

ELECTION OF CLASS PRESIDENTS TO BE HELD TODAY

STUDENT CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATIONS BEGIN DRIVE FOR NEW MEMBERS

Membership in University Christian Association on New Basis

WIDE RANGE OF WORK

Opportunities for Leadership in Boys' Classes Given to Members

"Why the 'Y' slogan adopted for the Y. M. C. A. membership campaign, will be answered today by letters, signs, pamphlets and individuals. Any student willing to subscribe to the Y. M. C. A. principles is welcomed as a member. There are no dues or contributions to be paid.

Previous to this year, all University men have been considered members of the association. This year, however, only those interested will be invited to join and it is believed that in this way more and better work will be done. Membership is based on interest and service and no distinction is made as to creed or race. Every member has a voting privilege.

"The Y. M. C. A. is a democratic organization," says Clarence Dunham, president. "The membership is the final authority through the ballot box. Officers are elected for a one-year term. The president with the other officers choose a cabinet of ten or twelve men who become responsible for the association program. These men are assisted in their work by committees. Any one desiring a place on these committees may indicate the kind of work he wishes to do on the membership blank."

The University Y. M. C. A. has a wide sphere of activity. It undertakes the work of finding rooms for the out-of-town students. Over one thousand students found living quarters in this way. Nearly 250 jobs were located for students through the employment bureau conducted by the Association. Two thousand "N" books were distributed and that many directories containing the names of all students with phone numbers, addresses and affiliations, are being printed.

Opportunities for leadership in boys' classes are given to "Y" members. Freshman members are welcome to attend an organization especially planned for them. Its next meeting will be held Wednesday night at 8 o'clock at the city Y. M. C. A. building. Club rooms and study rooms are available at all times. These activities represent the more social side of the organization.

The Association is really the organized result of a student movement to unite the spiritual and moral forces of the campus for the purpose of developing and conserving Christian manhood. It is an association of men students who are open-mindedly searching for the truth and who are willing to apply the moralities of Jesus Christ to the problems of everyday University life.

Some ninety workers will be asking students to join the association. The Y. M. C. A. is putting on a campaign at the same time.

Freshman Y. M. C. A. To Meet Saturday

At the meeting of the Freshman Y. M. C. A., Wednesday evening at six o'clock, election of officers and preliminary organization of the club will be accomplished. "Epitaphs" will be the subject of a lively fifteen-minute talk by Harry F. Huntington, Methodist student pastor.

A short speech by C. I. Vessey of the H.Y. will precede the business meeting. Robert Shield will preside. The program will be given in the club room of the city "Y" and will be preceded by a spirited "sing."

Sorority Presidents Are Asked to Meet

Miss Amanda Heppner, dean of women, called a meeting of the presidents of sororities Monday afternoon at five o'clock. The purpose of the meeting was to interpret the W. S. G. A. rules and discuss social problems. A meeting of all presidents of sororities, dormitories and rooming houses will be held later under the direction of the W. S. G. A.

Y. W. C. A. "Invitation Week" Opens Today to Distribute Pledge Cards

ASK NO CONTRIBUTION

Week To Be Officially Closed Tuesday October 7—Candle-Lighting Services

"Invitation Week" for the Y. W. C. A. begins today, and continues until next Tuesday.

The membership of the Association differs from that of any other organization on the campus. There is no fee attached, and every girl is invited to become a member. The only qualifications are a sincere desire to be affiliated with the organization, and a willingness to sign the pledge card. A committee consisting of Jeannette Cook, chairman, and three sub-chairmen, each of whom captains a corps of ten workers, is attempting to place in the hands of every girl on the campus the card on which is given the creed of the organization as well as the information blank, in which is included the choice of committee work.

All girls who are not reached by members of the committee are urged to see the University Association secretary, Miss Appleby, in Ellen Smith Hall.

This is not a "Membership Drive"—students are especially urged not to sign cards merely to "get rid of" the members of the committee. There should be a certain amount of consideration of the purpose of the Association, as well as of the desire of the individual to affiliate herself with it.

The week is officially closed on Tuesday, October 7, by the candle-lighting Vesper service, at the usual time of these services—five o'clock—in Ellen Smith Hall. This is one of the most impressive as well as one of the most inspirational and beautiful services of the Vesper year. All girls, whether members of the Association or not, are invited to attend.

