CALDWELL WRITES FROM CALIFORNIA

Nebraska Professor Tells News of Many Husker Graduates.

The following letter from Prof. H. W. Caldwell who is located in Los Angeles, contains some interesting news items about several Nebraska alumni.

Los Angeles, March 20, 1922 The Daily Nebraskan, The Editorial Leaders, Dear Friends:

I fear that you do not know that I am your friend, for I have been away from the University all this year. I can add that there is nothing I like, I may say love, so well as the University. I am sorry I have to be away now or ever hereafter. Nebraska, Lincoln, and the University are greater to me than any other known spot in the world. So far, many places in Europe attracted me; and many parts of our great nation please me. So far even this great city, Los Angeles in California, does not to me seem quite equal to our Lincoln. Los Angeles is a great city and its growth is wonderful. No doubt that within three years time, it may have 1,000,000 people in its great area, most Nebraskan's living here are content.

There are a large number of our graduates here at work. Many of them are teaching in the leading schools.

I have met many of them, so I decided to send a brief account of some of them to you. You may use their names and brief accounts of them in the Daily Nebraskan if you wish to.

Yours truly,

H. W. CALDWELL.

Of the many graduates of the University of Nebraska who are now living in the Los Angeles region, I send you the names of a few of them, and I may add more later.

Miss Anna Fossler, who graduated at the University of Nebraska in 1895 with the B. Sc. degree, is now the Librarian in the Southern Section of the California State University. She came in September 1921, from Oregon to take this position. Miss Fossler lives in Pasadena, but she attends the University every day and manages and directs the work in the library.

It is interesting that Miss Mary Fossler is the head of the department of biology in the Southern University, formerly a Methodist College. The two great universities are some ten miles apart, yet both are in Los Angeles. Miss Mary Fossler graduated in Lincoln in 1894, and in 1898 added the A. M. degree. She has large numbers of students working in biology. The two sisters live together but are at work in the two different universities.

Miss Mary B. Hooton came to the city of Los Angeles some two years ago. Now she has gone to work in the great high school of Pasadena. Her work is in history and English. Miss Hooton took her first degree in 1913, and then added the A. M. degree in 1917. At present she lives in Los Angeles and teaches in Pasadena.

C. H. Jansen came to this section some years ago. He graduated from Nebraska University in 1888. He remained in Nebraska many years, and then married Miss Christine Fossler. Now Mr. Jansen teaches in the Ganza School. There are some 750 students, so he has a large number in the Manual Training work. It is very interesting to note that his wife is also teaching now. She graduated in Lincoln in 1893, and added the A. M. degree in 1904. Now she has the great departments of science and mathematics in the leading school in San Pedro.

The superintendent of the schools of San Pedro, Elson, is also a graduate of Nebraska University. Thomas E. Elson graduated in 1903 with the A. B. degree. He was in Pasadena for a time, but now is the head of the schools in one of the great growing sections of Los Angeles, known still as San Pedro.

Miss Mable Fossler graduated in Nebraska State University in 1907, with a A. B. degree. She lives in Pasadena and is taking care of her mother. Then Miss Mable Fossler is doing real work for magazines and is making many fine writings in poetry. Later she may again go into teaching.

SPRING FOOTBALL PRACTICE STARTS

Spring football practice was opened yesterday when head coach Fred T. Dawson and line coach Bill Day put a squad of twenty-five gridsters through a stiff workout on the athletic field. The field was muddy and the drill was limited to backfield running, a little punting, and the practice of some trick plays. The squad included Captain "Chick" Hartley, Herb De Witz, Bergquist, McAllister, and a number of men from the freshman squad of last fall.

COPPOCK MEMORIAL DRIVE THIS WEEK

'Nebraska In China' Campaign To Open Wednesday Morning

The Grace Coppock Memorial Fund campaign begins Wednesday morning, April 5, and continues through the week until Friday night, April 7th. The goal for the drive is $1,500 and it will be raised by personal solicitation from every girl in the university.

"Nebraska in China" is the slogan for the week and it has a real meaning to every student. The Nebraska Y. W. C. A. has been represented in China by Grace Coppock since 1907 until the time of her death October 1921. Miss Coppock had charge of the Y. W. C. A. work in China and had under her supervision ninety-six secretaries. She graduated from Nebraska University in 1905 and during her fourteen years of service, Nebraska students could and did feel that they were in very close touch with the foreign field. Interest in foreign missions has steadily increased during the past few years, due mainly to our close connection with the work in China.

The fund this year is to be called a Memorial Fund in recognition of the services and in memory of Grace Coppock. The funds will be given to Miss Maude Klatté, who has taken over the work this year. Miss Klatté is not a Nebraska graduate, but the National board has promised to send a Nebraska graduate next year. The campaign is under the direction of Madeline Stenger. Ten captains assisted by ten members will individually solicit every girl in the university for support in the drive. The Mystic Fish and Freshman Commission will act as a team for canvassing the Freshman Class. The work will start Wednesday morning.

Edwin Guthrie is professor in the psychology department at the University of Washington, and Miss Grace Denny is in the home economics department there. Miss Luella Ayers, who used to work for Harry Porter, and was assistant to Dr. Robbins, a former member of the university law faculty fifteen years ago, is with the United States bureau of foreign trade.
