

ELEVENTH ANNUAL TOURNEY DRAWS MANY ATHLETES

Two Hundred Schools Expected to Enter Big Basketball Tournament.

The eleventh annual Nebraska high school basketball tournament is less than a month away. The tourney this year will be held March 10, 11, 12 and over two hundred teams are expected to compete in the event. Over one hundred seventy teams were participants last year.

Entry blanks have been sent to the high schools of the state and the work of classifying the entries will be completed soon.

This year the teams will be classified into divisions. This classification will be made on the basis of the team's record this season, class of games played, size of the city or town, number of veterans on the team, number of boys in the high school and previous tournament experience. The high school board of control and a competent committee will have charge of the classification.

Must Be Fit.

A physician's certificate must be furnished by the coach or manager of each team showing that the boys have been examined and pronounced physically fit to participate in the state tourney. The physician certifies that the layers listed have been examined by him. This certification must accompany the entry from each school. A physician will be present on the playing floor at all the games.

Officials selected for the games must have the sanction of the board of control before they will be allowed to work in the contest.

A silver loving cup will be awarded the winners of each class and banners given teams placing second in each division. The prizes for all classes will be of equal value. Suitable prizes will be awarded for the consolation championships.

The rules of play will be those devised by the joint committee of the Y. M. C. A. amateur athletic union of the United States and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

Entertainment Provided.

Entertainment will be provided by a committee of commercial club members. It will be of such a nature that visiting students and high school faculty representatives will become familiar with the University of Nebraska tradition and college life. Opportunity will also be presented for the visitors to inspect the various manufacturing plants of Lincoln as well as other points of interest.

All contestants are furnished with passes and will have free access to the various basketball games at all times.

Six playing floors will be used—the Coliseum, at the State Fair Grounds; armory, Y. M. C. A., high school, city auditorium, and chapel if needed.

A sponsor must accompany each team to the tournament. A special certificate signed by the superintendent and principal of the high school will be given the sponsor to show that he is authorized to serve as sponsor for the team while they are en route to and from Lincoln and in attendance at the state tournament. He will be responsible at all times for the direct supervision and conduct of the team, both to the local school authorities and to the board of control of the Nebraska high school athletic association until the team has returned home.

Anna Burkart, '17, of Glenolden, Pa., writes that an alumni organization is under way at that place, a full report of which will be sent later. Miss Burkart is working on the Dr. Wolfe Memorial Fund and has received several pledges from alumni in that vicinity.

Two life memberships were received during the past week—one from Grover C. Kaar, '03, who is now manager of the Dorr Company, engineers, branch office in the West Indies located at Havana, Cuba; the other from John E. Schott, '14, who is assistant professor of chemistry at the Pennsylvania State College.

Dr. Elvan L. Sederlin, '19, is at present connected with the pathological department of the department of public welfare at New York. Dr. Bradford James Murphey, '16, is serving on the interne staff of the Kings County Hospital which is connected with the department of public welfare also.

RUTH FICKES PICKED AS DELEGATE TO DEPAUW

Ruth Fickes, '22, has been chosen by the W. A. A. board as the official delegate to the national convention of W. A. A. to be held at DePauw University, March 18 and 19. Three other girls will go as unofficial delegates to be elected at the general meeting Wednesday night, from the six nominated by the nominating committee. Those nominated were: Betty Ball, '22; Martha Krogmann, '21; Ruby Damme, '23; Sue Stille, '21; Eleanor Snell, '22; and Marjorie Barstow, '22.

DRAMATIC CLUB WILL GIVE PYGMALION FRIDAY NIGHT

University Players to Feature in Play Written by George Bernard Shaw.

"Pygmalion," the Dramatic Club play for 1921, will be given at the Temple theater Thursday evening under the direction of Miss H. Ailes Howell. Tickets are on sale by members of the dramatic department at 50 cents each and seats may be reserved any time at the Ross P. Curtis Music Store, 120 O street.

The cast of the play follows:
Bystander .....Gerald Leuck
Pickering .....Rhue Green
Doolittle .....Fred Nuss
Eliza Doolittle .....Eleanor Fogg
Mrs. Eynsford-Hill .....Marianne Gougis
Miss Eynsford-Hill .....Mildred Gollehan
Freddy Eynsford-Hill .....

