

LINCOLN LOSES SPORT COACHES

T. L. Mead and W. H. Browne Will Be Athletic Mentors at Colorado State College

TURN OUT WINNING MACHINES

Coach Telfer L. Mead and Assistant Coach W. H. Browne are leaving Lincoln high school, having accepted positions at Colorado college, Colorado Springs.

Mr. Mead has been in charge of all athletics except baseball for the last three years. Mr. Browne will have the same position at Colorado college that he had in Lincoln, assistant director of physical education and baseball coach. Mr. Browne has been a member of the faculty for two years, having come a year later than Mr. Mead.

In his first year Coach Mead turned out champion teams, a football and a basketball team which in turn proved superior to any other high school team in the state. The next year, although not putting out a championship team, Mr. Mead constructed a football team out of green material which lost only two games and was considered among the best five football squads in the state that season. In basketball he had only one man from the 1919-1920 team and that one had not been a regular first team man. With this man as center he built a squad which was the only Nebraska team able to win from the champions of the year, Omaha Commerce. They also reached the semi-finals in the state tournament.

That year Mr. Browne came as assistant to Mr. Mead and took over the second teams. The football reserves under his guidance broke even the first season, winning three games and losing three. In basketball, Mr. Browne's proteges had better success and were able to carry away the long end of a score in ten of their scheduled twelve games.

In basketball the first team was very successful again, winning seventeen games and losing two in the regular schedule and losing one more in the tournament. The second team also had a successful season under the supervision of Coach Browne and hung thirteen scalps on their belt to three lost.

For the first time in six years, Lincoln high had a baseball team this year, coached by Mr. Browne. They won six games and lost six, coming out with a final average of 500.

Mr. Mead also turned out three track teams, but none of them were winners, although a number of records are held by Lincoln men and were made in the last three years.

Coach Mead came to Lincoln from the service, before which he played on the Indiana university team for three years and served as coach at Decatur, Ill., for two years and at Aurora for another two years.

Mr. Browne attended Earlham college, Richmond, Ind., for two years and then enlisted in the army and after the armistice he served as physical director of the S. A. T. C. at the state normal, LaCrosse, Wis., for a short time. He then took a two-year course at the normal college of the American Gymnastic Union at Indianapolis where he received his G. G. degree.

Hugh Cox and Alma Ashley Will Be Only Student Speakers on Program.

TO BE HELD AT SAINT PAUL'S

The forty-ninth commencement exercises of the Lincoln high school will be held Friday, June 9, at St. Paul's Methodist church. Two members of the senior class, Hugh Cox and Alma Ashley, will be the speakers.

Two hundred and fifty-five students make up the graduating class this year, leaving out of the count the class of a hundred and six graduated in the middle of the year.

CORNHUSKERS ARE STILL OFFERED FOR SALE

(Continued from Page One) are expected to be taken by the advanced guard of the summer "seasoners." The book is on sale at the regular price of $4.50, fifty cents less than the price of the book in 1921.

The 1922 Cornhusker is a well rounded out book depicting the college history through the year 1922. The art work for the book was prepared carefully in slow operations and it represents very creditable work on the part of the large staff of artists who were at work all through the school year.

Organizations Pictured.

Nearly two hundred organizations are represented in the book and each page contains the picture and a short account of that organizations activities during the year. In the senior and junior section of the book, more than eight hundred individual pictures of the classmen serve to bring back memories of familiar faces that will reappear again and again in the future.

The book opens up with a neat Indian style of art, portraying the Cornhusker in his earlier days—the Indian of the Nebraska prairie. The making a neat appearing book for any cover of maroon is stamped with gold place in the house. Indian design is carried out in the cover work.

Facing the title page, a four color picture of the old "U" hall with the winning girls well mounted in engraved panels.

Throughout the entire book an effort has been made to carry out the true Nebraska spirit and present to the students a clean record of the year of 1922.

The state section opens with a remarkable picture of the Lincoln monument on the west side of Nebraska capitol. This picture is cleverly shaded and has been the cause of many appreciative remarks. The section which follows is full of many types of scenes, each page representing a different kind of state scenery. The first three views of Nebraska homes, the second, three views of Nebraska rivers, and so on through the section with representative views of Nebraska.

The beauty section, incorporated in the woman's section, has attracted much attention, both in the state and outside. Six beauties selected by James Montgomery Flagg from a group of twenty-five University of Nebraska girls are outstanding features of the 1922 year book. Much secrecy surrounded the announcement of the winning beauties until the last week before the Cornhusker came out until the publication manager spilled the "dope." The section presents the six
