THINKING PROBABLY MOST UNPOPULAR INDOOR SPORT

Miss Wygal, the traveling secretary for the state universities, was the speaker at Vespers, Tuesday. She said that thinking was probably one of the most unpopular indoor sports, but nevertheless she was going to think out loud with her audience. Her theme was the effort people make to find satisfaction in life. She used, as illustrations, five popular novels of the year. In each, the hero was looking for the good things in life.

Service, she brought out, was the true satisfaction that people get from living. Miss Wygal suggested that service is empty and ineffectual unless it comes as the result of intense enthusiasm for God. Miss Jane Adams, the great settlement worker and founder of Hull House heartily endorsed this idea. She said that if she had her life to live over again, she would base her work entirely on religion. She said that all social service must be based upon this or it is not true social service.

For the sake of service, Edith Cavell stood up and was shot, while a Red Cross nurse in devastated Europe. She was a student of Jesus and her books were marked with worshipful passages.

SIGMA TAU PLEDGES ELEVEN ENGINEERS

Chapter Was Founded at Nebraska in 1904 By a Few Civil Engineer Students.

Sigma Tau, national honorary engineering fraternity, announces eleven pledges to the Nebraska chapter. They are:

John Wilburn, H. O. Peterson, T. T. Foeley, Lloyd Dillon, Waldo Mengel, Ferd Ring, Waldo Poir, Walter Gass, G. A. Weir, F. H. Doreauf, D. F. McCauley.

Sigma Tau was founded at the University of Nebraska February 22, 1904. Since then twelve other chapters have been organized in leading colleges and universities. A few civil engineering students at Nebraska started the organization in 1903. They interested the instructors of the various engineering departments in the organization of an engineering fraternity, and through them the students became interested. The organization was finally effected with fourteen charter members.

Only juniors and seniors in the engineering college are eligible to membership. Members are elected on the basis of scholarship, practicability and sociability. Scholarship and practicability are considered most important. The engineering instructors with the active members of Sigma Tau judge the scholarship and practicability of students under consideration for membership. The active members alone are judges of sociability.

FIRST ROUND OF BOWLING CONTEST IS CLOSE RACE

Every Team Had to Play the Three Games to Determine Winner—Diers Rolls 222 Points.

The second half of the first round in the Inter-fraternity bowling tournament was brought to a close last night. Every team had to play the required games to settle the question of winner.

The Silver Lynx quintet trounced the Bushnell Guild team two out of three and the Sig Eps took the measure of the Farm House men in the same manner.

The Alpha Sigs handed the Delta Chis the short end of the argument by taking two out of the three contests and the Sig Alphas defeated the Acacia crew by the same route.

Diers is High Man.

Last night's games were hotly contested and the result was in doubt in most cases until the final ball was rolled. Diers for the Alpha Sigs was high man of the evening with a score of 222 for his final game.

The second round of the tournament will be rolled this evening. The Xi Psi Phis will meet the A. T. O. men and the Delta Sigs will take on the Kappa Deltas.

TO CAMPAIGN FOR STEELE HOLCOMBE

Nebraska in Egypt Week Here to Raise Funds to Support Work of Graduate!

SPONSORED BY Y. M. C. A.

Former Student is Working Among Students in Cairo and Now in Alexandria.

Nebraska in Egypt week will hold sway on the campus next week beginning Tuesday, under the auspices of the University Y. M. C. A. An effort in help in the work of Steele Holcombe, Nebraska graduate in Egypt, will be undertaken as in the past years.

A special speaker from out of town has been secured to address the students, both workers and those indirectly interested in the work. Plans are being made to hold noon day lunches at the Grand hotel to bring out the character of the work which Mr. Holcombe has been engaged in for the past year. Nebraska in Egypt week, on the local campus is becoming as much of a tradition for Nebraska University as some of the well known foreign outreach weeks in eastern colleges. Princeton, as well as many of the colleges in the middle west are actively engaged in supporting their graduates who have gone out to do missionary work of some sort in other lands.

Has Chart of Workers.

Dr. Thomas, Congregational University pastor, has a list of Nebraska graduates who are at present engaged in this work and from this charts have been made showing the stations of these former students. These have been placed at different points around the campus in an attempt to acquaint everyone with the work which is being accomplished.

The field in Egypt includes a large student population. In Cairo alone there are 15,000 students. The work of Steele Holcombe has been for some time in Cairo but has recently been transferred to Alexandria and the work has been broadened. The Y. M. C. A. work was first made important in this country during the war when special efforts were made to assist the soldiers and give them recreation.

FACULTY PROMINENT AT PHILOSOPHICAL MEETING

Doctors Hinman, Alexander and Hyde All Take Active Part in the Program.

Dr. E. L. Hinman of the department of philosophy has returned from Chicago with an interesting account of the meeting of the western division of the American Philosophical association, in which three members of the University faculty took part. Dr. Hinman, president of the division for the year, read the presidential address on "Modern Idealism in the Logos Teaching."

Dr. Hinman's paper bore on the question whether recent thinking in idealism is really kindred, as some allege, with pantheism or is more consistent with western theism. He analyzed particularly the tendency of the thinking of Dr. Bosanquet, a British philosopher, and also that of a recent book by Professor Radhakrishnan, Hindoo scholar at the University of Mysore. Professor Hinman argued that the pantheistic interpretation of nature is not the more consistent one.

Dr. Alexander read a paper before the society on the philosophy of human nature, and Dr. Winifrid Hyde took part in the discussion on behaviorism.
