MARSHALL JOFFRE WILL BE GUEST OF LINCOLN SATURDAY

"Hero of Marne" Will Break First Ground For New State Capitol Tomorrow

UNIVERSITY TO ASSIST WITH ENTERTAINMENT

Saturday Morning Classes Excused One Hour Early to Prepare for Parade

When Marshall Joffre, one of the greatest generals of the world war, arrives in Lincoln at 1:20 p. m. Saturday, he will be escorted to the capitol grounds by the Pershing Rifles, crack university cadet company. General Joffre, who has been touring the United States, has consented to stop in Lincoln for several hours, and will break ground for Nebraska's new state capitol Saturday afternoon.

The distinguished general will be met at the Burlington station and escorted up P street to Ninth, from there to O street, down the principal thoroughfare to Fifteenth street and straight to the capitol.

At the beginning of the line of march, the Boy Scouts will be lined up along each side of the street. The line of march will be lined with men from the depot to the State Capitol beginning with the Lincoln Scouts, then followed by the R. O. T. C., the World War Veterans, The Spanish War Veterans, and near the capitol the Veterans of the Civil War. As the Pershing Rifles escort the General along the line of march, the Boy Scouts will fall in behind him and as each unit lined along the street is passed it will fall in behind the preceding one and follow the procession to the Capitol.

Governor McKelvie and other state officials will assist Marshall Joffre in breaking ground for the new capitol.

A formal reception for the famous French leader will probably be held later in the St. Paul Methodist church. A drive through the city to the School of Agriculture campus and other points of interest will be conducted during the remainder of General Joffre's visit. He will leave Lincoln at 4:30 on the Burlington.

Dean Carl C. Engberg has issued a notice to all instructors who have Saturday morning classes, to dismiss them at 11 o'clock so as to enable the cadets to assemble in uniform, by companies, on the drill ground east of Nebraska Hall at 12:30 sharp. Places of assembly of each battalion will be as usual for the weekly parades and reviews. Neither Rifles nor Belts will be worn.

TO ALL OFFICERS OF INSTRUCTION

All the students in the cadet regiment and band are requested to assemble in uniform, by companies, on the drill ground east of Nebraska Hall at 12:30 sharp, Saturday, April 15, in order that the University may do honor to Marshall Joffre, "the hero of the Marne." Places of assembly of each battalion will be indicated.

All instructors who have classes Saturday morning are requested to dismiss them at 11 o'clock so as to enable the cadets to comply with the above request.

Signed,
CARL C. ENGBERG.

COACH SCHULTE WANTS SOME ANNOUNCERS

An announcer at a track meet helps materially to put the event across for the spectators. There are several announcers in this country whose services are rated so high that they are the most highly paid officials at such big meets as the Drake Relays, Western Conference etc.

In order to uncover the best two or three men in the University for this position Coach Schulte is calling for a tryout in the Inter-College meet Saturday. He is asking for ten men at least to enroll at once. The announcers position at a track meet is as important as a yell leader at a football game.

ENGINEER'S PARADE TO FEATURE MANY FLOATS

Floats, representative of the work of the several departments of the College of Engineering are to feature the parade from the campus to the business section of Lincoln on Field Day of Engineers Week, Friday, April 28th. This is the first time that any attention has been paid to making the parade more than a line of march of the students of the college aided by a band.

Each department is being left free to work out its own details and much competition has developed in their plans. Those responsible are, however, keeping their plans under cover in the effort to spring a surprise that morning.

HUSKERS AND COYOTES TO MEET ON DIAMOND

Wesleyan to Battle Nebraska at Rock Island Park Tomorrow Afternoon

The Cornhusker baseball squad will open the home schedule tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. when they mix with the Wesleyan Coyotes at Rock Island Park. The Methodists have been going through a series of hard workouts for the past two weeks and plan to give the Huskers some hard opposition.

