IT'S ENDED

It is ended. That is what we must say today as this last issue of the Summer Nebraskan is printed. It is ended—for this summer at least.

It is with a feeling of deep regret that this last issue, this last editorial, is published. It has been with a feeling of joy that we have watched each story from the time we first "dug it up" until we finally sent it out over the mail.

When the first issue of the paper was published last June, we wished that we were at the point we are today. We wished the Summer Nebraskan had never been invented. Because, we found, this university was not abounding in news matter. At least that was the impression we got when we came into the office day after day and found many a story on the spindle. It was then we decided it depended on us, and no one else cared, apparently, whether we got the news or not, whether we could carry the paper through or not.

So we went to work and dug out the news wherever we found it. We followed to the best of our ability every little "tip" that came to the office. And we managed to fill every paper with what we believed would interest the Cornhuskers. Some few stories had to be used for fillers but we found that if we worked and went after it, there was plenty of news around the campus.

Now we have come to a point where we no longer need to chase down "tips". We can tuck ourselves together. We don't need to each day hunt up news to fill the paper. It is with a feeling of sorrow that we do this. It means we have come to the end. No longer can we open each letter hoping that there will be some inkling of news contained therein. Whether we have conducted a successful paper is for our readers to decide.

It was to serve them we worked. It has been fun all along and now we wish we were only starting, not ending.

ATTEND THE FAIR

Nebraska's fifty-fourth state fair and exposition will be held in Lincoln September 3 to 8. In view of the fact that fees must be paid by September 7 and registration week starts September 8, students should so arrange their time as to enable them to come to Lincoln early and attend a day or two at the fair.

We sometimes wonder how many people ever thought of the state fair as an institution which occupies a paramount position as a reflection or index of sentiment in the community in which it is held; that the type of exhibits displayed and the character of the fair promoted advertises either advantageously or disadvantageously the interests the people have in meeting the exigencies of the situation.

The state fair is a graphic method of portraying what has been accomplished from one year to another; it is the blackboard on which is pictured the result of progress, initiative, and the application of better methods and closer study.

The state fair is an inspirer of community co-operation, of work-together spirit and of common weal. The immediate purpose of this is to better conditions by stimulating greater and better production, by teaching through comparative methods the secret of larger individual and collective profits, which, in turn, can be expressed in improved living.

The state fair imparts knowledge and information through exhibits and models. This method saves time, and time, to the average citizen, is all important.

The state fair is the show window of our community, and the people are measured by the kind of a show they offer at their state fair.

The state fair is the only institution in the land offering such graphic portrayals and high class recreation and for so nominal a cost. The progressive citizen can well afford to spend a day or two at the state fair. A visit to this institution should be included in your program for the first week of September.

"DREAMLAND" LATEST IN DANCE PAVILIONS

Lincoln will have this year, one of the best equipped party houses in the west. Dreamland Dance Pavilion will open Saturday, September 2. Subscription dances will be given Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights. Leo Beck, Northwald and Belshaw will be the orchestras those nights. Dreamland is all the name implies. The equipment, decorating and lighting were done by artists and there is nothing in the west that compares with this hall.

DELIANS HAVE FAREWELL PARTY

The Delian literary society will hold a farewell party Wednesday evening. A watermelon feed will be held. All members meet at the conservatory at 7:30.

PREPARE LIST OF AVAILABLE ROOMS

A drive to secure a list of all the people in Lincoln who have rooms to rent to students is being completed. Miss Amanda Heppner, dean of women, has charge of the compilation of the women's rooms and the University Y. M. C. A. is making out the list of rooms for men.

MONEY COLLECTED AS TICKETS SOLD

stop him in an effort to sell an athletic season pass.

Members of the "N" club and students who will try out for positions under the student manager plan to be started at Nebraska this fall will be the salesmen for the tickets. Other volunteer workers are being sought.

Same as Last Year

The tickets will be practically the same as those of last year. They will have coupons for each athletic event during the year together with a card granting a one year membership in the University Tennis association. The tennis cards were left out of the tickets last year but they will be delivered with each ticket sold this year. The tickets for 1922-23 will serve as season passes to all football, basketball, baseball and track contests staged at Nebraska as well as every other minor athletic contest.

No Rebates on Tickets

There will be no rebates on the season athletic tickets this year. Last year a plan was followed whereby the students paid $2.00 when buying the tickets and, in case the sale did not exceed 2,000, the same amount in three later payments. The sale reached close to 3,000 and the final $2.50 was cancelled.

Last year was the first time season athletic tickets were sold at Nebraska. The plan was worked out by Neil T. Chadderton, resigned agent of student activities. The sales campaign was extremely successful and nearly 3,000 tickets were sold. More are expected to be taken up this year than last.
