

THE DAILY NEBRASKAN

VOL. XX, NO. 114.

LINCOLN, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, MARCH 17, 1921.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

BANQUET PROGRAM IS NOW COMPLETE

"After College What?" Will Be the Dominating Subject of the Evening.

BISHOP STUNTZ TO SPEAK GIRLS!

Will Be Introduced by Chancellor Avery—Lawrence Slater Is Chairman of the Affair.

Tickets for the banquet of 1,000 students are on sale today at the Student Activities office, the Y. M. C. A. office in the Temple, and Ellen Smith Hall.

The program of the student banquet which will be held Friday evening at the St. Paul church has been completed and last-minute ticket sales are being checked. Great interest among the students has been noticed during the last few days.

Bishop Homer C. Stuntz heads the list of speakers who will talk on some feature of the "After College What?" program. The faculty representative will be Dr. Lida B. Earhart of the Teacher's college. R. O. Williams, who graduated from Nebraska in 1891 and took his law degree in 1895, has been secured to speak for the alumni of the school.

Four-minute speeches will be made by Harry Hubbard, law 22, and Mary Baker, '22, who will represent the students. The banquet will end at the time announced.

Chancellor Avery Presides.

Chancellor Samuel Avery has consented to introduce Bishop Stuntz. Lawrence Slater, chairman of the general committee in charge of the banquet, will act as chairman and introduce the other speakers. Arrangements are also being made to have leaders for the singing and cheering.

Bishop Stuntz, the main speaker, has a wide reputation for his interesting and entertaining talks. He is a world traveler, and besides spending last summer in China, he has South America, India and the Philippines. Headquarters for the bishop are maintained at Omaha, where he has been for the past eight years.

The program will be timed, however, so that students who have made arrangements for the latter part of the evening will have time to attend both places.

TUMBLING AND APPARATUS CONTEST HERE FRIDAY

A gymnasium meet, consisting of apparatus work and tumbling, will be held in the Armory Friday, March 18, at 4 p. m. The same team that competed in the contests at Indiana recently will enter the events here this week. Any other men who have made a total of twenty-seven hours during the past two semesters will be considered eligible to take part.

Announcements were made Wednesday that a letter will be awarded to the best all-around man in these events. No admission will be charged.

UNIVERSITY CHORUS PREPARES NUMBER

"A Tale of Old Japan" will be presented by the University Chorus at convocation Tuesday, March 22, under the direction of Mrs. Carrie B. Raymond, who has been working for several weeks in perfecting this musical production.

The chorus annually gives two or three musical convocations. This year it gave "The Pilgrims" by Handel, shortly before Thanksgiving. These programs are always attended by a large audience of students and Lincoln residents.

Candidates for the pitching and catching staff of the Nebraska baseball team are requested to meet at the Armory, Thursday at 3 p. m.

GRADUATE TO SPEAK ON SOCIAL SERVICE PROBLEMS

Ben Cherrington and Elizabeth Curtis will speak on social service problems at a meeting Monday, March 21, at Ellen Smith Hall.

Ben Cherrington was graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1911 and is remembered as a man with a fine personality and superior ability. He is now head of the student work of the Y. M. C. A. in the Rocky Mountain region. His speech will be about the relation of students to the present social crisis.

Miss Curtis is a graduate of Smith College and now holds the position of national industrial secretary of the Y. W. C. A. Industrial standards of the Y. W. C. A. will probably be the subject of her talk.

LABOR MAY INFLUENCE FUTURE GOVERNMENTS

Prof. Raffaele Piccoli Says Representatives May Be Apportioned Among Industrial Organizations.

The fundamental features of the Italian government and the coming influence of the labor unions on government were discussed by Prof. Raffaele Piccoli in his lecture to the political science students Wednesday morning.

Professor Piccolini explained the working of the Italian government in detail and told wherein it differed from the English or American systems.

In speaking of the probable future influence of labor on government, he said that he thought it possible that representatives might in the future be apportioned through the industrial organizations. This new theory, he said, is springing up throughout Europe. The objection that under this system each group would degenerate into a defender of its own interest is overcome by the belief that the several groups being merged together will become nationally representative.

LAZY STUDENTS ARE EXAMINED AND TREATED

The student Medical Aid Clinic at the University Farm for the School of Agriculture is a very busy place every morning from 8 to 9 o'clock. This clinic was opened February 1 and has conducted fifty-six examinations during the month, and forty-eight treatments.

Dr. Chas. Harms and Dr. Ruth Warrner have charge of the clinic, alternating their duties throughout the week so that Monday, Wednesday and Friday are "boys' days, and the remainder of the days are given to the girls.

Student with "dark brown tastes in their mouth," those who could not sleep, some who could not keep awake, others with just plain spring fever, as well as those with "lazylitis," made application for consultation with the physician in charge, while the Daily Nebraskan reporter waited for an interview.

PROFESSOR PICCOLI SPEAKS ON ITALIAN SCHOOL SYSTEM

Professor Piccoli, of the University of Pisa, Italy, spoke to the faculty of the College of Business Administration at a luncheon held in his honor at the Lincoln Commercial Club Wednesday noon.

His subject was the "Value of Higher Education for Business." He pointed out the differences between the higher education for business in Italy and in the United States. The high school in Italy carries the student about two years farther in his studies than does the American high school, the Italian student being graduated at about the age of twenty years. Also the schools for specialization in business in Italy are separate and distinct from the universities. Professor Piccoli discussed the development of special instruction for business in Italy as compared with the progress made in the United States and other countries.

Dr. Winfield Scott Hall, nationally known lecturer, writer and medical teacher, who will speak to University men at a special men's convocation this morning at 11 o'clock in the Temple theater.

