

COLONEL MOSES IS CAMP COMMANDER

Nebraska Commandant Chosen as Head of R. O. T. C. Gathering at Fort Snelling.

Colonel G. W. Moses, P. M. S. and T. of this University has been selected to command the R. O. T. C. camp at Fort Snelling, Minnesota. Colonel Moses states that it is his intention to exert every effort in making the camp pleasant for all participants.

Athletics and shooting will be encouraged to the limit of efficiency. He especially wishes to see the University of Nebraska represented by a strong baseball team. He also hopes to take along a number of musicians with their instruments.

The basic camp is open to any young man who may be recommended by his Professor of Military Science and Training. The advanced camp is required of all young men who are taking the advanced course and who have not already attended one advanced camp.

The camp will open in June sometime after school is out and will continue into July. The exact dates will be announced later.

REFRESHING COMPARISONS.

Because the total of the figures makes 13, some 'disconsolate fear breeder' has figured that the year 1921 will prove a bad year. To offset this ridiculous illusion, it is refreshing to read a little magazine called "The Silent Partner." One particular editorial should be transmitted to every person in the United States. Some extracts from it offer refreshing comparisons:

"Here we are, all of us in America, surrounded by talking machines, hemmed in by oil paintings, carried by automobiles, jolled by jazz bands, electrified by inventions, amused by moving pictures, exercised by golf clubs and tennis courts, enthused by ball games, transported by fast trains, employed by honest business men, given great farms, rich mines, free libraries, free schools, abundant books, magazines, newspapers and the most bountiful crops in the history of this country—here we are with silk as common as cotton and everything everywhere coming down.

"Compare this condition with the wretched situation in the Old Country, where counts in Vienna capitalize their evening suits and become table waiters; where the arch duchesses are doing their own washing, where princes and princesses are but paupers in matters of money—where in the winter of 1920-21 there is no coal because no trains are running, and no trains because there is no coal.

"Compare devastated France, wrecked Belgium, torn Italy, tired England, disorganized Germany, paralyzed Poland, mad-stricken Russia, busted Japan and snake-bitten Mexico, and then raise your voice high to Heaven and be thankful that you live in a country where you have a voice in helping make this the best administered government on the face of the earth."

College of Business Administration night classes will not begin until the second week of the semester.

TRACK COACH WANTS THREE HUNDRED MEN

Meets for Freshmen.

A number of interesting meets are in store for the freshmen and novices. February 26 a few of the men are expected to enter the Kansas City Athletic Club meets. They will attend the meet a s individual entrants.

March 12 a Fresh-Novice Meet will be held on the board track. This will be an early season tryout for the men.

May 1 the men will be selected to represent the first year group in the Missouri Valley meet.

May 11 the University of Nebraska will enter a freshman team to compete against freshman squads from Missouri, Ames, Kansas, Kansas Aggies, Oklahoma, Washington and Drake in a Missouri Valley telegraphic meet.

Early in May a couple of dual meets are planned with Nebraska college teams. On May 21 the Alumni meet will be held. Medals will be awarded winners at this meet.

TWO THOUSAND NAMED AS GOAL

Depends on Students.

The plan to deliver the paper earlier each morning to the student body depends a great deal on the students themselves, declare the men in charge of the drive. Without a long list of subscribers, the Nebraskan will not be able to furnish as good a paper or give as good service. Not only are the staff members anxious to see the Nebraskan read by every student, but the advertisers want to have each paper read and distributed all over the city. The plans adopted at the meeting of the reporters on Tuesday evening call for an improved paper this semester, but a big list of subscribers is necessary to put the paper in the front rank of college publications of the country. Is the report given out by the staff members.

Carl Hogerson, '16, Phi Gamma Delta, who spent the past few months on a Wyoming ranch has entered the College of Law this semester.

THE RESTLESS AGE.

"Deliver me from the crab who is forever crawling backward and from the tree toad that is always yelling about the approaching storm.

"Lead me from the poor 'mut' who is constantly harping about panics, profiteers and high prices.

"Give me the willing worker who sees things as they are and is trying hard to improve them by his own service.

"All things are not right unless we individually help to right them."—The Silent Partner.

HUSKERS WILL INVADE IOWA

the two games that are to be played in the Congregationalists' territory. Ames has one of the best teams in the Missouri Valley and will probably furnish stiffer opposition than the Grinnell men.

The men who Coach Schissler will take with him have not as yet been picked owing to the ineligibility of some of the men. Patty and Russell are not as yet eligible for the team but will in all probability have their work arranged so that they can make the trip next week.

Nebraska is now leading the Missouri Valley Conference race with four victories to her credit. The Huskers have six more conference games on the schedule before the end of the season.

Announcement has been made of a substantial price reduction in food served at the Temple cafeteria and the University farm cafeteria. At the farm the caloric value of the food served is taken into consideration and the amount served is based on the amount necessary for a balanced meal.

The following members of the Oklahoma football team were entertained at the Sigma Nu Chapter house at dinner Tuesday evening: Coach Benny Owens, Captain Wm. Cox, J. Rhoton, Robert Quinn, Harold McBride and Chas. Waite.

Alumni visitors at Alumni headquarters the latter part of the week were: Wilson D. Bryons, '19, of Omaha; Jessie Robertson, '20, who is teaching in Louisville; Vera Darling, '07, of Portland, Oregon, who was on her way to Iowa City where she has a position in the Iowa University.

Katherine Schwertley, '04, of Missouri Valley, Iowa, sent in a life membership to the Alumni association the past week. She also wrote that Jesse Owen, E. E., '06, is at the head of the Owen Engineering and Construction Company of Missouri Valley and J. Ross McLaughlin, '06, residing at Missouri Valley is State agent for the Commonwealth Insurance Company.

Mrs. Jessie Bekhtol Lee, '11, sends the following clipping from the New York Times:

LYDIA B. EARTHART WILL GIVE VOCATIONAL TALKS FOR GIRLS

A series of Vocational talks for girls will begin February 3 under the auspices of the W. S. G. A. The opening talk will be a general talk on Vocations for Girls by Dr. Lida B. Earthart of the teachers college. On February 24 Miss Wiesner of Miller & Paines will speak on advertising—openings in the Commercial Art line. March 17 Professor Ivey speaks on Openings in the business World for Women. Miss Bennett comes March 22. She will speak at Vespers on Tuesday and at a special convocation Wednesday. She will devote most of her time to individual conferences with students who wish to ask her any questions regarding vocations. These conferences may be arranged for through Ruth Lindsay.