Wesleyan will enter the battle with a strong pitching staff while the Huskers will rely upon Carman, Munger, Berquist and Ziegenheim. Carman will probably start off the game on the mound.

The recent unfavorable weather has handicapped the diamond artists to a great extent. The Nebraskans have had only two real workouts since returning from the spring trip. Yesterday the varsity clashed with the freshmen aggregation, who under the leadership of John Pickett, are showing up very well on the diamond. A fast five inning battle was staged which afforded the varsity some real practice.

The two coming games with the Coyotes will aid greatly in preparing the Huskers for the battles with Kansas University. The Scarlet and Cream aggregation locks horns with the Kansans April 27 and 28. Coach Frank and Capt. Bill McCrory are planning to whip the Huskers into one of the fastest aggregations in the Valley before the end of the season or before the Kansas battles open.

The Rock Island Park, which was muddy and soft the first of the week, is in good condition again.

Carman, one of the main-stays of the pitching staff, and former Wesleyan man, will have a chance to face his old team from the mound.

Tomorrow's game is expected to be fast from start to finish and will probably develop into a hard fought battle.

AG STUDENTS HAVE GRADUATING EXERCISES

Twentieth Annual Commencement For Students at Temple Theatre Tomorrow

The University School of Agriculture will hold its Twentieth Annual Commencement Exercises at the Temple Theater, Friday evening, April 14. The class will consist of 25 boys and 17 girls, most of whom come from the homes of Nebraska. Seventeen of the graduates have taken the University Preparatory course indicating their intention in the near future of going on to college. Nine girls are graduating in the teacher training course and will go into the rural schools of Nebraska as instructors.

Mr. M. L. Corey, Attorney for the State Land Bank, of Omaha, will give the address of the evening, using as his subject "Farm Finance." Mr. Corey is well known in Lincoln audiences as a strong and interesting speaker. His address on finance for the farmers will be of interest to Lincoln people. The public is cordially invited to the Commencement exercises:

List of graduates follows:
Vernon Atkins, Kimball; Florence Beck, Lincoln; Opal Beck, Lincoln; Bruce Bennett, Belgrade; Marion Bennett, Bellevue; Charles Booth, Union.

Chorus Of Eight Hundred Voices At Big Inter-Fraternity Sing Sponsored By Kosmet Klub Men

Kosmet Klub, honorary dramatic society for men, will take charge of the inter-fraternity sing which is to be held on the campus on Ivy Day, according to an announcement by the chairman of the Cornhusker Roundup general committee yesterday.

Ivy Day comes on Thursday, June 1, and it is expected that a great crowd of alumni will be in Lincoln at that time to witness the festivities of the week. Over eight hundred voices will take part in the Ivy Day ceremonies. In the afternoon the taping of the innocents and masquing of the Mortarboards will be the features of the entertainment. The inter-fraternity sing will come at seven o'clock in the evening.

The Kosmet Klub was in charge of the first interfraternity sing held on the Nebraska campus in recent years, when it organized the frats for a sing on Nebraska field last fall. All but four of the fraternities were represented at the sing. Each group gave about two songs. This included the official song of the fraternity and one or two others. In the program of that evening were included songs of the University of Nebraska and

Popular among the Kosmet songs were several pieces taken from the 1921 show, "The Most Prime Minister," which was presented at the Orpheum theatre on the evening before Ivy Day. The Kosmet show this year comes on May Day, on account of the fact that Ivy Day has been postponed until June 1 to come during the first Cornhusker roundup. New music for the 1922 Kosmet play is being written by various members of the Klub and will be sung for the first time in public when the 1922 play, "The Knight of the Nymphs," is produced by a cast of eighty students.

Although no definite plans for the interfraternity sing for this year have been made, it is possible that some arrangements will be made to have each fraternity sing under its lighted crest. The campus during the week of the roundup will be lighted by many colored lights and plans to make the interfraternity sing an electric spectacle as well as a great chorus of male voices are being formulated.

