NEBRASKA MEETS COYOTES TONIGHT

NEBRASKA MEETS COYOTES TONIGHT

South Dakota Team on Basketball Menu For This Evening.

TEAM IN FIRST CLASS SHAPE

Third Game of Season at Coliseum at Hand With Coach Schissler and Husker Five.

The Huskers took their final workout last night in preparation for the clash with the South Dakota Coyotes this evening at the Coliseum. Coach Schissler reports that the team is in first class condition and should send the Coyotes home with the short end of the score.

South Dakota arrives in Lincoln this morning, they will meet the Huskers this evening and the Wesleyan team tomorrow evening. The South Dakota aggregation have a good many of their old men and are planning on giving the Huskers some real competition.

Strenuous Week of Practice.

The Huskers have been putting in a strenuous week in preparation for this contest and should win without much difficulty. The showing made against the Armstrong quintet was not as good as the Nebraska basketballers are capable of putting up. The Huskers outplayed the Clothiers but could not put the ball through the hoop when within easy shooting distance of the basket.

There will be no games for the Cornhuskers next week owing to the examinations taking place but the following week the Oklahoma squad will invade Lincoln for a two game series. From that time up until the State High School tournament Coach Schissler's proteges will be busy every week with contests. After the Oklahoma series the Huskers take the road, meeting Grinnell and Ames in a two game series at each school. The Oklahoma and Ames contests will largely decide the Huskers standing in the Missouri Valley.

The Huskers then return to Lincoln where they meet Colgate, Notre Dame and a return series with the Ames Cyclones. The Ames series will wind up the season for the Huskers. The Huskers are at the top of the Valley standing now with no defeats registered against them by any Valley teams.

MATH STUDENTS GIVE GIVE MAGIC THE ONCE OVER

MAGIC THE ONCE OVER
Hindoo Snakes Released from Coils—Cards "Unpacked" Thru Aid Of the Spirits.

One hundred and fifty University mathematicians and other students were entertained Wednesday evening by John W. Chaney, '23, and "his show of wonders." The famous Hindoo snake untied itself, rising cards arose, and the disappearing handkerchief did its duty, but the feature of the evening was the spirit picture. The magician was able to make any picture called for gradually appear in a most uncanny manner upon a blank screen before the eyes of the audience.

Mr. Chaney was assisted by Naomi Olmstead at the piano, and Eleanor McMurray, who sang.

Re-election of Officers.

At a short business meeting the mathematicians showed their appreciation of the work done during the past semester by present officers. The following were re-elected for the coming semester: Paul J. White, President; Lloyd Shildneck, Vice-President and Grace Myers, Secretary and Treasurer.

The club has grown rapidly under the leadership of President White. "It bids well to become one of the liveliest organizations on the campus," he said. Entertainments by the society have always been noted for their originality. Several interesting programs are planned for next semester.

Ernest Hickman was voted to membership at this meeting.

PROFESSOR FOGG IS HOST TO JOURNALISM STUDENTS

News Group Entertained Informally At Reception Thursday Evening.

Prof. and Mrs. M. M. Fogg entertained the students in Prof. Fogg's journalism classes at their home in south Lincoln Thursday evening. This is an annual custom of Prof. and Mrs. Fogg, and it was responded to by a large number of students.

Part of the students were asked to come early in the evening and part later so that all could be entertained. The central interest of the evening was Professor Fogg's library, where students looked over the books that lined the walls and looked at a large number of war pictures that Professor Fogg obtained while in France as head of Journalism school in the A. E. F. University.

A feature of the entertainment was a song by Mrs. Doris Clapp accompanied at the piano by Harold Fling. Mrs. Clapp assisted Mrs. Fogg in serving refreshments.

These pictures must be taken within the next week, or these organizations will not be represented in the year-book. Appointments should be made at once for the few remaining hours at Townsend's.

All individual and group pictures for the annual must be disposed of before the first of February. January 21st is the time limit for all pictures.

FORMER COACH TO CAROLINA AGGIES

E. J. Stewart Receives Call to Serve At Southern School for Remainder of Year.

FOLLOW REIGN OF JUMBO STEIM

Former Husker Mentor at University of Nebraska Goes to Clemson A. and M. College.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., Jan. 20.—Dr. E. J. Stewart of Lincoln, Neb., has been elected athletic director and head coach of Clemson Agricultural and Mechanical College, located at Clemson College, about fifty miles west of here. He will take charge on February 1.

When being shown the foregoing dispatch Dr. Stewart said that he did not know the appointment was to be announced at this time. He said, however, that it had been made and that he will leave in time to begin his duties on February 1.

The Clemson agricultural and mechanical college has 1,000 male students. It is not a co-educational institution. Unlike most of the land grant colleges it is organized on a military basis. The location is in the Piedmont district in Oconee county. Which is the western tip of South Carolina. It is about forty miles from Athens, Ga., and about 100 miles from Atlanta.

Dr. Stewart was at the head of Athletics in the University of Nebraska until he retired two years ago to engage in the automobile business. He is permitted by the present sleekness of trade to accept this election in the south, at least temporarily.

Came Here in 1916.

Dr. E. J. Stewart came to the University of Nebraska as head coach of all athletics in 1916 to take the place of Coach "Jumbo" Stehm who had resigned to take a similar position at the University of Nebraska.

Previous to his service as coach of the University of Nebraska Dr. Stewart had served in a number of schools embarking on a career as one of the big coaches at the University of California. After a few years at that institution, he was called to the Oregon Agricultural college as head of athletics.

Recommended by Stehm.

When Stehm left Nebraska, he recommended Dr. Stewart as a logical successor to himself. Stewart came here from Oregon Aggies in the fall of 1916. He coached two very successful gridiron teams in 1916 and 1917. In the fall of 1918, Coach Stewart was granted a leave of absence in view of the fact that he was in service in the capacity of an athletic director.

Dr. Stewart coached a very strong eleven in a Georgia army camp that fall. He returned to the University early in 1919 and took over the coaching work. Coach Kline of Wesleyan had been called in the fall of 1918 as head coach and Paul Schissler as assistant.
