TEN THOUSAND DOLLAR BOOK FOR ONLY A FEW DOLLARS.

Did you ever stop to think that if your college annual was ever gotten out for you alone it would cost you $10,000.00?

That is what it cost to engrave and print such a publication, and when you think of the small sum that you have to pay for it, it should make you realize more than ever the earnest effort that is put into the publishing of this book.

During the war, when everything was curtailed, a large university decided to do away with the annual, that is, the faculty so decided. The student body immediately circulated a petition and decided that they should not discontinue the book, and by all means should publish it. Girls were elected as business managers and editors and undertook this tremendous task, achieving remarkable success.

This simply demonstrates the place a college annual holds in the hearts of the student body of an educational institution. There is no other publication printed by your college that is such a big factor in arousing young men or young women to come to your school for an education.

GIVING THE RIGHT THINGS IN THE RIGHT SPIRIT.

Old Scrooge, Dickens' famous character, is probably the most famous miser of Christmas in the world. "Christmas - Hah!" said Old Scrooge. But there are thousands of men, women and children in this country who "Bah" with Scrooge either before or after December 25. Scrooge hated Christmas because he neither gave nor received the right things in the right spirit. He has imitators for the same reason. The object of Christmas giving is to make those to whom you give happy. That is the only way you can make YOURSELF happy. You cannot make those you care for happy by ill considered gifts. If your gift means nothing except a package tied with red ribbon with holly wreathes on it, it is valueless either to the giver or the receiver, no matter whether its wrappings cover a diamond necklace or a fifty cent necktie. To give real Christmas gifts you must put thought as well as money into them - thought for the welfare and profit of the future as well as pleasure for the moment. Such gifts are not hard to find. You can give comfort, independence and protection for the future by choosing Government Savings Securities for your Christmas gifts. They are adaptable to any purse, large or small. They will convey not only the immediate pleasure of a thoughtful gift, but they will continue as an aid and inspiration for the future. They will never deteriorate in value but will grow in value as time goes on. With them you can give character and contentment. And whether your gifts be 25 cent thrift stamps, $5 war savings stamps or a $1,000 treasury savings certificate, they will carry to the recipients the good wishes for happiness and future prosperity which they can make come true. Buy your Christmas presents from Uncle Sam and "Bah" at Scrooge, not with him.

TEACHING CITIZENSHIP.

The capability with which the children of today make use of the ballot when they become voters is largely due to their training while in school. Citizenship in this country is not inherited; it must be taught and attained by an understanding of its obligations. The citizen should have a knowledge of its practical application in the relations of the citizen to his public duties.

The introduction of the course in citizenship into the University is a forward step in the solution of the problem of better qualified citizens. Every student should be taught the purpose of our government, city, state and national and in particular the relation of the citizen to the government. The extension of the right of suffrage to women opens the way for a general system of education in citizenship applicable to all students. Few of the voters who will be the guardians of the future have the opportunity of becoming acquainted with the fundamentals of citizenship as the colleges and universities afford. It is therefore the more proper that college men and women should avail themselves of citizenship studies.

There is no greater privilege on earth than American citizenship, and yet that privilege is much abused when considered from the intentions of those who first defined it. Citizens have failed to perform their obligations because they did not know their duties as citizens. Interest in good citizenship and good government is needed to bring about results. There is no better means than the teaching of such courses in the schools. Evening Missourian.

Pan-American Director Writes To Sec. Whitten

Makes Special Offer for Volunteers to Take Intensive Course in Foreign Commerce.

Special. Mr. W. S. Whitten, Secretary, Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, Lincoln, Neb.

"I invite your special attention and, through you, that of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, to the suggestion which I have the honor to submit herewith for the promotion of Lincoln's commercial and industrial development. This is not a circular communication but a carefully considered presentation of a particular opportunity to your organization and city.

