THE BIG BONFIRE.

Friday night Nebraska students will gather about a huge bonfire symbolical of Nebraska's hopes for a decisive victory over the Kansas Saturday. Every loyal Nebraskan should be there so that the torchlight parade may be the success it has been in years past.

Nebraska has a great team and the game ought to be a good one for the Kansas team has been working hard to get in shape to give the mighty Husker eleven a battle.

Every Nebraskan should be out Friday night to help welcome the Kansas team which will be introduced by their captain from the balcony of the Lincoln hotel.

THE CONVOCATION.

The disarmament convocation yesterday morning was a most inspiring one. The preliminary meetings and work leading up to this was hard work and took a great deal of time to organize in an effective way. The parade itself, was a good piece of organization. The entire affair was accomplished in a way that should make us proud of those behind it.

Too much credit for the work which had to be done in connection with it cannot be given the committee which was composed of Jessie Watson, Adelbert Dettman, Asa Hepperly, Ruth Kadel, Kenneth McCandless, Glenn Munger, Dorothy Pierce, Ward Randol, Mary Sheldon, Roy Wythers and Dean Buck.

ARMISTICE DAY.

Three years ago tomorrow the great world war ended. In France two million fighting men gave a prayer of thanks because of the ending of the terrible slaughter. In America the fathers, the mothers, the sisters, the brothers, and the sweethearts, of these two million were equally thankful.

November 11th is a day that is and will be one of the greatest in our history. It is a day on which we rejoice because of the end of that terrible slaughter and rejoice because the thing fought for was brought nearer to us by the sacrifice—world peace.

Tomorrow, in our small way, we will do our bit to show our thankfulness, toward those that fought. Tomorrow, the University is to have a place in the parade that will march through the streets of Lincoln. Every man in the University that was in the service of the United States during the period of the war is asked to be in that parade. These men should consider it their patriotic duty to march Friday.

COLLEGE PAPER ON FILE AT Y. M. C. READING ROOMS

Daily papers from all the leading colleges and Universities are now on file in the Y. M. C. A. rooms at the Temple building. These papers are secured from the Daily Nebraskan office once each week. It is now possible for any student to read these newspapers, because they are conveniently placed.

This is an unusual opportunity for students to get in touch with life in other colleges and Universities, and also to compare Nebraska's daily paper with those of other schools. Magazines and some of the leading papers published are also to be had at the Y. M. rooms.

DEAN HEPPNER LANS TEA FOR VISITING K. U. CO-EDS

Dean Amanda Heppner will give a tea for the Kansas girls, all University of Nebraska girls, and women faculty members at Ellen Smith hall after the football game on Saturday, Nov. 12.

No set program has been arranged, but the orchestra from the dormitory at 1220 R street will liven the party with its music.

The refreshments will be something hot, both tea and coffee, in order to warm the guests up after sitting so long in the uncovered grandstand at the game. The girls of the W. A. A. are to assist in serving, and also in receiving the guests. Marjorie Barstow is chairman of a committee for arranging the details.

Many of the sororities, here, are expecting guests from Kansas, and they should bring them to the tea to give them a chance to meet the other girls of the University of Nebraska, and to see Ellen Smith hall. Kansas does trips the 'light fantastic' with a gleam in his eye and wicked look on his brow. "There's something inside" says he.

NOVEMBER AWGWAN CRAVES ATTENTION

November, the Turkey day and Homecoming month, has caused a multitude of birds and sages to contribute to Old Man Awgwan's upkeep. He's a fat and polly old man plumb full of fun and feeling like a colt turned loose in the chill autumn air. "There's a kick in me" says he.

"I've been here a long time" says the old man, "the students walk past me and ask where I am. I never saw such a blind lot. I'd yell for 'em to come get me but the Profs. would claim that I was disturbing their classes and I don't want to get kicked out of school. If the Profs. only knew my contents I am afraid I would get the grand 'go-by.' But there's no danger. Even the students forget me until I am taken away and golly how they howl for me then."

The opening issue of the college year of the Nebraska funny magazine, was well liked on the campus and took very well in college comic circles. A number of the eastern magazines copied and quoted Awgwie with reckless abandon. He was too good to miss and they knew it.

The last number is even better. It's a scream, a gimlet that goes clear thru, filled with funny, comical, ludicrous, pathetic, prophetic, philosophical, idiotic, chaotic, impudent, ludicrous, volsteady, dope for student consumption. "Awgwie" deserves to have plenty of student consumption, he promises to lighten their loads and lessen their sorrows. Get him out of Station A and drag him to your domicile. He's there and over, his month.

Not have a woman's building, nor dormitories.

The hours for the tea are from about 4:30, or whenever the game is over, to 6:00, which will give everyone time to go home and dress for dinners and other parties of the evening.

VESPER QUOIR ORGANIZE AND OFFICERS ELECTED

A Vesper choir was organized Wednesday, November 9, at Ellen Smith hall. It has a membership list of twenty-five. Under the leadership of Amy Martin, the choir has already made a name for itself.

Following are the new officers and the committee chairmen: President, Elizabeth Montgomery; secretary and treasurer, Kathleen Raugh; chairman of social committee, Lillian Pritchard; chairman of membership committee, Charlotte Coolidge; chairman of music committee, Mide Vesta Sommers.

Information regarding tryouts can be obtained from Miss Appleby at the Y. W. C. A. office in Ellen Smith hall.

SWEZEY LECTURES TO FROSH ON ASTRONOMY

Scientist Tells About Operation Of Enormous Telescopes in Lecture To Freshmen.

Some remarkable facts about astronomy were revealed to the freshmen by Prof. G. D. Swezey, in freshmen lecture Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning. This was Professor Swezey's second lecture to the freshmen. His topic was "Some of the Newer Things in Astronomy." His talk was illustrated with lantern slides.

Professor Swezey first showed some pictures of a few of the great telescopes of the world. The two biggest observatories are the Yerkes Observatory at Williams Bay, Wis., and the Lick Observatory on t. Hamilton in California. The largest lens and mirrors however, are in the telescope at Mt. Wilson Observatory, near Pasadena, Cal. The lens of the Mt. Wilson telescope are one hundred inches in diameter. The telescope weighs ninety-five tons. By being balanced in mercury, however, it can be easily focused in spite of its weight. Both the Lick and Mount Wilson observatories are
