

THE DAILY NEBRASKAN

VOL. XX. NO. 128.

LINCOLN, NEBRASKA, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 13, 1921.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

WILL SPEAK ON THE OPEN SHOP

A. C. Scott of Omaha, President of Manufacturers Association to Give Address.

ALL MAY ATTEND

Comes Under the Auspices of the Industrial Research Club.

A. C. Scott of Omaha, president of the Omaha Manufacturers association, treasurer of the Nebraska Manufacturers association, and president of the Scott-Omaha Tent & Awning company, the Lincoln Tent & Awning company, and of similar corporations in various parts of the United States, will address the Industrial Research club Thursday evening in the Red room of the city Y. M. C. A.

The meeting will be open to all. A fifty cent dinner will be served at 6 p. m. Those wishing to attend are urged to make reservations at the University Y. M. C. A. before 5 p. m. Wednesday.

Mr. Scott's address Thursday will be the opening one in a series of three big open meetings sponsored by the Industrial Research club within the next two weeks.

The Open Shop.

Mr. Scott's talk will deal largely with the open shop question, the "storm center" of American industry today. Omaha is now in the midst of a bitter open shop war and Mr. Scott's remarks will not be based merely on theory, and coming from one of the leading business men in the middle west will carry unusual weight.

Mr. Scott's rise to success was unusually rapid and within the last fifteen years. He is a man about forty years old, has not had a college education and has risen from the ranks.

On Thursday night, April 21, at the Grand hotel, E. S. Cowdrick, publicity manager for the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, will tell the club about the Rockefeller plan of industrial representation and how it is working in his company.

Industrial Representation.

Some years ago, after the bitterly contested mine strike in Colorado, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., worked out the plan of allowing employees a certain amount of control of the policy of the company. This plan has since been in operation in the steel mills and mines of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company.

The week following Mr. Cowdrick's talk, a leading labor leader of the state will present organized labor's side of the open shop controversy. By hearing this talk and also that of Mr. Scott an an-around view of the question will have been gained.

Next summer, students from the University and other Nebraska colleges will form into a group in Omaha for more intensive study of the industrial situation. Plans for the group have been completed and several men have already secured places in different industries. Similar groups, under the general supervision of the Collegiate Industrial Research Movement will be established in some twenty other industrial centers of the country.

Dean O. J. Ferguson of the Engineering college and Dean J. E. L. Resignol of the College of Business Administration are members of the advisory committee for the Omaha group.

A. C. SCOTT.

Mr. Scott will deliver an address before an open meeting of the Industrial Research club Thursday 6 p. m. at the Red room of the City Y. M. C. A. He is one of the leading business men of the state and will speak of the "Open Shop" controversy.

PROFESSOR DANN SPEAKS ON ARCHITECTURAL DEVELOPMENT

Nebraska Instructor Discusses Growth of Arts Through All Stages.

Prof. W. F. Dann, "the wit of the faculty," as he was introduced by Prof. R. E. Cochran, addressed the freshman lecture class Tuesday on "The Development of Architecture."

He said that his time was too short to take architecture through all of its growth but he named the ancient Greek and the church buildin, or medieval age, as the two most interesting ages in architecture. He selected the latter age upon which to talk.

This church building age, said Professor Dann, is filled by Gothic architecture, although the Goths had very little to do with the work. It was the French, English and Italians who were the chief builders of the magnificent church which were reared in the eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth centuries. After this time the style became more modern and less picturesque. The outstanding characteristics of these Gothic church were their vertical lines, their elaborate decorations and their immense size.

Often over a century was taken to build one of these structures, so minute and elaborate was the work. Labor was cheap at that time and it was considered quite a privilege to work on these masterpieces. A great deal of the work was a labor of love because it was not visible to the observer, but so made because the artist loved perfection.

The lecture was accompanied by slides of some of the most famous of these Gothic buildings. Some were St. Peter's cathedral, St. Paul's cathedral in Rome, Notre Dame in Paris and the church of Lincoln in England. Closeup views of some of these churches were given, showing the elaborate work of the decorations.

Campus Club.

Mrs. Katherine Willard Eddy will talk to the women of the Campus Club at their regular Thursday noon meeting, April 14, in the club rooms at the Temple.

AGS TO BANQUET EDITORS THURSDAY AT FARM

On Thursday at 12 o'clock, April 14, the animal husbandry department of the College of Agriculture will hold a banquet for the agricultural editors and the heads of the departments of the College of Agriculture, at the Cafeteria Annex.

A tour of inspection will be made of the various departments during the afternoon. In the animal husbandry department the various lots of experimental steers, sheep and hogs will be inspected, and the results explained by Prof. H. J. Gramlich and his staff. The new meat cutting laboratories will be visited, and a demonstration of the work shown of the work which is given to the Agricultural College students.

A visit will be made to Dr. Lemis Van Es' animal pathology laboratories where some of the results of the pathologic diseases studied will be explained.

The Agronomy Farm, which is located east of the Experimental Farm, will be visited, and the plant inspected where part of the department's experimental steers have been fed during the past winter, as well as some of the Agronomy Experimental plots.

