, or John the Episcopalian. No, brethren, it is John the Baptist."

EXPLAINED

"Waiter, this coffee is nothing but mud."
"Yes, sir; it was ground this morning."

NOW
Now is the time the small boy sneaks
Away to ponds and winding creeks,
And when back home he doth return,
It's not the sun that makes him burn.