.....Sam Brownell
Higgins .....Rudyard Norton
Mrs. Higgins .....Jean Nobl
Maid .....Eliza Foster
Mrs. Pearce .....Mabel Gibson

The leading parts are carried by Eleanor Fogg, Rudyard Norton, and Rhue Green. "Pygmalion" was written by George Bernard Shaw, and is the story of a professor in phonetics whose ear is so finely trained that he can tell within six miles of where a person lives by his pronunciation. On a wager he takes a common London flower girl, agreeing to pass her off as a duchess within six months by changing her pronunciation. The process of this change, and the development of her love affair, as worked out by Bernard Shaw, in the play, form an amusing plot.

This is the first Dramatic Club play since 1915, when "Monsieur Beaucaire" by Booth Tarkington was presented.

NEBRASKA MAN INSTALLS A MAMMOTH INCUBATOR

H. M. Wells, Extension Poultryman, Takes Charge of 30,000 Egg Plant.

A 30,000 egg capacity incubator has been installed at the baby chick hatchery on the 80-acre Cedar Crest poultry farm, three miles south of Auburn, Neb.

H. M. Wells, extension poultryman of the Agricultural College, has handed in his resignation to take effect March 1, when he will take charge of this plant.

This mammoth incubator is housed in an incubator cellar, 22x60 feet in dimension, and is constructed of hollow tile brick. Modern equipment has been installed by Mr. Wells, which makes this one of the most up-to-date plants in the west.

Eggs to supply this machine will be supplied by several of the leading poultry breeders in Nebraska. Only White Leghorns and White Rocks will be used—a large supply of which will be from pedigreed flocks.

ANNUAL ART EXHIBIT CLOSED SATURDAY

The annual art exhibit held at the Library Hall by the Nebraska Art association closed Saturday. The students showed a lively interest in the exhibit. All the school children in the city visited the gallery at some time during the exhibit. The gallery was open free to the public every Sunday afternoon. Twenty-five hundred people visited the gallery last Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Krell (Mary Herbert, '10) is now located at Sacramento, California.

WHITES GRAB FIRST HONORS IN MONTE CARLO TOURNEY

Yellow Team Falls in Finals of Girls' Games Played Saturday Morning.

The White team won the Monte Carlo tournament by defeating the Yellows, 8 to 5, in the finals Saturday morning. The class teams were chosen immediately afterwards.

The Whites took the lead with a field goal by Ranslem in the first minute of play. The Yellows came back with a goal by Grabill and the score stood 2 to 2 till near the end of the half.

Both sides played a close defensive game. The score stood 6 to 3 in the Whites favor at the half. The Yellows made a goal from the field just after the half and managed to keep the ball in their possession most of the time but were unable to locate the basket. The Whites piled up their score by their successful free throws. Ruth Fickes and Lauda Newlin of the Yellow team displayed close guarding and held their opponents to a small score.

The members of the teams are:
White—Annabelle Ranslem, f.; Eleanor Felton, f.; Martha Krogmann, jr.; Lois Pederson (capt.) sc.; Lois Foose, g.; Alice Stevens, g.
Yellow—Eulah Grabill, f.; Esther McClelland, f.; Harriet Bogges, jr.; LaVerne Brubaker, sc.; Ruth Fickes (capt.) g.; Lauda Newlin, g.

Seniors vs. Freshmen.

DR. BARKER TO TALK AT OPEN SEMINAR

An illustrated lecture upon "The Fairy Isle, Bermuda," will be given by Dr. Franklin D. Barker, Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock before zoological seminar in room 201, Bessey Hall. The seminar will hold an open meeting for this occasion and invites the general public as well as University people to hear this descriptive and entertaining lecture on life forms in the tropics and the people and customs of this picturesque island.

Dr. Barker's lecture is the result of two summers of work in the Harvard biological library and is illustrated with colored lantern slides of scenes taken in Bermuda.

Dr. Barker, who is professor of medical zoology at the University, will deliver two lectures on eugenics and eugenics before Dean Fordyce's class of University men at St. Paul's Methodist church. The first lecture will be delivered Sunday morning at 10:15 a. m. and the second next Sunday at the same hour. These are also illustrated with lantern slides.

Doris Bates, '21, who underwent an operation for appendicitis several weeks ago, will leave Monday for her home in Lodgepole. She will not return to school this semester.