"By urgent invitation of the government of Panama, supported by the co-operative attitude of many officials of the United States and other American governments, I have, on retiring from fourteen years service as director general of the Pan-American Union, accepted, in my new work as counselor and adviser in international affairs, the responsibility of acting as president of the Administrative Council, with headquarters in the United States, for the new Pan-American College of Commerce which will be opened in Panama City, Panama, January 10, 1921, along the lines given in the enclosed data.

"After thorough discussion with President-elect Porras of Panama, Hon. J. E. Lefevre, charge d'affaires of Panama here, Dr. Clarence J. Owens, director general of the Southern Commercial Congress and executive director of the college and representatives of the Department of Commerce of the United States, I have to recommend that your organization alone or co-operating with others as it may see fit, shall send, as a result of competition or selection, one or more persons who will take this intensive six months 'Plattsburg' course in foreign commerce and then return to Lincoln to be its special authority in Pan-American and other foreign trade and in a position to give the best expert advice to all your manufacturing, industrial, financial, export and import interests. This plan, approved by highest official authority, will give Lincoln an unprecedented and unequalled opportunity to obtain in a brief period at a minimum cost a person or persons of trained practical knowledge who can be of immeasurable benefit to your industrial welfare at a most critical period in the development of commerce with Central and South

New Reading Room of Association Proves Popular With Students

The new reading room, conducted by the Y. M. C. A. in the old cafeteria room in the Temple building is proving more popular than predictions by the most optimistic.

The University authorities gave the room to the Y. M. C. A. because the need for such a recreation center was badly felt. It is filled practically all the time, and during meal hours it is crowded to overflowing. The Forum holds its weekly meetings there on Thursday.

Through the courtesy of the exchange department of the Daily Nebraskan, college papers from institutions all over the country are left in the reading and social room. One of the most complete files of college and University papers in Lincoln may be found there.

EXTENSIVE PREPARATIONS MADE FOR DAIRY SHOW

Club to Stage Exhibits and Program on Farm Campus Saturday.

Extensive preparations are being made for the dairy show at the Farm campus December 4, by the Varsity Dairy Club. After its program last Thursday, plans for the show were discussed. It is planned to have stands in the corridors of the Dairy building where ice cream, wafers, milk and buttermilk will be sold. Display exhibits will be shown on the first floor to explain the making of ice cream, cheese, butter and the pasteurization of milk. Films from the Dairy Department of the College of Agriculture will be secured, if possible, and shown in the auditorium of the Dairy building.

The main intention of the Dairy Club is to increase the interest in dairy in the College of Agriculture. At the last meeting of the club the members enjoyed a very interesting program. A debate held the main interest. Reports from members of the judging team and the coach of the Chicago dairy show were made. Various committees of the club reported.

The show next month will place emphasis upon judging contests which will be open to all students who pay a one dollar entrance fee. Six classes will be judged and cash prizes will be awarded to all contestants scoring above 80 per cent.

Water polo is to be one of the minor sports at the University of Oregon this year.

Christmas is only a month away—do you realize it? So it's high time to consult Gift Granny and find out what all the friends and relatives want. Just advise with her secretary (who graduated from Uni last year y'w way) and she'll show you how it's done. You'll find her in the dear little house on the balcony which is just about the coziest place you ever saw, with its old-fashioned mahogany furniture and kunning ruffled Swiss curtains.

Veils play an important part in a clever idea for a Christmas present that I gleaned from a girl I know last year. Someone gave her three veils and three handkerchiefs to match. With a dark blue veil, she got a white kerchief with threads drawn in blue—a brown veil accompanied an orange handkerchief, drawn in brown, and then there was a purple set. Wouldn't you appreciate a gift of this sort? We have the veils in all the new patterns and they are priced from 75c to $2.00 a yard.

Drawing threads may not sound like an exciting occupation in itself, but when its done in connection with certain squares of colored linen, the results more than justify the hard toil and the self-control it takes to smother the exclamations when the thread breaks. We have every popular shade in handkerchief linen, and it may be bought by the square or by the yard.
