

Committee of 200 Plans Campaign Coming Year

The committee of 200 represents the unified work upon the campus of the combined religious forces. This committee was first brought into being in the spring of 1920, when the employed Christian workers, representing the "Y's" and the four student denominations then having student pastors laid out a tentative program, set up the machinery, and placed it before the students. The committee of 200 was thus formally launched as a promotion force for the work which the religious organizations were trying to do.

Under this organization the program of last year was carried out, including a financial campaign, bible study campaign, missionary campaign, life service campaign, and a social recreation campaign. Several banquets in connection with these campaigns were held. The Bible Study campaign was held at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, and was attended by 792. The life work campaign was held in the basement of St. Paul's church with an attendance of 525. These were the largest banquets ever held in connection with any university activity, and caused considerable comment because of this fact.

The program of last year was considered successful, but the committee has now been reorganized, so that it is an executive as well as promotion force. There are five sub-committees: Life work guidance, church affiliations, and social recreations committee. Each of these committees is composed of two students, two representatives of their employed religious workers and one faculty member. These sub-committees organize and perfect plans for work which are submitted to the executive council. The plans are then given to the entire committee of 200, which carries them out if they are approved.

A meeting of the committee of 200 was held Tuesday evening of last week, and the program for the year was briefly outlined. In its second year of existence, the committee hopes to found several university traditions. Students of all religious beliefs are invited to join the committee of 200, even though they are not represented in the university by a student pastor. The program for the coming year follows:
