

BUSHNELL GUILD MAN DROWNS IN BLUE SATURDAY

Everett Isaacson of Norfolk Dies When Canoe Capsizes at Crete

WAS PREPARING FOR ANNUAL FRAT PICNIC

Pulmotor Too Late to Prevent Season's First River Casualty

Everett Isaacson, 19, Norfolk, freshman in the engineering college of the state university, was drowned in the Blue River near the Y. M. C. A. camp near Crete at 9:30 a. m., Saturday. The body was recovered at 10 o'clock and although a pulmotor was used for nearly an hour, all efforts to resuscitate the youth failed. His father and mother reside at Norfolk, the former being an officer of the Norfolk Bridge & Construction company.

Isaacson and another freshman, Rex Reese of Omaha, were in a canoe racing with four other men in a canoe when their boat capsized. Both Isaacson and Reese could swim and they struck out for the shore, but the water was very cold and they were encumbered with their clothing. Suddenly Isaacson threw up his hands and sank. Reese did his best to save him and when he reached the shore was almost exhausted. He removed his shoes, however, and again plunged into the stream, but without avail. The drowning boy could not be located.

The men in the other boat turned about and came back to the scene as quickly as possible and although all who could do so dived and others were called to assist, it was nearly an hour before the body could be located. In the meantime word had been sent to Crete and the pulmotor was put to work as soon as the body was recovered. Life was entirely extinct.

Isaacson was a member of Bushnell Guild and with fourteen other members drove to Crete Friday evening to prepare for the annual picnic of the guild which was to be held today. They camped there for the night and having everything in readiness were enjoying themselves and waiting for the others when the fatality occurred.

The other members of the fraternity went to Crete Saturday morning on the train, reaching there shortly after the body had been recovered. Among them was the older brother of the drowned youth, Clarence Isaacson, a junior in the business administration college. A telegram had been sent to Lincoln telling of the drowning, but it had not reached here before the party started to Crete, so the older brother was uninformed of the death. He was taken aside by a friend and the news imparted to him. The body was taken to Crete and will go from there to Norfolk.

Everett Isaacson is spoken of by the members of the fraternity as a general favorite and one of the hardest working students in the university. One week ago, Mothers' day, his mother came down from Norfolk and spent the day with her son. That was the last time she saw him alive.

Pastor Declares More Heat Than Sense in Denunciation of Modern Drama

Rev. Dr. John Thompson, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, Chicago, frankly says, "there is more heat than sense in most of the talk preachers make against the theatre," which he describes as "a hangover from the beliefs of fifty years ago. The drama had its origin in religion," he continues, "and the church should have been in control of the theater all through all through the centuries rather than allowing it to become commercialized and debased. Dramatic talent is a God-given talent, just as musical or artistic talent."

Arthur Hopkins, the producer, Eugene O'Neill, the author, and Pauline Lord, the actress, are witnesses for the divine speaker in his valuation and mission of the theater. The name Arthur Hopkins is a stamp for the highest and best in the theater, with-

"To the Nebraska Alumni:
"We, the member of the Ambassadors Club of the University of Nebraska, in co-operation with the Alumni Association, extend to all the Nebraska Alumni an invitation to attend the annual Alumni week at Lincoln, beginning June first.
"Alumni week this year is going to be the biggest 'round-up' of the old graduates that has ever been staged at Nebraska. Every college in the University is attempting to outdo the others in providing for adequate entertainment for the old graduates.
"You know Nebraska. The same today as when you were in school. Each college has planned for the alumni visiting the school during Alumni week special events that will make the old graduate a fellow with the rest of us. It's a chance of a lifetime when men and women can be just kids again and review old times and see how things have progressed. We expect to find you here when the roll is called.

"TALES OF THE HUSKERS" TO BE PUBLISHED SOON

Book Containing History of Ne- braska Athletics For the Last Year Planned

"Tales of the Cornhuskers," a book containing a complete history of all athletic activities at the University of Nebraska for the last year, will be published before the end of the present school year. The book is to be given free to every man who worked for a varsity or freshman team during the past year.

