

A TALE OF OLD JAPAN
CHORUS PRESENTATION

"A Tale of Old Japan" a cantata by Coleridge Taylor has been selected by the University Chorus at its first offering this semester. It will be presented April 4 before the Matinee Musical Club. The author is also the composer of Hiawatha, presented last year by the chorus.

The work for spring is being organized. There will be at least one public performance.

HUSKERS STAGE
BIG COMEBACK

The Aggies were hitting the hoop from all parts of the floor and cinched the victory in a short spurt during the opening period. The score stood 24 to 10 in Ames' favor at the close of the first half. The visitors made a real fight for the game in the second period, outscoring Ames by a margin of 20 to 14, but the Aggie lead was too great to overcome.

Ames scored first with a sensational goal by Green from the corner of the court. Smith tied the count with a pretty shot from under the basket, and Innes and Smith then tossed one each in rapid succession. Green landed another from the middle of the court and Newman shot a basket for Nebraska. Here Ames took a wonderful spurt and hit eight goals from every angle. During this time the Cornhuskers gave a ragged exhibition and the loss of their veteran forwards, Patty and Russell, and center, Bekins, was evident in every play. With but a few minutes of the first half remaining, Bekins was substituted for Munn at center and Carman replaced Jungmeier at forward.

Coach Schissler used nine men before he found the combination which could ride over the Iowa defense. Newman, Warren and Dobesh starred in Nebraska's later rally.

INTERESTING PERSONALITIES
AMONG EDITORS

"fighting Irishman." He lives up to his title in his editorial policies.

W. C. Israel, editor of the Havelock Post, claims to be the best poke player in the state. He told one of the editors he would have his hat and coat before he left Lincoln. It is said though that Mr. Maupin holds the record.

Mrs. Marie Weeks, editor of the Norfolk Press, is prominent in Nebraska journalism. She is active in social welfare and political work.

E. R. Purcell, president of the Nebraska Press Association, is known as the millionaire editor. He is editor of the Custer County Chief, publisher at Broken Bow. This paper was established twenty-nine years ago by Mr. Purcell. It has a circulation of 4,500 and has had the largest circulation of any country weekly in the state for the past five years. Mr. Purcell was in the Nebraska House of Representatives two years ago. He is president of the Fair Association at Broken Bow and a member of the Board of Managers of the State Fair Board. He and two associates made a trip to the east last year and secured a carnival company. On their return they announced a variety of shows. The prudish women of Broken Bow made immediate objections. Mr. Purcell was kept busy dodging oral brickbats.

Frank Edgcombe, editor of the Geneva Signal, is one of the big men in the Journalistic field in Nebraska today. Although Mr. Edgcombe is totally blind, he has full charge of his paper and runs one of the best in the state. He knows the location of everything in his office. He dictates his editorials every day. These unusual feats of Mr. Edgcombe are only two of his many accomplishments.

J. P. O'Furey, of the Hardington Herald, is also one of the best journalists of the state. He started as advertising manager for a department store in Sioux City, Iowa.
