STUDENTS AND FACULTY TO SUMMER ON COAST

University Members Planning to Do Research in Marine Biology at Puget Sound.

A group of University students and members of the faculty will spend the summer at the biological station on Friday Harbor, Washington, on Puget Sound, studying marine biology and doing research work. The group will charter a special car from St. Paul to Vancouver via the Soo Line and the Canadian Pacific. They will spend four days in the Canadian Rockies.

The biological station is under the direction of the University of Washington and is located on San Juan Island, one of the largest islands of Puget Sound. Courses in zoology and botany will be given for those wishing to continue their class work, while the remainder will devote their time to research work.

The party will be composed of Misses Carrie A. Barbour, Helen Park, Marie Park, Alice M. Anderson, Doris Hayes, Katherine Wolf, Margaret Rosenstihl, Melvina Stille; Gayle Pickwell, Carl Feelhaber, Everett Wyman and Dr. and Mrs. Edwin B. Powers. They will leave St. Paul June 10, and will reach Vancouver June 17.

If others in the University are planning to study at the biological station or to take a trip to the northwest coast, and wish to join the party, arrangements can be made through Dr. Edwin B. Powers, room 125, Bessey hall.

SIGMA XI CHAPTER HAS HISTORY OF INTEREST

Nebraska Group Has Turned Out Many Prominent Men—Members Continue in Work.

A few interesting facts regarding the Nebraska chapter of Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific fraternity, have just been compiled by Dr. R. H. Wolcott, head of the department of zoology.

The Nebraska chapter was founded June 5, 1897. The officers elected at the last meeting with the twenty-fifth class from which elections have been made.

The two men, who were chiefly instrumental in the founding of this chapter, were Professors Card and Candy, the latter still being associated with the University.

When the chapter was first formed, thirteen faculty members were initiated, and later in that month and the following fall, ten more faculty members and eight seniors of the class of '97 were enrolled for membership.

In the years that have elapsed since, there has been a total of 488 members elected, and out of these 488, two have been non-resident members, from faculties of neighboring institutions, where there is no chapter, twenty-nine have been alumni, sixty-three have been from the faculty, one hundred sixty-one from graduate students and two hundred thirty-three from graduating classes. This last item, means that an average of between eight and nine seniors a year were elected to this honor.

Investigation discloses that four-fifths of the seniors who have attained membership in Sigma Xi are now engaged in scientific pursuits and a very large percentage of them are now members of university and college faculties all over the country. Some of the institutions in which Nebraska graduates are now represented are Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Wyoming, Purdue, Cornell, Maine, Arizona, Chicago, Iowa, Ohio, Washington, Oregon, Yale, Kansas, Utah, Oberlin, Cincinnati, Wisconsin, and many others. At present there are thirty-three occupying positions in the University of Nebraska.

The most distinguished class of all, so far as the number of members on this faculty is concerned, was the class of '07. In the class of '07 there were sixteen seniors elected to membership and out of this number, five are now in the faculty and another was here until recently. The five are Professors Upson, Pool, Swenk, Bengston and Miss Webster. Professor H. S. Smith is the former professor.

Under history and biography are: "Germany and Europe," Allen; "Contemporary French Politics," Buell; "Monroe Doctrine and the Recent War," Hall; "Life of Abraham Lincoln," Tarbel.

Among the many books of the literature class are: "Modern American Plays," Baker; "Swinburne," Drinkwater; "Letters 1920," James; "Enslaved," Masfield; "Dawn-builder," Nelhart; "Newswriting," Sinclair; "Age of Innocence," Wharton.

Under the group which covers science, technology and agriculture are: "American Rural Highways," Accum; "Handbook of Building Construction," Hool; "Stories of Luther Burbank and His Plant School," Slusser; "Treatise on Arches," Howe.

PANAMA CANAL EMERGENCY DAMS

GATUN LAKE, eighty-five feet above sea level, is the reservoir holding the water to feed the Gatun Locks (which lead to the Atlantic) and the Miraflores and Pedro Miguel locks on the Pacific end of the Canal.

Every ship going through the canal in either direction uses the water from Gatun Lake to lift it from the one ocean and lower it into the other. Should some accident destroy a lock, the weight of water released might force down the others and cause tremendous damage and, by lowering the level of the lake, make the canal inoperative until rain had refilled the lake.

Therefore these big emergency dams were constructed. Normally they are not used. In emergencies they would be swung over the locks, the gates would drop into position and effectively dam the opening.

Otis engineers designed, constructed and installed the machinery for operating six of these gigantic dams. It is a feat typical of the world-wide scope of Otis activities in engineering and the vertical transportation of men and materials.

Most of the famous buildings of the world are equipped with Otis Elevators.
