CLEAN-UP WEEK

Cornhusker brethren and sisters: The title of this epistle is: "Mid-semester: gone but not forgotten—by some of us." The necessary evil has passed and with it some of our dearly beloved buddies, alas, have passed out with the week and the Dean's blessing. Some of our comrades are lingering in the valley of the shadow awaiting his imperial majesty's decision. The captains of the king's host have sent in their reports. These are being efficiently and fatefully sorted. Suspects will receive notice sometime this week. They will pass before the throne.

His royal highness speaks: "Alice, this looks very bad. You have frizzled your mess miserably. As a favor to your father and mother whose money you have been wasting, its is my will that you return home. You can be of more use to your mother in the kitchen than down here on the campus." (Exit Alice. Sobs and tears.) The victims pass. They tell their tales and hear their fate. Many follow Alice. Others are humbly grateful for royal mercy.

This thus the official spring house-cleaning is being done. Old Winter's rubbish is being swept from the campus. The dead stuff must go. Naturally the load will include some members of the student body. But, brethren and sisters, don't expect the authorities to clean up your own back yard. The mid-semester load is off your back. You are free. Pick up the loose ends. Get all those back papers in and get a headlock on that lab work. Clear the deck, Bo, and when the gong rings next Friday you can set sail for your one-week cruise into the springtime, clean, unshackled, light-hearted and gay.

Contemporary Opinion

THINK BIG

"Think in headlines," admonished a prominent educator of Ohio State, in a talk to students last week. In those three words is the true secret to greatness. We must learn to think big, to sift out the unimportant, to weigh and to judge, and concern ourselves with only the really important things. Most students do not have the faculty of thinking in headlines. They allow a jumble of trivial matters to clutter up their brains, obstruct the neutral pathways, and to create a perpetual traffic jam within their minds. Then when they are hard pressed for a fact and send out little messengers to all parts of their brain in search of it the inevitable happens—they become lost in the maze of mental driftwood and confusion and blank memory is the result.

A graduate student, himself an undergraduate 2 years ago, remarked recently that the reason so many students fail in their courses was because they cluttered up their minds with details while the big important facts were not clearly established in their relationships to each other. Get the main points and the minor details, like iron filings to a magnet, will group themselves in their proper order.

Life is too short and the human mental organism too delicate to try to remember everything. We must have organized our knowledge and have it card indexed in such a manner that we can instantly bring forth the important things. Think big, and the thought, as the large planetary body attracts the meteorite, will attract to it related minor matters. Boil down and sum up, get ideas rather than details, and daily tasks will be made lighter.

At the Theaters

"Popular Georgia Minstrels" will be the attraction at the Orpheum Wednesday and Thursday Matinees and evenings. The everwelcome and popular Georgia Minstrels will play Lincoln their annual visit on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, appearing in four performances, two matinees and two nights, at the Orpheum Theatre. As all lovers of the best in minstrelsy realize, the Georgia Minstrels stand at the head of this delightful form of theatrical entertainment. The present season has been one of the most successful ever experienced in the history of this famous aggregation of "black face" entertainers. The fixed policy of the managers of the troupes, Rusco and Hockwald, to render a dollar's worth of entertainment for the dollar admission price, has born unusual fruit in capacity audiences wherever the "Georgia Minstrels" have appeared. In the company will be seen, and heard, forty of the best known black face singers and dancers now on the stage. The performance includes about fifteen acts of super-vau-leville which will prove to ocer entertainment of the most diverse nature to patrons of the Orpheum. The Georgia Minstrels have existed as a company, under that name, for over thirty-three years, having visited times innumerable every city and state on this continent, and have also made European tours, where their popularity has been as great as in their own country. The seas' sale for this engagement will open Monday morning at the Orpheum.

In Years Gone By.

Eighteen Years Ago Today
An article pertaining to athletics was published explaining the deficit of $500 existing in the Athletic Board funds.

Eleven Years Ago Today
Four speakers of national fame addressed the students of the University. The speakers were United States Senators Kern of Indiana and Owen of Oklahoma, Speaker Champ Clark, and W. J. Bryan.

Seven Years Ago Today
The Junior Play "The Road to Yesterday" was presented at the Oliver Theatre. The play was involved, as it portrayed London life today and the mannerisms of Lincolnshire three hundred years ago, but the cast did excellent work.