NEBRASKA IN EGYPT MEETING TONIGHT

Students to Gather in Armory to Discuss eeds in Foreign Land.

Grace Coppock Campaign Will Also Be Topic of Several Speakers this Evening.

The mass meeting tonight at the Armory in the interests of the Nebraska in Egypt and the Nebraska in China weeks is open to all University students. An array of speakers of more than the ordinary ability has been secured to fill the time between 7 and 8 o'clock. This meeting is to be the one large program of the two simultaneous campaigns.

Miss Margaret Perry, Lincoln vocalist, will sing a number of songs and may also give a short talk. Representing the Steele Holcombe field will be Mr. A. L. Miller, of Lahore, India, who arrived in Lincoln yesterday to speak especially for Nebraska in Egypt week. Something of the work of Grace Coppock in China will be told by Genevieve Lowry, who has recently returned from the scene of Miss Coppock's activities. The Nebraska in China drive will also be touched upon by Mrs. Katherine Willard Eddy of New York City. Prof. R. J. Poole of the botany department will act as chairman of the mass meeting.

"What Nebraska is Doing Abroad" is the general topic for the meeting this evening. The short speeches have been arranged so that the students may learn as much as possible about the direct results of the work in which two of Nebraska's own graduates, Miss Coppock and Mr. Holcombe, are engaged. The members of the committee point out that while the money side of the campaign is important and almost essential, that a special effort is being made this year to bring to the students a realization of their responsibility in world problems. The importance of this phase is strengthened by the new relations which the United States has taken with countries across the oceans.

Each campaign has set a goal of $1700 to be raised; the donations from the men to go to the furtherance of the work of Steele Holcombe in Alexandria, Egypt, and the contributions from the girls to help in the work which Miss Coppock is carrying on at her station in China. The situation in Egypt at the present time is critical on account of the state of mind of the people about English rule. In spite of the hostility of some, the British government pays for part of the Y. M. C. A. work which is being (Continued on page two.)

BASEBALL SQUAD HITS HARD GRIND

Coach Schissler Puts Nine Through Practice Session Preparatory to First Game.

COTNER GAME SATURDAY

Bulldogs to Come for Initial Contest of Season for Cornhuskers.

Coach Schissler gave the Husker baseball squad a long workout at the State Farm campus last night. The squad has been cut down to sixteen or seventeen of the most promising candidates.

The remainder of the squad worked out with Coach Pickett's Freshmen crew at the Cushman Park diamond. Coach Pickett has a large squad out for the first year team and expects to have a crew assembled soon that will furnish some real opposition for the Varsity.

The Huskers will get into action for the 1921 season Saturday when they meet the Cotner College aggregation at the State Farm diamond. Coach Schissler has not as yet had much of a chance to go ahead with the work of developing a fast team on account of the extreme coldness of the weather. The men have been used to batting practice inside and are just beginning to get used to outside work.

The pitching staff is rapidly rounding into shape with Munger, Schoepell, Atkinson and Peterson doing most of the work. Munger was the star of the freshman pitching staff last year and is getting into shape with the warm weather. Schoepell, Atkinson and Peterson are all doing good work on the mound.

Anderson and Thomsen have been doing practically all of the receiving and Coach Schissler is assured of two first string catchers in these two men. Captain Bekins is at the initiative with Piser holding down the key-stone position. "Skipper" Bailey and Carr make up the remainder of the infield that Coach Schissler has been using the most.

The outfield is composed of Wythers, McCrory, Crandall and a number of other promising candidates. Coach Schissler expects to take about fourteen men with him on the first trip which will include games with Kansas Aggies and K. U.

MASQUE DANCE FOR SENIOR LAW CLASS

A masque dance for senior Laws will be held soon at the Lincoln hotel, according to an announcement made by Dwight Elliott, senior Law president, Monday. The following men have been appointed to stage the event: Charles Reed, chairman; Leonard Kline, Myron Power, James Giffen, Alfred Cerney.

SOPHOMORE HOP TICKETS ON SALE

Tickets for the Sophomore hop, which will be held in the Lincoln hotel, Saturday, April 23, are now on sale at $1.25. They may be obtained from any member of the committee which follows: Carroll A. Frost, chairman; Thomas Roope, Daisy Graf, Flavia Waters, Mercedes Abbott.

YOUNG TO ADDRESS RURAL GROUP TONIGHT

H. J. Young, assistant state agricultural county agent leader, will address Prof. J. O. Rankin's class in rural leadership at 7:30 Wednesday evening, April 13, in Rural Economics Hall, University Farm.

Mr. Young has been a prominent figure in Nebraska extension work for the past ten years. He will talk upon agricultural extension service in relation to the rural community development. All University students interested in social leadership are invited to attend this lecture.

FOGG LECTURES BEFORE LEGION

Prof. M. M. Fogg lectured Monday evening before the Lincoln Post of the American Legion on "Over Nebraska's Battlefields in France," which subject he illustrated by views which he took and by rare front-line action views secured by the United States Signal Corps. Among the special guests of the Post was Mrs. D. M. Butler, sister of General Pershing.
