ELECTION DAY.

University of Nebraska students are today exercising their franchise to choose responsible student offices and to elect class leaders. There are two distinct tickets in the field, the all-university and the greater Nebraska. We do not propose to here discuss the merits of either party. Both have their strong points.

We want to urge the voters today to consider two things: the man, and the things for which he stands. Stop and think; does he deserve the office to which he aspires. Has he done enough in student activities to warrant faith in his ability and honesty? Are the things for which he stands—his platform—possible to carry out? Or are they merely "lines" thrown out to catch the casual voter?
Think over these things today, Cornhuskers, and vote intelligently.

EDDY COMES.

This week brings Sherwood Eddy to Nebraska. We hope that every student will make a great effort to attend the most, if not all, of the lectures which he will give. For those who have not seriously thought about it, there is still time, but do not underestimate the privilege that is ours in being able to have with us a man who has a record of service and achievements like that which Sherwood Eddy possesses. Remember, opportunity knocks but once, and after he is gone and those who have failed to hear him begin to realize that they have missed they are sure to taste of the bitterness of a great mistake.

For three days everyone is asked to forget gaiety and trivial things, and to open their hearts wide and let some of the spirit of Christ, the very essence of something higher and finer, enter in. University students are men and women capable of understanding the need of human fellowship and good Christian thought. He will also discuss world problems which we know are of weight in every life and which we have a tendency to ignore because we do not understand them. Sherwood Eddy will present these social and industrial questions in a way that will leave a permanent impression and a new sense of responsibility upon all that hear him.

The various committees and the faculty are co-operating in order to make it possible for the students to attend the greatest number of meetings. Valid excuses for non-attendance will be hard to find. The following quotation may well be applied in this case: "If you have so much business to attend to that you have no time to pray, depend upon it you have more business on hand than God ever intended you should have."

Contemporary Opinion

WHY BORROW?

We are all intimately acquainted with that well-known nuisance—the borrower. We all have him spotted. We all know his habits.

Some of us are strong enough to refuse him flatly, but most of us sigh resignedly when he asks for the loan of this or that. Rather than be uncivil, we keep him in money, cigarettes, in tooth paste, or in soap. When he thanks us blithely and assures us of prompt payment, we smile acidly—and bid goodby forever to our longings.

And yet this type of man is compared with the borrower who takes without asking. It has become a common occurrence to most of us to plan on wearing a certain suit or dress only to find that some fair brother or sister has raided the closet before us, or perhaps to see our favorite neckties on some dear brother.

Perhaps we ourselves are guilty of these same thoughtless actions, and, if such is the case, let's start with ourselves and exterminate this useless pest—the borrower.—Daily Kansan.

Ag. Student Notice.

The committee in charge of the greater Omaha agricultural college student aid fund have announced that they will undertake to continue their assistance to needy agricultural students by making short time loans, upon the proper recommendations of college authorities so that upper classmen who need financial assistance to complete the year may be able to do so.

A number of such loans were made last year and practically all of these have been taken up promptly when due. The money paid in this way will be available for students this year.

Application should be made to the dean of the college of agriculture. These loans are available for both men and women, in the agricultural college.

Art Students.

All students in drawing who have a grade of 80 or above are eligible to the University Art club after they make a drawing of some sort and submit it to the judging committee. If the drawing is accepted the student will be notified as to the time of initiation.

The Exhaust.

THE BAG HOUNDS

I
Time was when
The handy little
Leatherette bag
From Boston,
Was confined
To feminine shoppers.

II

Now it items
On the expense list,
Sent home, as equipment.
Every thing from
Cigarettes to ties
With an occasional text,
Are hauled around
In this shiny annex.
It has wormed its way
Into the life of the campus man,
As have the
Heavy rimmed glasses,
And sheep-skin coats.

III

Now the very dapper
Know it is not the brief case,
The book satchel, or indestructible
But the Boston Bag,
"g done.

Engagements.

CHIT-CHAT

Dearest Jane:
What is a woman to do? You, my dear know that I came down here with ambitions like unto Solomon, that I dreamed of wading thru volumes of brain food with sword before me as Joan of Arc and that I should create a proud Papa by coming forth a super-woman. But now, I am almost convinced that the most guileless "flap" is the super-woman. Constantly the papers flaunt before our eyes articles by renowned statisticians that state that college women as objects of marriageable intentions are N. G. It is generally conceded that they get too wise, and that above all, we are not supposed to do. Also it seems that unless a woman has a string of broken hearts hanging to her belt, or a bangle bracelet composed of fraternity emblems, she has missed her calling. Well I am not here to suggest which course we of the dubious sex shall embark upon, but it sort of keeps one in hot water for it is comon opinion that women should marry and it does seem a pity to go against established tradition, and being a conservative nature, I naturally incline toward—. Well Dearest this is getting deep, and I have yet to take a look at the pictures in my History book.

Your till the Sarahs grows tad-poles.
Bangs.

In Years Gone By.

Eighteen Years Ago Today

Plans for remodeling of the Chemistry laboratory for which the state legislature appropriated $30,000 were by Professor Nicholson of the department of chemistry.

Seventeen Years Ago Today

Dr. R. Rose addressed a good-sized audience at Convocation on the subject of the present state of affairs in Russia. Dr. Rose said that social conditions were not much in advance of those which prevailed in Europe during the fourteenth century.

Ten Years Ago Today

The following notice appeared in the "Rag"—"Students, write your home folks soon and often. This is advise being given out from the Chancellor's office. Several letters from anxious parents have been received within the last few days, asking if certain students are in the hospital or what may be preventing them from writing home."

Six Years Ago Today

Nebraska took another step toward annexing the Missouri Valley championship by defeating Ames 30 to 13 in basket-ball. The game showed that Nebraska had the superiority from the start.

Two Years Ago Today

Members of the Viking society visited all sororities in a final effort to obtain one hundred per cent subscriptions to the "Rag."

VALKYRIE INITIATES THREE CO-EDS SUNDAY

Senior Girls' Society Admit Jessie atson, Ruth Kirschstein and Mary Patterson.

Valkyrie held an initiation Sunday, February 5, for Jessie Watson, Ruth Kirschstein and Anna Mary Patterson. Valkyrie is the senior-junior society for university girls and has been in existence here since 1917.

Jessie Watson is a member of Delta Zeta, Chi Delta Phi and is resident of Theta Sigma Phi. She was secretary of the Press club and served as associate editor and assistant editor of the Daily Nebraskan. She has also been active in Y. W. C. A. and W. S. G. A. work.

Anna Mary Patterson is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi and has been an active member of the Y. W. C. A. and W. S. G. A.

Ruth Kirschstein, Delta Delta Delta, was a member of freshman commission and is also active in the Y. W. C. A. and W. S. G. A. As a member of the glee club last year, participated in University week.
