LAW STUDENTS TO START CLUBS SOON

Various Groups Being Organized To Promote Interest In Professional Work.

Last year several law clubs were organized for the purpose of advancing oral argument and discussion of law points. So far this year these organizations have been dormant. Immediately after the mid-semester examinations, however, the Rufus Choate club is to begin work. Sheldon Toft has been elected justice, and will lead the members in the arguments of next semester.

The present plan is to conduct practice trials. A certain set of facts will be stipulated and the contest will be waged on the legal points involved. A meeting will be held every two weeks and a different set of embryo attorneys will present a case at each session.

Organization of the club was entirely voluntary by students seeking to further their education along professional lines.

Professor George N. Foster has been chosen as sponsor and will act in an advisory capacity.

SALES CAMPAIGN COMMITTEES OUT

Plans for Obtaining 1922 Year Book Announced by Publication Staff.

The sales campaign of the 1922 Cornhusker will be held in the chapel entrance of the armory from January 16 to 21.

This year a much more costly book is to be published and consequently the sales of the book will have to be greater than ever before.

The beauty section alone will cost over $400 to produce. This section will more than take the place of the prizes for selling as offered in former years.

The price of the 1922 Cornhusker will be $4.50, a deduction from the price of last year's book. $2.00 will be collected upon ordering the book and the balance when the book is delivered.

This year the students chosen to sell the book have been selected because of their proven ability to sell and because of their previous manifestations of the true Cornhusker spirit.

The following is the list of students chosen and the respective days on which they are asked to be present to sell the Cornhusker. The entire committee is asked to be present at 3:00 p. m. today in the Cornhusker office, Law 106.

WEBSTER'S SPEECH IS PRINTED FOR LAWYERS

John L. Webster, prominent Omaha attorney, was the first general lecture speaker in the college of law after the Thanksgiving recess. His topic, when he addressed the student body November 26 was "The Law and the Ideal Lawyer."

The speech prepared by Mr. Webster created a very favorable impression upon his audience and he was requested to have it printed so that copies of it might be presented to university students who were not able to hear him.

There are still a limited number of copies of this book available, copies of which may be obtained free of charge by application to Dean Seavey.

NATIONAL CONTEST FOR LAW SCHOOLS

American Law Book Company Announces Big Prizes in Contest.

The American Law Book Co., of New York city has launched a contest for lawyers and law students in every state in the union. One hundred schools are participating, and Nebraska is not one of the least of these. The contest is really a course in looking up the law and will demand hard, close work. The prize to the winner however is well worth an effort.

Professor George N. Foster has been selected to manage the campaign in the university law college. He has handed out the first series of questions which are to be answered and returned to him for grading.

The course consists of eight series of questions of twenty queries each. Each question presents a problem of law to be looked up. Citation of page and volume in certain books where the problem is solved will serve as an answer.

Chasing evasive legal questions thru the many volumes is a task of no small specifications as any one of the seventy-five students, who have handed in their first set of answers, will affirm. Visions of the prize, and a knowledge of the fact that, even though they do not win it they will be greatly benefitted by their efforts keeps them grinding away.

There is one more reward, which will go to the student who turns in the best set of answers in the entire United States. This is a cash prize of $1,000.00.

LAW COLLEGE CAME TO NEBRASKA IN 1891

Institution Has Been One Of The Most Thriving Colleges On Campus.

The law college was instituted at Nebraska in 1891, and since that year has been one of the most thriving colleges on the campus. It was first quartered in "U" hall but is now located in its own building at the south west corner of the campus. The new building was built in 1902 and is one of the finest buildings on the campus.

At the present time there are about 225 students enrolled in the various classes in the college. The freshman class is the largest with nearly one hundred members. The Nebraska law college has had six deans since its establishment, they are Dean Smith, Dean Reese, Dean Pound, Dean Costigan, Dean Hastings, and Dean Seavey. The present roster of professors and instructors include, Charles A. Robbins, George N. Foster, Henry H. Foster, C. H. Robinson and W. A. Seavey.

Some of the most eminent lawyers of the state have at one time or another been connected with the Nebraska law school. Graduates of the Nebraska law school are practicing all over the United States.

SENIOR GIRLS ARE HOCKEY CHAMPIONS

Upper Class Co-eds Carry off the Honors in Inter-class Meet.

The seniors carried off the Hockey laurels yesterday noon by defeating the sophomores with the decisive score 7-3. The field and weather were favorable factors in making the final game the snappiest in the tournament.

The sophomores made the first goal in the first four minutes of play. Lois Shepherd and Francis Gable on the second year front line managed to keep the ball on senior soil this first period. The seniors came back cheerily led by Mary Stephens, center, and her front line assistants, and credited their class with two goals. Both the teams were able to score one each in the second quarter.

Second Half.

With the beginning of the second half the seniors had a little edge on the game. They played consistently and tirelessly. Their march to the goal was broken many times by the younger class, but by the end of the third quarter the score was 5-3, seniors. Lois Pederson and Marie Snavely were heavy hitters in the sophomore back field.

The last quarter spelled sure defeat for the sophomores. The seniors managed to shove the ball through for two more goals.
