UNIVERSITY IN POLITICS

With every new election in Nebraska and most other states, more and more of the candidates for offices are graduates of universities. This is more true in the coming state election than ever before in Nebraska politics. Former university students have filed in almost every office from congress to state legislature.

This condition is as it should be. People are more and more commencing to realize that to have good government you must have officials that are trained in problems of public life. They are commencing to see that petty politicians cannot take care of public duties as those duties should be taken care of and they are demanding that university trained men and women assume the reins of leadership.

University graduates are not in themselves anxious to enter politics. They have little desire to enter upon the duties of public office. It has taken much urging on the part of the people in general and public spirited citizens in particular to get these trained men and women into the game of politics. It is to be hoped that the university graduates will soon come to see that it is their duty to assume the reins of government and rid public offices of the petty practices which have become so general.

TWILIGHT BASEBALL

Announcement today by Acting Director of Athletics Henry F. Schulte that a Twilight Baseball league will be formed from among teams of summer school students should bring on a burst of applause. A series of baseball games throughout the two sessions will do much to rid the summer school of the dullness which makes it unattractive.

But it is to be hoped that a Twilight Baseball League will not be the only form of organized competition in the summer school. There are many tennis enthusiasts among the summer sessioners and a series of singles and doubles championship matches should bring out a large field of contestants. It might also be possible to form a golfing club and to hold a championship meet in the eighteen hole league.

Efforts on the part of athletic coaches throughout the state to secure proper training from experienced coaches so that they may turn out better teams, is to be congratulated. Coaches Schulte and Frank are men with the ability to turn out winning athletic teams. They know the fundamentals of coaching. High school coaches who seek their advice will act wisely. There are still openings for men seeking training in track, baseball, football and basketball in the summer coaching classes. Male teachers should equip themselves to handle the work of high school athletic directors by registering in these courses.

WHERE THEY ARE WHAT THEY DO

This column will contain all personal items of both summer and winter students of the university. News for the column is solicited.

Ruth Kadel, Mildred Doyle, Alphonse Clapp, Letitia Spiece, Roberta Prince and Ann Donelan are spending a few days with Betty Thompson at Albion.

Winifred Mayhew is traveling with the Standard Chautauqua circuit thru Nebraska and Colorado.

Verne Lewellen, "Bob" Russell, Dewey Hoy and Bryan Nixon are 1922 Cornhusker football performers who are taking summer school work.

Ione Gardner is spending the summer vacation in Lincoln where she is working for the telephone company.

Helen Conoway has returned to her home in Omaha where she will spend the summer.

Ward Randal is taking some odd courses in summer school before leaving for a trip west.

Maurice Wing is in the employ of the Nebraska State Journal at Lincoln. He was a member of the 1921-22 Daily Nebraskan staff.

Marjorie Martin is at her home in Central City where she will spend the summer.

Reede Reynolds is working for The Lincoln Star during the summer. He is junior managing editor of the 1923 Cornhusker.

Shell Harmon is salesman for the Packard company at Lincoln.

Miss Gertrude E. Moore will spend some time in New York working in the various art galleries and in art centers in the vicinity.

Miss Alice H. Howell, head of the department of dramatics, is spending the summer at Laramie, Wyo. Miss Howell is recuperating from a recent illness but expects to return to her work at the university in September.

Miss Effie Switzer has been appointed instructor of art in the public schools at Princeton, Ill., for the coming year.

F. W. Norris, instructor in electrical engineering, will engage in construction at Pittsfield, Mass.

The Exhaust.

Instructor in education, "Why not let the primary pupils make the sanitary drinking cups for the school?"

Super-bright Cornhusker student, earnestly, "The child labor law would prevent it."

Did you

—go to every table Monday before you found your college?

—wish your lucky stars had kept you out of registration?

—think Earhart was a gentleman and Sealock a Miss?

—wander down the halls hunting for your room and hoping no one would notice how much you didn't know?

—bump into a half dozen other classes before you found your own?

—drift innocently in Tuesday morning to a M. W. F. class and wait half an hour for your instructor to come?

How did you like registration? Wasn't it great?

Now then, Old Deah!

Boston, Mass.—Recently during a baseball game between the Red Sox and the St. Louis Browns two British officers from the cruiser Constance couldn't quite understand why they were called the Red Sox and the White Sox owing to the fact that "they wore stockings and not sox." After the game they both admitted that the game was "deucedly better than cricket."

INTERESTING WORKS OF ART GRACE ART HALL

Walls of the main gallery of art hall are covered with works of various departments in the school of fine arts. The work was done largely under the direction of Louise Mundy,

Mrs. H. M. Brock, Miss Rush and Andrew J. Hangseth. Work in charcoal and life occupies the greater part of the exhibit.

The works are interesting especially in the large amount of freedom given the student in the work. As a result the works show more individuality than is usually the case. Much favorable comment has been made on the water colors and the work in applied art. The exhibit is said to be the best the university has ever held. Much work in ceremonies is on display in a number of the cases.