Six Years Ago Today
The University Ak-Sar-Ben, given under the joint auspices of the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A., was a decided success. Almost five hundred student, dressed as clowns, gypsies, and "Charley Chaplins" joined in the merriment.

Two Years Ago Today
Preparations were being made for an Inter-Fraternity Bowling Tournament. Sixteen fraternities had entered live-man teams.

The Exhaust.

What's all this we hear about the two innocent Pi Phis who were almost picked up by the naughty occupants of a Ford coupe? The poor things were "petrified with fear." Claude is regular lounge lizard. Yes, but Harry is a full lap ahead of him. How is that? Oh, he is a garter snake. If you were at a party and the lights went out, would you beat it? No sir. I'd begin to make connections.

LUTHERAN CLUB HOLDS THIRD TEAM ELECTION

The Lutheran club of the University held its third term election, last Thursday night and elected the following officers: vice-pres., Eleanor Johnson; treasurer, Frieda Wunderlich; corresponding secretary, Georgia Jensen; the following officers were retained: pres., Otto Finke; secretary, Martha Harder; Sergeant-at-arms, Emil Hendrickson.

UNI PROFESSORS WRITE FOR LEGION NEWSPAPERS

Dean Seavey, of the College of Law, and Dean Le Rossignol, of the College of Business Administration, have written a series of articles for the Nebraska Department of the American Legion which will be published each week in the "Midwest Veteran." The two series of articles will be published alternately.

The articles written by Dean Seavey deal with the development of the constitution and are divided into two parts—the development of nationality and the supremacy of law.

Dean Le Rossignol's writings have to do with the question of social economics. Following are the titles of the articles in the order that they will be published: The Economic Life of Man; Occupations; The Exploitation of the Earth; Farming and Extractive Industries; Manufacturing; Trading; Transportation and Communications; Money and Prices; Credit and Banking; Labor and Wages; Land and Rent; Capital and Interest; The Business Man, His Services and Profits; Competition; Concentration and Control; Crises; Foreign Trade; Governmental Services and Expenditures; Governmental Revenue (Taxation etc.) Distribution of Wealth; Economic Harmony and Discord; Wealth and Welfare; Social Improvement; The Social Economic Outlook.

SCHOLARSHIP CUP TO COTTAGE "D" GIRLS

A scholarship cup has been awarded to Cottage "D" dormitory for high scholastic standing during the year 1920-21. The average grade of the students in this dormitory is 88.5%, which is 8% higher than that of the highest ranking sorority during that year. Cottage "E", 410 N 13, ranked second in standing.

Cottage "D" dormitory has not received a single delinquency this year and will undoubtedly make a high average and hold the cup another year. These girls are also prominent in student activities.

It is the custom to award scholarship cups to the sorority making the highest average. This plan of awarding a cup to the dormitory having the highest grades is to encourage and stimulate work and high grades among non-sorority women.

Many of the dormitory girls are making very high averages. Of the six girls who made a grade of 95% in Freshman lecture, last semester, four were dormitory girls. One girl received 99% as a mid-semester zology grade. Another 98% in Chemistry.

Announcement

The past week has witnessed the retirement of Mr. Benjamin Simon from the firm of Speier & Simon.

Mr. Herman Speier wishes to announce to the public that he purchased the entire interest of the corporation, and that the business will continue as heretofore. He will be the active head, and will endeavor to demonstrate the fundamental soundness of the ideal principles upon which this business was founded. This store will endeavor to maintain its high standard of service and merchandise as well as the best in values. He will permit no obstacles to stand in his way of making this pledge a fact.

Some new principles, some new standards to guide this institution through years to come will be inaugurated. Past achievements will serve only as stepping stones to even a greater future. You will more and more come to know this institution as the home of correct apparel operating on a big volume, small profit basis: You will more and more come to realize the leadership of this store: You will also come to realize that the store offers more than mere merchandise; that it does not and never will follow the rule of "so much for so much."

This store, though new, is old in experience of the man who will guide it. The ideals which will demonstrate it are as old as the hills and as everlasting. They are the ideals which establish confidence and which constitute the fundamentals of every real success.

We thank our old friends and patrons, and our friends to be, and we hope to make many of them, we ask you to co-operate to the making of a better and bigger store. We will endeavor to merit your patronage at all times.
