ARTS AND SCIENCE CONVOCATION HELD

Prof. D. McFayden of the History Department, who came to the college this year from the University of Colorado, outlined the functions and importance of the humanistic studies in the Arts and Science College. He emphasized the necessity of the study and mastery of languages, other than a person's own, to be educated. "A person can not think clearly, or be able to influence his fellow men, unless he knows his mother tongue, and it is almost as essential that he know some other language," the speaker said. Mr. McFayden defined history as "the study of the character of movements and persons with a view of arriving at a sympathetic appreciation of the subject." The problems which face us are not of individual success but of the spread of live and sympathy throughout the community," the speaker said in conclusion.
Director P. H. Grumann of the School of Fine Arts, the last speaker, gave the history of the development of the fine arts courses in schools, starting with the kindergarten and carried up through the universities. He outlined the courses in fine arts given at the University leading to a degree.

FACULTY NOTES

Prof. Lowry C. Wimberly of the Department of English addressed the Duquesne College in Omaha Friday. His subject was "Tennyson's Lyricisms." This lecture is one of a series.

Prof. Ernest N. Anderson, who came to the University this fall from the Transvaal College, South Africa, will address the Chemistry Club Friday, November 19, at 5 p. m. in Chemistry Hall. His subject will be "The Gold and Diamond Mines of South Africa."

Myrtle Fitz Roberts, '03, of Omaha, formerly head of the bureau of vocational education, Omaha, now employed as secretary, was in the city last week.

New Building Is Started In Wisconsin Unit

Central Structure Part of $1,250,000 Outlay for Cause of Medicine.

Work has begun this week on the central building of the Wisconsin General hospital which will cost $1,250,000 upon completion, and will constitute one of the most modern medical units in the Middle West. The foundations of concrete are being made, for the main building at University avenue and Orchard streets. The remainder of the preliminary construction will be pushed as fast as possible.

The new building, costing approximately $750,000, will be the main structure of the unit. The entire hospital system will include the main hospital and the other special branches to be built later. The plan is very comprehensive, and when completed will comprise both a medical school and state hospital for public use.

Because of the high cost of building material, transportation difficulties, and labor shortage, no building program has been undertaken since 1918. The Bradley hospital which now accommodates the students of the University was completed in 1918. During periods of influenza epidemics the accommodations at the hospital have been unable to take care of the heavy demand. The new units while creating a state hospital for the public and a training school for medical students, will also be available for the students, affording them the benefit of an unusual outlay of medical equipment.—The Daily Cardinal.

Royal Order of Shifters Plans Conclave and Initiates Eleven

The Royal Order of Shifters of the University of Nebraska held its first meeting of the year at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in front of Long's Flower Garden opposite the campus. The High Master of Sweets presided. Eleven new pledges were initiated into the mysteries of the organization.

After the initiation a business meeting was held. It was devoted entirely to a discussion of plans by which the members might get their names in the Cornhusker and the Daily Nebraskan, but such an undertaking was considered too important to be decided upon by the local organization. Accordingly a national conclave will be held in the flower garden facing the campus immediately after Thanksgiving.

The Royal Order of Shifters is the most democratic organization on the campus. It meets daily at 3 o'clock. Every person connected with the University, whether student or faculty members, fraternity member or "barb," athlete or journalist, "Ag" or Law, is eligible for membership. The purpose of the organization is to develop loyalty to the University and a spirit of friendship among the students. That the society is meeting a long-felt need is shown by its rapid growth.

Alumni Notes

F. W. Babe, '18, of East Pittsburg, Penn., is coming to Lincoln within a few weeks. A number of the resident alumni of Pittsburg were planning to attend the game with Penn State.

Mrs. Harold F. Cheney (Annie Bellatti, '10), of Emerson, Ia., wrote for information for organizing a Nebraska University alumni club at Emerson.

Mrs. Anna L. Tannahill, '98, is Dean of Women at Beloit College, Beloit, Wis. Since her husband's death in the autumn of 1917, Mrs. Tannahill has been traveling with her mother. Since 1918 she has been grand president of Pi Beta Phi and has been inspecting chapters. Mrs. Tannahill is looking forward to a brief visit in Lincoln soon. She has been filling her present position since the fall of last year. The University of Nebraska has another member on the faculty at Beloit, Miss Margaret Worster, '13, who is assistant professor of psychology.

Major D. F. McDonald, '11, is to be joined soon in Germany by his mother who is leaving Washington, D. C. Their address is A. O. P. 927, American Forces in Germany. Major McDonald was recently in America when he had returned from being with the Near East unit in Armenia doing relief work.

Mrs. Cora Fischer, in the spring of 1919 a member of the faculty here with the Department of Fine Arts, is now director of Industrial and Fine Arts at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tenn.

