NEBRASKA MEN AT Y. M. CONFERENCE

Fifteen Cornhuskers Start Return Trip to Lincoln on Monday

Enjoy Ten Day Meeting at Estes Park—Make Trip in Cars

(Special to the Nebraskan)

Y. M. C. A. Conference Camp, Estes Park, Colo., June 19.—The delegation of University of Nebraska students who have been attending the ten day Rocky Mountain Student conference here left today for Lincoln following the final meeting of the conference Sunday night.

Since June 9, more than 300 men from universities and colleges in Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Utah and New Mexico have been playing, conferring and generally enjoying themselves. Every man of them affirms that he will return here next year if he can in any way work it out.

The delegation of Nebraska men, comprising some fifteen University students, came to Estes Park in cars in order to attend the conference. They will start today on the return to Lincoln via the automobile highways.

Each day the students attending the conference have had chances to engage in athletic contests of various kinds; have gone on long hikes over winding, rocky paths to beautiful waterfalls, glaciers, and lakes. They have each day been treated to excellent food to appease their ferocious appetites resulting from the constant outdoor exercise.

Speakers of national repute have each day engaged the attention of the conferences. Two of them, Dr. G. Sherwood Eddy, world traveler, author and speaker, who aroused such enthusiasm during his visit at Nebraska last year, and Rev. E. A. Worthley, of Chicago, director of vocational guidance in the Methodist church, and formerly Methodist student pastor at Nebraska, are well known to Cornhusker students.

The Nebraska students who have been attending the conference are William G. Alstadt, Clarence Dunham, Knox Burnett, Raymond Bieser, Raymond Eller, J. Wilbur Wolf, Carroll Prouty, J. Greath Spickler, J. Earl Smith, Paul McCaffree, Harry Sholtz, Glen Kendall, R. S. Russell, C. E. Baker and "Bob" Polk.

WIFE OF FORMER LAW DEAN DIES AT OMAHA

Mrs. W. G. Hastings, wife of W. G. Hastings, former dean of the state university law college and for four years a member of the supreme court commission, died at 3 a. m., Sunday at the family home in Omaha. Mrs. Hastings had been in ill health and an invalid for a number of years.

The body of Mrs. Hastings will be taken to Wilber, Neb., Tuesday for interment, where the family had lived for many years.

BASEBALL STARTS!

Twilight league baseball will start this week. According to plans now being worked out at the athletic office, the first of the games will be played on Wednesday. Baseball players who have not yet signed up but wish to have a place on some team should report at the athletic office. A sixth team is wanted and it is probable that it will be picked from among men who have not yet applied for positions on special teams.

EXTENSION DIVISION OFFICES ARE MOVED

Professor Reed and Staff Move to Social Science—Faculty Men's Club Takes Old Office

On account of the growing popularity of the University cafeteria and the ever increasing pressure for more room for the eating house, Professor Reed and his staff of extension workers have been forced to vacate from their offices on the second floor of the Temple building and to take up quarters in the old undergraduate study room and quiz room on the first floor of Social Science hall. The change is made so that the Faculty Men's club rooms, which were in the basement of the Temple building might be changed to the former extension division headquarters and the cafeteria might expand into the club rooms.

The change is satisfactory all around. It allows the cafeteria to make use of more room and consequently to handle the feeding operations of more students. The second floor location for the Faculty club rooms allows the instructors to enjoy their little lounging hours without the noise of clattering dishes next door. It also provides them with a larger place for their pleasure rooms. The Faculty club rooms have a billiard table and other conveniences which make the rooms a pleasant place for instructors to meet for a short chat and social hour.

The new location for the extension division will undoubtedly prove beneficial. The Temple building location was greatly out of the way and the move to Social Science hall enables the extension office to handle its work more conveniently by virtue of its being closer to the campus general.

Eventually it is hoped that all offices may be moved away from the Temple building and the structure used solely for a recreation, religious and general social center.

Lena Jones will teach at Guide Rock this coming year.

Marie Mills will teach in the English department at Indianola, Nebr.

Helen Dunlap will teach in the Latin department at Ashland.

F. E. Bishop will be superintendent of schools at Oakland next year.

UNIVERSITY PLACES 96 TEACHERS IN MAY

During the month of May the University of Nebraska bureau of recommendation was instrumental in placing ninety-six teachers in schools of the state. The bureau maintains offices in the Teachers' college building and is constantly in touch with vacancies in schools of the state. Its primary purpose is to keep university students who desire to teach and alumni of the university informed as to openings in the teaching profession and to bring the superintendents and prospective teachers together.

HUSKER R. O. T. C. SHOW 'EM ALL UP

Nebraska Men at Fort Snelling Startle the Natives With Volley of Yells

University of Nebraska men in training at Fort Snelling, Minn., are putting the Cornhusker school on the map in that part of the country. Impressions of early camp life are contained in the following letter written to the Summer Nebraskan by D. S. McVicker of Company A.

FORT SNELLING, Minn., June 19.—The R. O. T. C. men arrived at Fort Snelling yesterday morning. Several army trucks met us at the train and after the usual display we were hauled out to camp. Most of the men arrived on the morning trains and the Nebraska men rather startled the natives with some real Nebraska yells. We sang the chant and then gave old number one in the union station at St. Paul. None of the other schools displayed their spirit and we feel that we have the peppiest bunch at camp.

About twenty-five of the men met at Omaha and took a special coach over the Great Western to St. Paul. Mr. Minkler one of the officials of the road made the trip with us and gave us every possible courtesy. The smokes, gum and all kinds of service were ours without the slightest expense. At Carroll and Ft. Dodge, Ia., shirt tale parades were in order and the best of spirit was shown all the way along. The coach was decorated fittingly and kept things moving pretty lively until the wee small hours of the morning.

On arriving in camp we were immediately registered and our equipment was issued to us. After that came the first meal out of our mess kits. It is needless to say that it was very hilariously greeted. In the afternoon the men were given their physical examinations and after a few instructions we were at our leisure.

The advanced course men are in the 3rd Platoon of Company A, with Captain Hagan in charge. The basic course men are in the 2nd Platoon of Company C, with Captain Knight in charge.

William H. Thompson will be the athletics instructor at Council Bluffs, Iowa, next year.

Turner was tied for high jump honors with eight other high jumpers for fifth place in that event at five feet nine inches. Gardner placed fifth in the 880-yard run.