The book will contain a complete account of the work of the football, basketball, track, baseball, wrestling and every minor sport at the university. It will have a section devoted entirely to the work of the girls' athletics during the year. There will be a section for the high school basketball, track and pentathlon tournaments together with published world, high school and varsity records in all events.

Not only will the aspirants for athletic teams receive the book free of charge but every high school coach in the state will be awarded a copy of the book. It will be of immense value to the high school tutors when it comes to comparing the work of their athletes with the existing records in all events. Besides these the captains of the 226 basketball teams and the track teams entered in the spring meet will receive copies of the book.

Any student at the university who wishes copies of the book but who is not entitled to a free copy will be given one on the payment of sixty or seventy-five cents. The advertising in the book will pay the costs of publication.

Pictures of all varsity teams and high school winners will be contained in the book. A section devoted to humorous happenings of the training season will be one of the popular features of the book.

"Tales of the Cornhuskers" is the outgrowth of an athletic news letter which Coach Henry F. Schulte published in the summer of 1920. While at Missouri Schulte published a book called "Tales of the Tigers" and it is from these two publications that the "Tales of the Cornhuskers" is being worked out. The book as published now, however, will be much more complete than anything before published at Nebraska and will undoubtedly become an annual Cornhusker athletic year book.

"Tales of the Cornhuskers" has the endorsement of the alumni "N" men. An appeal for support from the former athletes of the university brought a spontaneous reply and assures the publication of the book.

University of Utah—The Sophomore class here, recently put on a clever entertainment for the students in the form of a cabaret in the University cafeteria.

Guests at the Delta Upsilon house this week end are: George Haslam, Austin Smith and Bert Stron of Omaha.

CORNHUSKERS DEFEAT AGGIE TRACK TEAM

Nebraska More Than Doubles Op- ponents Score in Dual Meet

"MUD" GARDNER BREAKS RECORD FOR THE HALF

Ed Smith and Irwin Feature Cen- tury and Two Hundred Twenty Races

University of Nebraska tracksters won the dual meet with the Kansas Aggies on Nebraska field yesterday afternoon, scoring a total of eighty-eight points to forty-three garnered by the Kansas Farmers. This was the third consecutive victory of the Huskers in dual meets this year, the Huskers having defeated the Kansas U cinder team and the Ames track team on the two previous Saturdays. One Nebraska record was broken in the meet, "Mud" Gardner running the half-mile dash in 1:59.25, one two-fifths seconds faster than the former record of 2:00.45.

The feature of the meet was the races between Captain Ed Smith of the Scarlet and Cream and Irwin, star Aggie sprinter. Irwin bested Smith in the century dash, running it in ten seconds flat. Smith scored revenge for the defeat in the two hundred yard dash, trouncing Irwin in the 220 yard dash.

Nebraska was notably strong in the field events, taking all three places in the shotput, the discs throw and the javelin throw. The Huskers also took the first two places in the broad jump and tied for first in the high jump, while the Kansans cleaned up in the pole vault, three Ags tying at eleven feet.

The 220 yard low hurdle race was run in the fastest time ever made in the Nebraska track, Riley of the Farmers topping the timbers in 25.25 seconds. Riley ran one of the prettiest hurdle races ever seen at Nebraska and won by a wide margin. The performance of Lear, Omaha Medic, in the 120 high hurdles, was exceptionally good. Lear, who had not been going good before this meet, stepped out and finished a close second to Hope, star Aggie hurdler.

The Huskers walked away with the quarter and the half-mile, winning all three places in both of these races. Ted Smith and Hawkins tied for first in the quarter, with Layton third. Gardner, winning the 880 yard race, broke the Nebraska record. Coats and Higgins finished second and third.

Eight Cornhusker tracksters, Lear, Wenke, Bechord, Slemmons, Coats, Hatch, Turner, and Schoepel, won their letters in Saturday's meet with the Aggies. The total number of Husker cinder path artists who have earned their letter this year is now twenty-two.

The Nebraska athletes will leave Thursday for the Missouri Valley conference track meet at Lawrence, which will be held May 26 and 27. The Huskers won the championship meet last year.