Miss Annis C. Chaiken, secretary of the alumni association, was in Omaha last week Thursday attending the U. of N. luncheon given at the Rome hotel. The arrangements for the banquet were made by B. J. Haggart. There were 125 alumni and faculty present. Dan J. Riley, president of the alumni association, was toastmaster. Brief addresses were given by Chancellor Avery and Dean Cutler of the Medical College at Omaha.

F. E. McCall, Chicago sales manager for the Walker Vehicle company, called at alumni headquarters Tuesday on his way to Portland, Ore., where he is going on business for the company. Mr. McCall graduated from the University in 1909.

P. H. Asendorf, '14, was on the campus Wednesday. Mr. Asendorf is teaching agriculture at Filley this year.

Clippings from the New York Times, Newark Evening News, and Los Angeles Times, telling of the Nebraska-Rutgers game have been received at alumni headquarters. The ones from the eastern papers were sent in by alumni who witnessed the game. The one from the western coast was sent by an interested Nebraskan. All three of the papers were loud in their praise of the Cornhuskers.

Pat: "Did you ever hear of airplane poison?"
Mike: "No, what is it?"
Pat: "One drop is fatal."

FUNDS FOR IOWA MEMORIAL UNION GROW STEADILY

Starting with almost nothing at the opening of last years Homecoming celebration, the funds for the Iowa Memorial Union have steadily increased, until at this time, $173,415 has been subscribed and over $200,000 was raised before Iowa clashed with Minnesota. About twenty-five thousand of the present amount has been raised since June, when it was announced to the alumni that $150,000 had been subscribed.

Canvassing was begun at the last Homecoming when a group of professional money raisers from New York took charge and attempted to raise the necessary $1,000,000 in a brief period of time.

Sorry! It Must Be Re-Written!
"Bernard M. Baruch of New York, former chairman of the War Industries Board, spent $40,000 for the production of a motion picture in support of the Democratic party and the League of Nations, he notified the Secretary of State today."—Indianapolis News.

PLAYING WITH NAMES.

The roster of Siloam Lodge furnishes some fare uriosities and it may not be generally known that it has no museum in which to display its collection. For instance, if you started out to build, here you may find Wood, Stone, Steele and Irons. If painting, not all the colors of the rainbow, but White, Greene and Brown aplenty, a Paynter to apply it, a Porch already made and Keys with which to lock the Barnes. Fact is, almost any kind of tradesman can be picked from Siloam's membership; from a Tinker to a Turner, as well as Baker, Cook, Carter, Cole-man, Mason, Miller, Porter, Sawyer, Glover, Gardner, and Waggoner. A genuine aviary might be organized, and as a starter would have a "Was" Bird, a Crane, a Crow, a Martin, a Reed, a Rice, a Dickie, and a Swan. The Hunter, if inclined, might Hunt at Poole or Pond, or at the Falls or Ferry, with King, Priest or Prince, Dailey for Weekes, in Sage or Marsh, the Lyon, Hart, Bull, Buck, or Wolf, using his Witt and Trapp, and if the Shepard the Stout Young Blood, was caught by Sargent Gross in his Webb, a Bond would be a Boon to Gamble with.

Siloam has many Sharps, no flats, and a Walker whose Campbell 'ears to want Sweets or a Cob under its Belt.

Dormitories Urgent Need Regents Say

Legislature to Hear Plans for Two Buildings to House 150 Each.

The erection of two dormitories each to accommodate 150 students one for men and one for women will be asked of the state legislature at the session this winter to aid in solving the housing shortage here. Need for the buildings was found urgent by the Board of Regents at its last session when it considered the biennial estimates for the State Board of Education.

With the increased enrollment, officials deem the erection of new dormitories to be advisable. The institutions also have a stabilizing influence in keeping down the general price of room rents. The present dormitories, Chadbourne and Barnard, accommodate only 266 women from an enrollment of 2,427. The enrollment of men reached a high mark of 4,608 this fall. Need for accommodation of the additional students is declared to be the most pressing need of the University at this time, and the proposition will be pushed urgently at the meeting of the state solons.—The Daily Cardinal.

Quite a Difference.

Johnny—"Well, yer want to take her gently down to de water, put yer arm around her waist, an'—"
Chimmy—"Aw, cut it out. It's my sister."
Johnny—"Oh! Just push 'er off de dock.—Exchange.

"He put his arm around me five times last night."
"Some arm!"
"Foul!"
"I don't see the feathers."
"This is a picked team, you idiot!"

SHE WAS DOUBTFUL
Henry, who married in New York brought his wife home to his father's farm. It was her first experience o' country life. The first evening of her visit, she looked on with interest while the cows were being milked.
"Would you like to try it?" she was asked.
The bride was doubtful. "I think I could start the milk, but I—I'm afraid I couldn't stop it."
