ARTS AND SCIENCE STUDENTS BANQUET
 debt to Cambridge than to Oxford, as the former was the school of many great republicans.
 He related many interesting anecdotes concerning college life and also regarding well-known English statesmen and celebrities, including Dr. A. V. Dicey and Lord Bryce. He told some very choice stories about the famous Oxford theologian, Doctor Spooner.
 One of the interesting features at Oxford, according to Mr. Hirst, is the Oxford Union society, composed of over half the students in the university. This is an organization which fosters the art of debate and public speaking and has been presided over by many now famous Englishmen, including Mr. Hirst himself.
Plan Another Dinner.
 It is planned to hold another dinner for the arts college men in the near future, probably early next semester. The success of the initial attempt indicates that they will prove very popular and profitable affairs.
 The committee in charge consisted of Dean P. M. Buck, Ward M. Randol, Mike Miles, and Orvin B. Gaston. A larger committee to plan for future gatherings will be announced soon by Dean Buck.

UNIVERSITY SHOWS FILMS OF THE NATIONAL GUARDS
 The conservation and survey division of the university has just recently finished two films for the state national guards. One of these films was taken at the state meeting of the American legion at Fremont and the other shows maneuvers at Fort Dodge. These films are to be shown at all the camps throughout the state and also to be used for educational purposes of the guard. The university furnished the material for the production and the expense of the negative and positive film stock was paid by the guards.
 Prof. Sjogren, who has been convalescing after an operation, is reported to be improving in health again.
 Prof. Van Es of the animal pathology department met his classes again Wednesday after an absence of three weeks, due to illness. Dr. Skidmore conducted Dr. Van Es' classes during his confinement.