Dr. Hall will be in Lincoln for three days and has been secured to address the Lancaster Medical association, the Rotary Club, the Knife and Fork Club and the Kiwanis Club. Dr. Hall is dean of the medical college at Northwestern University. Under the auspices of the Board of Temperance and Moral Welfare of the Presbyterian church he will speak on the subject "Social Hygiene."

FOGG AND FOSTER JUDGE COTNER-DOANE DEBATE

Prof. M. M. Fogg and Prof. G. W. Foster were judges of the Cotner-Doane Debate at Cotner Monday evening on the admission of Japanese. Cotner won, as did also its negative team at Doane.

MANY FIRST-YEAR HARVARD LAW STUDENTS DROPPED

Of the first-year Harvard Law School students, nearly half were dropped last year, reports H. P. Gravengaard, '20, who is visiting University friends. Mr. Gravengaard, who has this year been attending the Harvard Law School, of which Roscoe Pound, formerly dean of the University of Nebraska Law School, is dean, is going into business at Des Moines as Iowa manager for Worth & Company, an eastern financial house. He was Ivy Day orator for the class of '20 and has been writing briefs and debating in the Roscoe Pound Law Club, of which Frank Woods, of Lincoln, is president. Mr. Gravengaard was a member of the Harvard Glee Club.

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS TO PRESENT "THE BELLS"

Play Was Written in French and Has Been a Success Where Played.

The University Players will present "The Bells," the fifth of their plays this school year. Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at the Temple theater.

"The Bells" was written in French by Erekmann and Chatrain and was translated by Henry L. Williams, Jr. The play was first presented in 1869 in French, but it quickly came over to the English and the American stage where it has always been a success. Henry Irving, famous actor, scored his greatest success in interpreting the leading role of "The Bells," and it was largely through this play that he gained his reputation.

The story of "The Bells" is tragic, but it ends quite unexpectedly. It deals with the murder of a Polish Jew years before the action of the play. At the time of the murder bells were heard ringing. Throughout the play, bells ring which call to mind the murder, and this ringing of bells later plays an important part in pointing out the murder and winding up the play. Love and romance are mingled with the action.

MISS HELEN BENNETT WILL DISCUSS WOMEN'S VOCATION

Miss Helen Bennett, director of the Women's Vocation Bureau of Chicago, will be the honor guest at a luncheon to be given Tuesday, March 22, at 12 o'clock at Ellen Smith Hall.

Miss Bennett comes to Lincoln under the auspices of the W. S. G. A. and will hold meetings and conferences with all women of the University who wish vocational guidance. Her work consists largely in securing positions for college women. She is well acquainted with opportunities in all professions for women.

Miss Bennett will speak on "Vocations for Girls," and ample time will be given for girls to make their 1 o'clock classes.

Tickets may be obtained before Tuesday noon, at a cost of forty cents from any of the following: Lois Melton, Rhe Nelson, Mary Bost, Mary McCoy, Dorothy Whelpy and Miss Marjorie Selleck.

LINCOLN STORE MATRON TO SPEAK TO RESEARCH CLUB

Mrs. R. C. Outcalt, matron at Miller and Paine's, will speak before the Industrial Research Club at the regular meeting, for dinner, Thursday evening at the Grand hotel.

Mrs. Outcalt has been in Lincoln for five years. She is in charge of the cafeteria for women and her duties include those of a store mother or social secretary. Miller and Paine's is the only store in Lincoln that employs a store matron but practically all of the stores in the larger cities have one. Mrs. Outcalt will choose her own subject.

BASEBALL PRACTICE WILL BEGIN TODAY

Coach Schissler Will Take Squad to Coliseum for Some Indoor Work.

OUTLOOK IS BRIGHT

Most of Last Year's Players and Many of the Freshman Team Will Report.

Preliminary workouts for the Husker baseball team will begin this afternoon at the Coliseum. Coach Schissler has issued a call for all pitchers and catchers to report today for indoor practice.

The work of laying out a new diamond is advancing rapidly and Coach Schissler expects to have the entire squad working out by next week. Director Luehring is superintending the work on the new playing field which will be located north of the Teachers' college on the new campus.

The Cornhusker team suffered a severe loss last year by the graduation of John Pickett, who was considered one of the best University pitchers in the country. Pickett pitched the Husker crew to one of the greatest seasons ever known last year and his place will be a difficult one to fill. A wealth of material from last year's Fresh team will be given a tryout for the various positions.

Most of Old Squad Back.

The majority of last year's nine is still in school and are expected to report for work when the final call is sent out. Melvin Bekins, the stellar center on the Husker basket ball quiet, will be the leader for this year's team. Bekins held down the first base position in great style last season, and is expected to be at the initial sack this year.

The battery staff for this year's aggregation will see a number of last year's performers in action. Munger, star hurler for the Freshmen crew last season, will be one of the most promising contenders for Varsity honors. Coach Schissler expects a large number of last year's men to report today for tryouts.

YOUNG EUROPEAN BISHOP TO SPEAK ON NEAR EAST

Bishop Verinovicich Nikolai, one of the youngest, but most distinguished, prelates of the Eastern Orthodox church will speak on "Near Eastern Questions" Friday, March 18, at 8:15, in the Social Science auditorium. He comes here under the auspices of the International Relations Club and everyone is invited to hear him.

Edward Marshall, famous American journalist, says of Bishop Nikolai, "He is the biggest man I met in Europe."

Bishop Nikolai is a distinguished orator.

FACULTY MEMBERS JUDGE OMAHA SCHOOL'S DEBATE
