

Three Cornhusker Veterans

LEO SCHERER

JOHN PUCELIK

HAROLD HARTLEY

Here is a trio of Cornhusker gridsters who are practically sure of varsity berths and will spell defeat to the hopes of rival teams. Hartley is a speedy, clever back. Pucelik is a vicious tackle and a tower of strength in the line. Scherer is one of the fastest ends in the country and a good running mate for Captain Swanson. These are three of the men around whom Coach Dawson is building his 1921 eleven.

ORPHEUM—Ona Munson and her manly revue is the best act we have seen in a long time. Miss Munson dances cleverly and the chorus sings well. Mr. Holbrook's "On The Road To Mandalay" was splendid. This is a real act.
 Butler and Parker—well we suggest a blue pencil for two of the attempted jokes. The skit is entitled, "Don't Make Me Laugh." The admonition is hardly necessary.
 "La Petite Cabaret," is the most extraordinary act by mankins and exceptionally clever.
 Kitner and Reaney present a good black face act and went over big. The boys have some new ones and can sing. Gordon and Amo Rica give the bill an excellent closing act—wait for it. This is the best Orpheum bill in a good many weeks.

DRILL SERGEANTS
WORRY FRESHMEN
WITH BIG STICKS
 It will be noticed that all of the Sergeants of the regular army while drilling the freshmen and sophomores out on the parade ground have been carrying square pieces of timber about two and a half feet long. Many of the innocent yearlings have been shivering in their galoshes on the supposition that these aforesaid wands were provided for the purposes of correction. In many cases this impression has probably helped to keep the weary ones awake and the flagging interest keyed up to concert pitch.
 And yet it is surprisinz how near some of the unsophisticated ones get to the truth without really knowing it. These swagger sticks of undressed timber are furnished for the purposes of correction, although not used in the same manner as was in vogue in the dear old district schol. The terrifying rods are used for the purposes of imparting to the uninitiated some idea of the common military intervals and distances, such as the length of a pace, distance between men in ranks, etc. So every puzzled one may now take heart again and look around for a new mystery to put the creases in their alabaster brow. C'est la guerre.

SHUCKS
 I lik to fuss around
 Don't you?
 Skip a class or two,
 And let the old bell pound—
 I like to hang around the school
 Talk to girls,
 With pretty curls
 That make me aet a fool.
 I like to kid the little ones,
 Who look up,
 Think I'm the stuff,
 When I crack my funny puns.
 I like to help them out, write
 Their themes,—
 O Sweet day dreams,
 When they smile a teeny mite.—
 I like to fuss, and—well
 Bet it's true but
 Don't you?
 Shucks, there goes the bell!

On Tuesday of last week, the Randolph Community Club held an enthusiastic meeting which was largely attended. The question of dragging the roads was discussed and due to the insufficient funds to continue this work, the community club voted to buy warrants of the Truck Company who has been doing this work, in an amount necessary to do the needed dragging. F. O. Robinson of Hartington was an invited guest and spoke to the club members on the local tax situation. Music was furnished by the Junior band and the La Mar orchestra.
