NEBRASKA HIGH DEBATERS

Last night, tonight and tomorrow morning the finals in the State Debating League are to be fought out in Lincoln. These teams are the district champions who have won the right to represent their localities in this final series.

Today the Daily Nebraskan is putting out a special issue of the paper in behalf of the visiting debaters. By some this sort of contest is considered the "greatest indoor sport in America."

The records and accomplishments of these men and women are well worth comment and today we are glad to let the university public get a bird's eye view of what Nebraska high school debaters have done during the past year.

THE HIGH SCHOOL TRACK MEET

Tomorrow afternoon four hundred high school athletes will settle the question of supremacy among themselves in field and track events.

Each year the University has been the scene of just the same sort of track meet scheduled for May 13. Each year, however, Nebraska presents a bigger, finer school for the inspection of the next generation of Husker athletes that are to uphold the records our institution has made this year and in years gone by.

Every Nebraska man and woman should consider just what this trip means to many of the visitors. In some cases it will be the first trip that these men have made from their homes. They have their eyes and ears open all the time and are greatly impressed with Lincoln and the University.

While some organizations have made preliminary plans to make the day more profitable for these youngsters other Nebraskans are at a loss to know just exactly what ought to be done to make the day as enjoyable as possible.

There is a job for every student if he will only make an effort to find it. The athletes will have questions to ask—and every attendant should be "rushed" Nebraska just as hard as possible.

"Sell" the idea that every high school student should come day after day to our university and Nebraska will benefit. The greatness of Nebraska in years to come depends upon our ability to show prospective students the real worth of our school.

Boost for Nebraska tomorrow!

THE IRON FENCE—AGAIN

Yesterday the Daily Nebraskan was accused by a member of the law faculty of having done a most dastardly thing—getting the removal of the iron fence that has surrounded the campus for so many years. Whether or not the paper was responsible for this action, in all probability the management of the paper will never know.

However, the fence is down and it is our lot to have to bear the loss—if such it is.

As the Daily Nebraskan has dabbled more or less in this affair, it seems only natural that one last suggestion be made before the whole affair is forgotten.

The arches over the walks leading to the center of the campus were left in place when the fence was taken down. These arches would make very attractive decorations if they were allowed to remain. To prevent the killing of the grass by late eight o'clockers who would cut corners in their mad hurry and breathless scurry, a hedge around the campus could be made an attractive barrier for the thoughtless ones.

THE VARSITY TRACK MEET

Tomorrow morning the Varsity track team will be seen in action at home for the first time this year. The one. Last week Ames came out a close second against Minnesota and tomorrow will offer strong competition to the Valley champions. Coach Schulte has been working hard all year to turn out a team that will be a credit to Nebraska and has made a splendid showing for the Huskers in every contest in which his men have participated.

Every track man has been putting every ounce of energy into perfecting himself for this meet and those to come. Night after night in rain and in wind all have been grinding away to get in condition for contests.

Every athletic ticket holder should attend the track meet Saturday morning.

Farmer entries. Century Belongs to Nebraska. Captain Ed Smith has tearing off the hundred in a consistently speedy manner, and looks good enough to lead the field. Dave Noble and Lukens, as the other Nebraska representatives, present a combination whose strength ought to outclass the Cyclones. Maine and Birthright will do the honors for the Iowa Aggies, and may sneak in for a second or third. Captain Ed Smith has been winning this event regularly in the tryouts and in the Kansas meet, and is the favorite of the Husker track fans.

HUSKER TRACK MEET IS HERE TOMORROW

Cinder Path Artists Contest With Ames Saturday Morning

The Nebraska cinder path artists will open the home season tomorrow morning at ten o'clock when they meet the Ames track athletes in a dual meet on Nebraska field. The meet with the Cyclones will be one of the hardest meets of the year. According to Crack Coach Henry F. Schulte, the meet with the Aggies will be a stiffer battle than Husker fans expect, and if the Cornhuskers win, it will be by a margin of but a few points.

The track events find the Scarlet and Cream about equal in strength with their Iowa rivals and some hot competition should be forthcoming, especially in the half-mile dash. The Cornhuskers will place its hopes on Claire Bowman, who won all three places at the Kansas meet, while Ames will rely on Higgins, Webb, and Prevert. Gardner is Coach Schulte's best bet, having captured first in the half-mile at the Valley indoor meet, while Higgins, valley champion last year, has the edge over the other

THE GREEN LANTERN

Contest in Quarter. Coach Schulte has a trio of 51 second men or better for the 440 in Ted Smith, M. H. Layton, and Hawkins, while Coach Smith is pinning his faith in Wolters, who won this event in 49.25 seconds at the Ames-Minnesota meet. Ted Smith tied for first in this event at the Kansas meet, and is expected to give Wolters a hard fight for first place. Layton may be going strong and run first, as the big fellow has the ability to run away from the field. Ames will have Greenlee and Hammerly for their second and third men in the quarter.

In the mile there will be a grand fight between the Huskers, Allen and Gardner, and the Ames stars, Prevert and Webb. The two-mile run is conceded to Ames, the Cyclones having Rathbun, one of the greatest distance runners in the country. Stemons and Fischer will represent Nebraska in this event.

Here Gish is expected to lead the hurdles, the Husker hurdler having won low hurdles at Kansas, and running a close third in the high hurdles. Layton and Lukens will also top the timbers for the Scarlet and Cream.

SILVER SERPENT BANQUET TUESDAY

Silver Serpent, junior girls' organization, will hold its annual banquet Tuesday evening, May 16, at Ellen Smith Hall. The new Silver Serpents, this year's Silver Serpents and alumnae members who are now in the Senior class will attend. As it is not the custom of Silver Serpents to send out invitations to members not in the city who are not in school the organization banquet will not be held alumnae week. Miss Louise Pound will speak at the banquet. Silver Serpent has been working with Mortarboard on the Woodrow