FERGUSON SPEAKS TO FRESHMEN ENGINEERS

"How to Study" was the subject of Dean Ferguson's address to the freshman engineers yesterday at five o'clock at convocation in M. E. 204. "Education is an opportunity nothing more. What you get out of your attendance at the University of Nebraska depends on what you put into it. Mere attendance does not guarantee self-education, which is the only real education," he declared.

"Proper mental attitude, understanding of what is read, system, mental initiative, proper habits and methods of work, are the five essentials of study. For the first, discrimination between fact, deductions, and opinion is necessary. To attain the second, definite ideas on every subject should be formed. Learn the fundamentals accurately and refer everything else to them for the third requisite. As for the fourth, do not do simply what you are told to do—take time to think," was the substance of a part of his talk.

"The right man in the right place is the aim of education. If you decide that your course is not suited to your abilities and find it necessary to change, do not be discouraged. That is not failure," he concluded.

An engineers' smoker scheduled for next Friday, and the start of the membership campaign for the A. A. E. was the subject of an announcement made to the freshmen by Paul Kreuch, president of the A. A. E. before the dean spoke.

Dental Clinic Now Enlarged

The Clinic which is held in connection with the Dental School is serving a larger clientele than ever before. The attendance averages eighty on week days and on Saturday reaches 125. The Clinic is well equipped to serve this number, having forty chairs and eighty operators under the supervision of four graduate dentists.

This department of our dental school is self-supporting. A small fee, sufficient to cover expenses, is collected from each patient and this is put into a budget. It is the aim of the Dean to have this budget balance so the service given the people of Lincoln will not revert to the taxpayers of the entire state.

"Fifteen hundred of the twenty-two hundred inhabitants of the village of Oberammergau were in the play," said Miss Appleby. "It was interesting to note that the cost of lodging, meals and one of the best seats for the play was only two dollars."

CHOOSE HONORARY COLONEL AT POLLS

Honorary Cadet Colonel To Be Chosen From University Girls at Election

A Nebraska co-ed from the junior or senior class will be elected honorary colonel of the cadet regiment at a special election to be held in connection with the presidential election today.

Special ballots are being provided for the vote on the colonelcy and these will be deposited in ballot boxes separate from the class ballot boxes. The voting will be in the same booths and during the same hours—from 9 to 5—as the regular fall election.

No filings or nominations have been made for the position of honorary colonel so that students have a choice from any of the girls of the upper classes. The name of the successful co-ed will be announced until the evening of the annual military ball in December. The election this year is the first of its kind at Nebraska, although similar plans have been used at other Universities for some time.

The military officers are urging that all students cast votes for the honorary colonel although there is no contest in their class for the office of president for the first semester. The aim is to make the choice as representative of the entire student body as possible. Besides the vote on class officers and the colonelcy, there will be the election of stadium representatives to attract the students to the polls today.

Plans of the military department for the military ball include having the honorary colonel accompany the colonel of the cadet regiment in leading the grand march. The military ball will open the formal season and extensive plans to make it better than any preceding event of its kind at Nebraska.

Later in the season the honorary colonel will review the regiment. She is to wear one of the new uniforms designed for the officers of the local unit.

Kearney Students Give Big Picnic

The Kearney Club held its first picnic of the season on Friday evening in the Pen Woods. There was a good feed by the campfire followed by election of officers for the coming year. The party then adjourned to Antelope Park and played games. The party was chaperoned by Professor and Mrs. Cochran.

TO ELECT STADIUM COMMITTEE TODAY

Executive Committee to Help Raise Funds for Memorial To Be Chosen

An executive stadium committee to co-operate in the effort to raise funds for Nebraska's new memorial stadium will be chosen by the student body today in the class elections. This is the first time that members of any committee have been elected by the student body.

Five students from each college are to be elected for the committee, regardless of year in the college. No nominations have been made, and there has been no filing of candidates for membership on the stadium committee. By that system each student will be allowed to make known his choice of men and women in his college. The Student Council is urging students to have definitely in mind the names of the five students for whom they wish to vote when they go to the polls.

The Student Council is supervising the election of the committee and the class elections Tuesday. An effort is being made to stamp out all electioneering on the campus. No electioneering is to be allowed at the doors of the polls.