DR. WOLCOTT TELLS OF STUDENTS OFFERED MIGRATION OF BIRDS MANY NEW COURSES

Nebraska Professor Gives Complete History and Theory on Difficult Subject

"Bird migrations have been the most studied, perhaps of any subject in natural history, yet today there are still any number of questions which must be cleared up before the subject can be fully explained," stated Professor R. H. Wolcott in a lecture to the ornithological class of the University this week. "Aristotle several hundred years ago advanced the belief that birds must bury themselves in the mud of winter banks. The theory was disproved only a few centuries ago when an Italian tried the experiment and found how utterly it failed.

"It is now well enough to know where the majority of North American birds spend the winter, but even at that when naturalist after naturalist has reported his observations, the exact migratory route or even the residence of some species throughout half the year is a complete mystery."

Dr. Wolcott divided the migratory birds into three classes; those which have widely separated winter and summer ranges, those whose ranges overlap, and those which do not migrate at all. Though some birds may spend different seasons of the year on different sides of the equator, so that they are practically in eternal summer, no bird ever nests on two parts of the earth's surface in one year.

The arctic tern enjoys more hours of sunlight each year than any other living creature. It spends twelve weeks in the constant sunlight of a summer in the Arctic circle, then takes ten weeks to travel the eleven thousand miles to the other side of the globe, basks in the sunshine there for sixteen weeks, and then takes another ten weeks for the trip back. Other birds, especially the shore birds nesting on the barren grounds, make almost as long flights as the tern, according to Dr. Wolcott. Among these is the golden plover, who on his autumnal migration heads for his northern nesting ground to Nova Scotia, makes a last big meal of berries and then strikes straight for South America over the broad Atlantic, not even stopping to rest on any islands that it might cross.

"One of the big mysteries in the study of bird migrations," said Prof. Wolcott, "is the common chimney swift. That bird moves southward in the fall toward the Gulf of Mexico as do many other species. From there he disappears into thin air and is gone for the winter. Though ornithological explorers have penetrated to every part of South America, central America and Africa, this bird has never been seen except in its summer home in the United States." Perhaps Aristotle has some grounds for his theory that the birds bury themselves in the river banks.

OMAHA CLUB MEMBERS HOLD MONTHLY DINNER

The second monthly dinner of the Omaha Club was held last night at the Grand Hotel. An enthusiastic group of Omahans gathered for the dinner which was followed by a short business session and a bit of entertainment by some of the members.

The matter of changing the constitution was taken up and a committee was appointed to draw up a new one for presentation at the next meeting. It was decided to hold election of officers for next semester at the first meeting next fall.

Only one more meeting will be held this year and the committee hopes to get as many Omahans out at the last meeting as is possible.

INTER-COLLEGE MEET COMES TOMORROW

Tryouts For Drake Relays to be Held in Connection With Meet

An assemblage of athletes such as has never before been witnessed on Nebraska field will compete for track honors when the inter-college and preliminary Drake relay tryouts are held Saturday afternoon. Starting at 2:30, a series of twenty-eight athletic events will follow each other in quick succession until the final whistle blows after the half-mile relay at 4:30.

The inter-college meet is expected to completely overshadow all previous intra-mural meets. Coach Schulte has been making a strenuous effort to bring into competition in the inter-college meet every man enrolled in the track squad, which number 250 athletes. The rivalry among the various college teams is exceptionally keen. The captains of the college teams all report large squads, and are promising to capture a large share of the honors.

The inter-colleg meet last year was won by the Ag tracksters, who scored thirty-eight and one-half points. The Arts and Science athletes were second with thirty-four points. The Laws scored twenty-five points, Engineers nineteen points, Medics eighteen points, Bizads fifteen points, and the Dents twelve and one-half points.

Several surprises are due to come in the preliminary Drake tryouts. During the workouts the past two weeks, some new faces have been making an excellent showing, and will be given a chance to display their ability Saturday. Competition for the places on the varsity team has become exceedingly close, due to the large number of first class athletes on the squad, and some of the events are expected to provide hard-fought contests.

