REGISTRATION FOR FALL TERM STARTS THIS WEEK

Must Make Out Programs for First Semester 1922-23 Between May 15 and 20.

MUST PAY LATE FINE IF FAIL TO REGISTER

Fees to Be Collected From September 4 to 7—May Make Changes Until Then.

In an effort to avoid the "hurry-scurry" of the registration period in the fall, a new plan of registration—practically the same as the one tried out for this semester—is being introduced for the first semester, 1922-23 registration, which starts Monday morning and continues until Saturday. Students must register during this period if they do not wish to pay a late fee when they return to school next fall. The first semester of the 1922-23 school year will commence September 11.

During this six day period, from May 15 to May 20, students must see their advisors and make out their schedules for next semester studies. At the same time their program of study will be sent to the assignment committee and will be checked up before the start of school next fall.

If students fail to register this week they will be counted as late registrants and treated accordingly. If they do not expect now to come back next fall but should come back they will be charged the extra fee. Any student now in school, if he comes back for the first semester next year, must have completed his registration up to the point of paying the fees.

Changes in registration may be made until the time the fees are paid. If students arrange their programs of study now and should decide before paying their fees to change that registration, they may do so, according to the details of plans as announced at the office of the registrar on Saturday afternoon.

The plan is being used now is essentially the same as the one which was used for the registration for this semester. Students conferred with their advisors, made out their schedules, etc., a week before the end of the last semester. As a result practically no confusion resulted when the time for paying fees and final checking came the first of the semester.

In the past, the first three days of school have been taken up for the most part with students standing for hours and even days waiting for the chance to start on their registration routine. Freshmen, especially have found this a hard method to start out on their university careers, having little or no knowledge of the "ropes" the new student wait around until they are given a chance at being served and in the end get little or no satisfaction from their registration. Under the new plan, each instructor has a limited number of students to advise and he is responsible for their registration. There are none of the long lines, into which the upperclassmen make it a habit to cut; none of the tedious waits at being served. At the most it only takes an hour to complete all the routine connected with registration.

The entire faculty and student body has found the new plan of registration satisfactory. While some flaws are yet to be eliminated, the greater part of the work of registration comes off with a smoothness never before found in registering at the University of Nebraska.

SAMUELSON BREAKS ARM IN BALL GAME

Carlton Samuelson suffered a broken arm during the Kappa Sigma-Acadia inter-fraternity baseball game on Wednesday afternoon at Cushman Motor Park. The bones have been set and he is now progressing in good shape, and will probably be able to take part in the national sport later this season.

HUSKER BASEBALL TEAM BEATS AMES

Ninth Inning Rally Enables Nebraska to Win, 7 to 5 Friday

The Huskers defeated Ames in the second game of the series yesterday afternoon by a score of 7 to 5.

Staging a ninth inning rally in which the Huskers run in five scores, they defeated Ames 7 to 5 in Friday's game. The Cyclones were leading at 5 to 2 score up to the ninth frame when Smaha smacked a home run and started a batting rally that gained five runs for the Husker aggregation. Lewellen and Ziegenbein were retired and Carmen and Pizer were safe on errors by Curland and Gricr. Currie dropped Anderson's fly and Carmen scored. McCrory came thru with a double scoring Pizer. Thomsen duplicated, scoring Anderson and McCrory. Carr then singled, scoring Thomsen.

The Nebraskans chalked up two runs in the first frame. Anderson singled and Pizer was put out. McCrory reached first on an error and Anderson scored on Thomsen's grounder, beating the throw to the plate. McCrory made third and then ran in for a score on a sacrifice hit by Carr.

Ames failed to do any scoring in the last inning, but had scored two runs in the third and three in the sixth. Two errors by Smaha and Carmen's wild pitching in the third helped the Cyclones' scoring.

Ziegenbein relieved Curman in the sixth and finished the game.

NORTH PLATTE DEBATERS ARE STATE CHAMPS

Win From Holdrege by Two to One Decision Saturday Morning.

North Platte high school won the championship of the Nebraska High School Debating League Saturday morning when it defeated Holdrege by a two to one decision. North Platte argued the affirmative side of the closed shop question.

The North Platte-Holdrege debate in Memorial hall was the climax of the most successful season of the state league, organized by Prof. M. M. Pogg, and now having ninety-five member schools. Over a hundred debaters were held during the year, and information on the closed shop question circulated in hundreds of communities. Eleven schools having won district honors, contested for the state title in Lincoln Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The first round saw Beatrice, Norfolk, Dix, Wayne, and Aurora eliminated, while Greeley, Omaha, Technical and Superior went out in the second series. North Platte won from University Place in the semi-finals, leaving the western champions and Holdrege to strive for first and second place in the state.

North Platte by a split decision won from University Place Friday evening in the Social Science auditorium. The judges were: Ewald T. Grether, assistant in economics (Nebraska against Iowa, 1921); Paul Good attorney (Nebraska against Minnesota).

Mother's Day Is Remembered By University Students This Week

Mother's Day! Once a year, and once only, comes the officially designated Mother's Day.

Then Mothers—in general and in particular—are showered with flowers and chocolates. Then the younger members of the family appear in their red carnations—the family goes en masse to church, and returns to a bounteous repast, thankful that the long understandable service is over.

But Mother—she goes to church, wearing a carnation of a different hue, and thinking of other things than the minister's impassioned appeal for appreciation of the women whose day it is.