The polls will open at 8 o'clock Monday morning and will close at 5 o'clock. Votes will be counted by members of the Student Council immediately after the polls close. Results of the election can be secured at the Daily Nebraskan office as soon as the ballots are counted.

The location of polls will be the same as for elections last year. On the city campus the election booths will be in the Carpenter shop, which is just north of University hall. On the Agricultural campus the Ag men and women will cast their votes in Dean Burnett's office.

HUSKER GRAD FROM JAPAN VISITS HERE

Manager of Westinghouse Electrical Company at Tokio Visits Dean Ferguson

Mr. Ivan F. Baker, E. E. '09, manager for Japan of the Westinghouse Electrical International company at Tokio, visited Dean Ferguson of the College of Engineering in his office yesterday. Mr. Baker's work in Japan has been to develop the market for electrical appliances. He has progressed so far that he returned to choose a staff of experts, and visited his family and friends in Lincoln on the way back. Clarence A. Johnson, E. E. '06, will report for duty in Tokio this fall.

Mr. Baker said that two-thirds to three-fourths of the electrical power in Japan is derived from water power. The price of kerosene has brought the electric light into almost universal use. Electrical heating and cooking appliances are also coming to the front.

Meters are rare in Japan, according to Mr. Baker, charges being made on a flat rate. Because of the small dependence put on metering by the Japanese, American companies pay no particular attention to that field of work. As a result cheap meters of German manufacture are about the only ones in use.

The great spinning industry of Japan demands almost continuous power. This creates a good market for American machinery for any interruptions due to breakdowns are extremely expensive. Accordingly price becomes a secondary consideration and only the highest class of machinery is installed.

Japanese business men received favorable comment from Mr. Baker. They are especially noted for their integrity, he said. The word of a man of any standing in the business world is literally as good as his bond. He himself, accepted several contracts by verbal agreement that were later confirmed in writing in spite of price slashes by competitors.

Junior President
Leo V. Sherer.

Ward S. Kelley,
Frank D. Scriven.

Freshman President

Today is election day!
The annual fall election for presidents of the classes will be held today on the city and Agricultural college campuses under the direction of the Student Council. Added interest will be caused by the special elections to be held in connection with the regular voting to choose representatives for the stadium committee and also an honorary co-ed colonel for the cadet regiment.

Polls open at nine o'clock and close at five, staying open during the noon hour for those who have classes during the morning and afternoon. They are located in the carpenter shop just north of U hall and in the office of Dean E. Burnett on the Agricultural campus. All Agricultural men and those Agricultural women who have Tuesday classes on the Agricultural campus are required to cast their ballots at the Dean's office during the same time, as the booths are open on the city campus.

Changes in Filings
A new candidate for senior president filed Monday morning, thus making a contest in the fourth-year presidential race. Leo Sherer is assured the office of junior president by reason of the fact that no one filed against him. Clement Gaughan, who filed Friday for freshman class president withdrew his name before the filings closed and thus left the race between Funke and Casten. Gaughan withdrew in favor of Funke.

Tomorrow the Nebraskan will print pictures of the four class presidents for the first semester and will announce the names of the students who have been chosen to serve on the central stadium committee.

Platforms
S. Arion Lewis, Jr.—candidate for the senior class presidency—comes from Omaha and was awarded one of the ten scholarships in the law college where he is a senior this fall. He is a member of Phi Tau Epsilon, Phi Omega and Delta Theta Phi law fraternities. Lewis was a member of Green Gobblins and Iron Sphinx, and has been captain of Company "G" in the cadet regiment. He served as a member of the freshman and sophomore Olympics committee as well as the junior debate committee.

Lewis announced that he stands for a stronger class organization than having more representative class officers and less politics.

Robert L. Polk of Lincoln, is a candidate for the presidency of the fourth-year class. Polk is in the Arts and Science college and is a member of the present student council. He was a Green Gobblins during his freshman year.

Leo V. Sherer, probably elected president of the junior class, has won his "N" in football for two consecutive years. He is a member of the "N" club and was sales manager of the 1922 Cornhusker. He served on the Olympics committee.

Sherer announces as his platform:
1. New stadium and gymnasium.
2. Clean athletics.
3. Democracy at Nebraska U.
4. Higher standards in University publications.
5. Fostering of Nebraska traditions.

Sophomores
Ward S. Kelley, candidate for sophomore president, comes from Omaha, where he attended Central high school. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and a member of Iron Sphinx.