W. S. G. A. holds its annual mass meeting April 13 at Social Science for the purpose of nominating the officers and members of next year's board.

The Junior girls nominated Betty Kennedy, Margaret Stirworthy, Muriel Allen and Florence Price and from which next year's president will be chosen. Other junior members nominated are Ruth Kadel, Od Dittman, Elizabeth Montgomery, Mildred Hullinger.

Sophomore nominees are, Margaret Hager, Jean Holtz, Eleanor Dunlap, Margaret Wattle, Nellie Dye, Betty Riddel an dRuth Miller and from which the secretary will be elected. The girls nominated in the Freshman class are, Glee Gardner, Hazel Fickes, Ruth Carpenter, Helen Guthrie, Dorothy Zust, Barbara Kiggshorn and Ruth Towner and from which the treasurer will be taken.

The election will be held Thursday, April the 20th in the Library. Only active members will be permitted to vote.

There will be five girls elected from the Junior class and four from each of the other two classes.

COMPET DRILL NOT PART OF ALUMNI WEEK

Lack of Spirit Among Students Taking Drill Causes Big Event to be Called Off

MANY LOWER CLASSMEN UNWILLING TO REMAIN

Freshmen and Sophomore Drillers Refuse to Stay Over Two Days After Exam

Because a number of students—most of them freshmen and sophomores who have not yet caught the Nebraska spirit—are unwilling to remain in Lincoln from Wednesday until Friday morning, the part of the alumni week program providing for competitive drill on the second day of the celebration has been called off.

Final examinations for the year are to be finished Wednesday. On Thursday, the program calls for the Ivy Day celebration and a big interfraternity sing. On Friday morning at 8 o'clock was the time which had been set aside for the competition drill, one of the biggest attractions of the entire week. But now a few students who have little or no Nebraska spirit have refused to remain a day and a half so as to show the students of old that the University still can put on a fine exhibition of drill.

Many of the alumni who will be back in Lincoln to take part in the University Week celebration are looking forward expectantly to witnessing compet drill. Unless these students who have now signified their intention not to remain for the Friday morning drill, withdraw their refusal and agree to take part in the competitive drill on Friday morning, June 2, many of these students of old are going to be much disappointed in Alumni Week.

Lack of Spirit

A lack of spirit is the only reason which can be attached to the unwillingness of the drillers to remain for the celebration. Few of the upper classmen are expected to leave until after the graduates and old students have had their inning which ends on Monday, June 5. But the freshmen and sophomores seem to have come to the conclusion that to get home earlier is much more important than from thirty-six to forty-eight hours earlier is much more important than the successful completion of Nebraska's first alumni week celebration.

From every part of Nebraska, from nearly every state in the union and even from far off India, former students of the University of Nebraska will come back for the Homecoming celebration. They are looking forward to meeting their old schoolmates—some of whom they have not seen for many, many years—and to becoming acquainted with the new crop of students who have taken their places. They anticipate a week, filled to the brim with good times and meeting with old and new friends.

It is the duty of every student in Nebraska to remain for the Homecoming days program. The University of Nebraska needs many new things and it is through this alumni week that a greater part of the people of Nebraska are to become acquainted with the needs of the University. Until the people of Nebraska fully realize the importance of the University, Nebraska will not grow to the proportions which it rightfully should assume.

Spirit at Nebraska has long been lax. Last fall, during the football season, many hoped that the old time feeling and love of the Cornhusker institution was being reinstated into the student body. But with the action of the men taking drill, these hopes have been entirely shattered. Nebraska must come through with little things like this if it is to assume its rightful place among the schools of the country. There is not a student in the University but is obligated to stay over for the celebration. It is their spirit which will be shown during the alumni week celebration this year which will count much toward making future Alumni Week celebrations a success.

Not Forced to Stay

It is because of the Uni Alumni Week celebration that the final examinations have been shifted ahead