First of all, there is her own mother. And mother has never stopped adding intensity to her appreciation of her. Then, there are Mother's own children—some of them at home with her, and some of them away. Daughter at the University wasn't able to come home for the day, but she wrote a lovely note to Mother that made the sun shine a little brighter.

But what on earth can be the matter with Son? Can he be ill—or has he forgotten Mother and all the rest of the family? Son—who hated to go to school, he said, because he would be homesick. Son—who is having his first year away from home. Son—who during the first few months, wrote every day, and who seemed to know just what to say to make Mother know how he appreciated her unflinching good nature and her excellent advice.

And now it's Son who hasn't written to Mother! It has been two months since she has heard—something must be wrong!

But at last the sermon is over, and Mother—with her flock—goes back to the home where the children used to play hide and seek in the yard. And as the younger ones of the family run on ahead, she and Father—who isn't really included in the festivities, but who shines in reflected glory—tell all the stories they can remember of the absent ones, and Mother confides her anxiety about Son.

Father wonders what can be the matter with the boy that he doesn't write, but is afraid that it is mere negligence. And Mother knows that her boy could not neglect her.

The little brown house is close now. "Why, there's a package on the porch," says Mother. "A box," and Mother already at the door is unpacking the wrapping. "What beauties!" she exclaims as she buries her nose in the red roses. And she pulls out the card, which she puts into her pocket.

And for the rest of the day, Mother's eyes shine with a new light, for after all, Son was almost as faithful as Daughter.

Jack Austin Will Manage Paper for Students Attending the Two Summer Sessions.

PAPER TO CARRY ITEMS OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Lincoln Correspondents to Handle News of All Organization Members.

Feeling that students in the summer school sessions of the University of Nebraska do not receive all that they might from their summer course because there is no school paper during this time, a Summer Nebraskan is to be published during the two sessions this summer under the direction of the students Publication Board.

Jack Austin, editor of the Daily Nebraskan last semester and at present acting editor, will manage the paper, Wilbur Peterson, at present connected with the Daily Nebraskan and recently chosen editor of the Alumni Journal, will be the editor of the paper.

The paper will be published three days a week, every one of the twelve weeks in the summer session, or a total of thirty six issues. The subscription price for the summer paper will be only fifty-cents and will be sent to any place in the country or, in the case of students or faculty members who will travel extensively, to any addresses which are ordered.

Have Personal Columns

An important feature of the Summer Nebraskan will be a personal column of activities of students during the vacation period. A Lincoln member of every sorority and fraternity on the campus will be appointed to keep the Summer paper in touch with the activities of their members. This is a much more complete personal service than has ever been given by a university publication and it is felt that it will interest every reader of the paper.

Sports Department

Another important feature will be a sports department. The department of athletics keeps in touch with Nebraska athletes throughout the summer and has an intensely interesting line of news which has never before been published. Besides this sports news which will be gotten from the university, the summer paper will run a review of national sports of all kinds. Owing to the careful selection of material which it will be possible to make, the sports department of the summer paper will be of an intensely interesting nature for all students of the university.

There are comparatively few summer school papers published in the country and the Student Publication Board feels that the Nebraska paper will be a rare and valuable asset to the school. Eventually it is hoped that the summer Nebraskan will become a daily as is the Daily Nebraskan. By this paper, the summer school at Nebraska looks as one of the most progressive in the country. Michigan is the only school known which at present publishes a daily summer school paper and the manager feel certain that the Summer Nebraskan will rank among the best of the summer university papers.

Members of the faculty and student bodies may have the Summer Nebraskan mailed to them any place in the country for the subscription price of fifty cents. In case they will not remain at one place all summer the paper will be sent to any addresses ordered. It is the desire to give an excellent service to both students and faculty so that all Cornhuskers may be kept in close touch throughout the big jump in the school year.

Sometime this week every organization will have some member put the plan before its members. Monday night all fraternities and sororities will be given a chance to subscribe for the new publication. Already letters to members of the faculty have been mailed and good results have been accomplished.

TRACKSTERS WIN FROM CYCLONES

Huskies Open the Home Season With Victory Over Ames in Dual Meet

The University of Nebraska tracksters opened the home season yesterday morning by defeating the Ames cinder path artists, 75 to 53, in a hard-fought dual track meet on Nebraska field. Individual honors were divided between Captain Smith of Nebraska and Wolters of Ames, each of these stars making ten points. Allen broke the Nebraska record in the mile and Schoepel shattered the javelin mark.

The meet was featured by the close contests in a majority of the track events, the victor never winning by more than a few feet. In the shot-put and the century dash, the Huskies had no serious competition, taking all three places in these events.

The two-mile race was one of the prettiest distance races ever witnessed on Nebraska field. Rathbun, the Ames crack, who recently competed against the runners from Oxford and Cambridge at the Penn relays, took the lead at the start and was never headed; Slemmons, who won second place passed a weakening Cyclone on the last lap, while Fischer passed the same Cyclone on the home stretch by a desperate sprint to the tape. This race was run in the fast time of 19' 17".

The stellar Husker mile relay team went down to defeat before the Cyclone relay team after an hard race. The race was neck and neck, with the Huskers having a slight advantage, until the last men came up the home stretch, when Wolters, Aggie anchor man, showed heels to Hawkins.

Andrew Schoepel broke the varsity javelin record of 169 feet, 9 inches, established by Carmen last year, by hurling the javelin 173 feet, 4 inches. Gardner broke the half-mile Nebraska record by finishing under two minutes but his performance was not official because he did not finish first. Wolters of Ames won this race in 1 minute, 57 and 2/5 seconds.
