

AWGAN IS READY TO SPRING FORTH FULL OF MIRTH

Editors of the Nebraska Comic Publication Have Been Hard At Work During Summer.

CONTRIBUTIONS WANTED

Subscription Drive for the Nationally Known Nebraska Publication to Come Soon.

The biggest year Awgwan has ever known—this is the slogan of the editors of Nebraska's comic magazine for 1922-23. And if burning the midnight oil will help any, their prophecy is destined to come true.

Kor the past two months, things have been becoming on the Awgwan staff. The editor, Orvin B. Gaston, 23, and the managing editor, Robert F. Craig, '24, have been in Lincoln the entire summer and have been actively engaged in perfecting the plans to put the magazine on a very successful basis. Addison E. Sutton, '24, business manager, has been on the ground since August 1 and has everything in readiness for the year.

The September issue of Awgwan will appear early next week. It has been christened the "Opening Number" and if the advance dope on this issue is dependable, it will indeed be an eye-opener. The art work is receiving special attention and work done by several well-known university artists will appear in the initial number. The cover design is a strikingly clever drawing by an artist of exceptional ability, done in three colors. This cover alone will be well worth the price of the book, say the editors.

Practically all the copy for the "Opening Number" is now in and already gone to the printers. The editors express great satisfaction at the enthusiasm and willing response shown by staff members. "Wait until you see this first issue of Awgwan," said Craig yesterday. "It is the equal of any issue I have ever seen and inasmuch as all the copy was written and edited before the beginning of school it is really a remarkable book."

There will be nine issues of Awgwan this year and the size is to be increased from twenty-eight to thirty two pages. The same old subscription price will prevail—one dollar for the entire year, twenty cents the copy. A campus-wide subscription drive will be held shortly after the close of the coming athletic ticket campaign. Watch for the opening number.

SELL NEBRASKAN ON THE CAMPUS ALL THIS WEEK

Monday and it is expected that every house will come across with one hundred per cent subscriptions in that one day. The plan for the houses provide that any organization may have the Nebraskan delivered free each morning before breakfast upon the taking of twenty-five subscriptions.

Thirty dollars down and twenty dollars at the beginning of the second semester will bring the free delivery service.

Big Prizes

First prize of twenty dollars and second prize of ten dollars will be won by the two organizations which sell the greatest number of subscriptions on the campus. It is expected that those competing will have at least three or four members on the campus soliciting subscriptions until the close of the campaign.

No prizes will be given this year to individuals for selling subscriptions to the paper. Those wishing to have the Nebraskan mailed to them outside of Lincoln may subscribe by sending their two dollars for the entire year to the circulation manager. Papers will be mailed in Lincoln for the whole year upon payment of $2.80.

Wear Tags

The circulation manager in charge of the campaign requests that everyone who has already subscribed for the Nebraskan, year his or her tag to classes this week in order that no one may be asked to subscribe a second time. Everyone on the campus wearing a Nebraskan tag before the campaign ends is the goal set by those in charge.

There has been no general campus campaign yet and a good share of the subscribers have not as yet been reached. The paper will be the size of this issue. It will be published as the official paper of the University five days a week, four pages each day. Today's paper is given free to all students and members of the faculty.

SEASON TICKET DRIVE SET FOR COMING MONDAY

introduced in the combined season ticket book issued last year. A purchaser will be entitled to:

1. Admittance to the student section at all of the five big football games this fall.
2. Eight basketball games.
3. Three basketball dances, which follow the three most important games of the year.

4. Every track meet.
  5. Every baseball game of the season.
  6. Cross country competitions.
  7. Every wrestling meet of the season.
  8. Full privileges of the university tennis courts are extended to those students who hold the season tickets.
- The students who purchased season tickets last year were almost unanimous in their endorsement of the plan for selling privileges for every athletic event on the schedule. The plan simplifies the problem of constantly canvassing the students at all times of the year for each department of athletics in itself. It insures every athletic privilege for the students at a cost of much less than under the former plans. Further than this, the unit plan equalizes the support of every kind of athletic competition in which the Nebraska athletes engage.

Cash Payment Only.

Season tickets will be sold this year for cash payment of seven dollars and a half. The entire amount will be collected at the time of the sale of the tickets and thus eliminating any bother to the student in the form of a bill for part payment. Many students advocated that they would rather make a deposit and be dunned several times for the rest.
