They have come and gone and the impression that they left with us is an excellent one. We will always extend the glad hand to a team like Oklahoma's and welcome them to our. state.

The support which the rooters gave their men was admirable also. Their cheering was full of the pop that characterizes a live school with a student that is loyal to the core Their enthusiasm did not weaken when the odds against them loomed greater and greater and the way in which they took their defeat places them high in our estimation for all time. Surely they were fair and square and their L streets. conduct beyond reproach.

Taking things for granted kills ini- Ellen Smill ali tiative and has a tendency to promote the habit of sitting down to wait for building things to happen without raising a finger to alter the course of events. A student that gets a good grade in his work takes it for granted that he will pass, and if he keeps on getting good grades he takes it for granted that he will graduate after four years.

That is all true enough bot it is a poor attitude to assume. It is too much like being resigned to accept life as it comes.
