WYER ADDRESSES ORIENTATION CLASS

Engineers Hear About Uses of University Library and Classification of Books

Mr. Wyer, the University Librarian, spoke before the Freshmen engineers last Monday afternoon at their Orientation lecture, on the uses of our libraries.

"The printed page has come into our lives so much lately that we could call this age the period of the printed page," said Mr. Wyer. There are 25,000 different periodicals, 15,000 common story books and about 5,000 scientific books published every year. Every business, however small, has a bookkeeping system.

The library of today plays a very important part. Years ago it was easy for a person to keep in touch with all the new publications, for all he had to do was to place an order with a publisher or a book agent for all the literature dealing with his particular work. But today this would be too large and costly a method as so many books and periodicals are written. A person can go to a public library and by the use of catalogues find what he wants in a very short time. One of the duties of a university library is to sort all new books into their respective classes for the use of students. The General Library; Engineering, Law, Agricultural, Teachers, and the Medical library at Omaha are all controlled by one administration which purchases and catalogues the books and then sends them to the various libraries.

In order to be able to use a library, some system for the arrangement of the books must be adopted. The Dewey Decimal system is used here. Many large factories and industrial plants have their own libraries for the use of their employees. These libraries gather all the latest pamphlets and books on whatever subject the factory is interested in. Firms have been known to spend much time and money in developing some idea that has already been developed, whereas if they had gone to a library in the first place and found out what had already been done in the world, they would have saved a great deal.

Faculty Notes.

Mr. F. A. Hayes, a member of the U. S. bureau of soils and conservation and survey division of the university, has just completed his soil survey reports on Antelope and Boone counties. Mr. Hayes is to be in one of the southern states during the next three months, after which he will return to Nebraska for the spring and summer work.

Mr. A. A. Reed, director of the university extension division, will be the university representative at the twenty-sixth annual meeting of the North Central association of college and secondary schools to be held at Hotel Sherman, Chicago, March 16, 17, 18. Mr. Reed is chairman of his commission on secondary schools, and will make a report before the association.

Mr. Worth McDonald who has been as geologist to the oil fields of Oklahoma and Texas, left Monday to take charge of his new position.

Dr. Sealock of the teachers college, will attend the superintendents' meeting to be held in Chicago next week.

ILLINOIS CARNIVAL COMES THIS WEEK

Nebraska Track Men to Participate in University Relay.

URBANA, Ill., Feb. 25.—Entries from twelve representative institutions promise to make the four-mile university relay at the Illinois carnival, March 4, a hot race from start to finish.

Purdue, Ohio, Notre Dame, Wisconsin, Michigan, Grinnell, Kansas university, Drake, Kansas Aggies, Chicago, Chicago, Nebraska, and Illinois have entered teams in the four-mile event.

The Illinois team is made up of the same veterans who took first honors last year—Captain Yates, Patterson, Wharton, and McGinnis. Individually the Illinois team averages below 4:35 to the man. Such a crew is going to be hard to beat.

Kansas Aggies, who took second in the four-mile last year, is back with three veterans, Henre, Kykendal, and Mathias, and should put in a strong bid for first honors this year.

With Finkle and Wal' back on the track, Wisconsin, who placed third last season, will be exceptionally strong on this event.

Ohio state has come very good miles in Wilkoff and Ferguson. The Missouri Valley district has furnished some formidable teams in the past few years, and Kansas university, Drake, and Nebraska should put up a hard fight in the four-mile course.

Harrison and Furnas, the latter an Olympic star and a cross-country runner of two seasons, seem to be the mainstays for Purdue. These men run the mile in 4:25.

With such a collection of athletes on one program, the spectators at the Illinois classic can be assured of an evening of thrills and excitement.

MISS RUSH TELLS OF EXHIBIT PAINTINGS

Explains Collection of Pictures From Many Countries in Monkey Lecture.

Miss Olive Rush gave a talk on the paintings now on exhibit in the art gallery, to a large group of Lincoln people, Monday evening. Miss Rush has studied under Twachtman, Mowbray and Howard Pyle, the latter probably the greatest illustrator America has produced. She has also studied under Richard Miller in Paris so that no matter how a picture has been painted, she is able to give up-to-date critique on the work.

She first gave the audience a general idea of how to examine the pictures. To this was added the statement that the average American shamelessly admits that he knows little about art but knows what he likes. Art to him is feminine and belongs to the boarding school. However people are getting away from this attitude toward art and are beginning to cultivate a more aesthetic taste. The artist and the architect are very closely related. A landscape painter takes what he wants—lines, colors from nature, and builds up a co-ordinate whole which he has in his mind. The architect does the same, using line, form and composition and arranging them with unity into the plan of a beautiful building.

The exhibition contains paintings from every corner in the United States from New Mexico, New England, California and Lincoln. This exhibition shows typical American art, and not one particular section of the United States. The exhibit contains paintings of famous American artists and should be examined by all those who have opportunity.

Tuesday evening members of the faculty and students of Wesleyan University visited the art gallery. Wednesday evening will be especially devoted to the Woman's Club, Thursday evening to the Matinee Musical and Friday evening to the G. A. R. Delta Omicron will give a tea Saturday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30 as a reception for the musical people of the city.
