SPHINX WILL ENFORCE GREEN CAP ULTIMATUM

Vigilance Committee Appointed to Report All Violations of the Emerald Headgear Decree

DEANS BACK COMMITTEE

Caps Must Be Worn at All Times by Freshman or Be Brought to Trial by Authorities

Strict enforcement of the wearing of the green caps by the freshmen of the University of Nebraska is to be instituted this week by the Iron Sphinx, sophomore men's society. The innocents have decreed that first year men must wear the emerald headgear during waking hours, seven days a week, including dates, church, etc.

A vigilance committee of Chet Beardsley, Breese Hackett, Robert Stevens and Frederick Fall with Wilbur C. Peterson as chairman, is to have charge of the enforcement. The committee will place a box in U hall, where all students, freshmen to seniors, will place the names of freshmen who are not wearing the green caps. These men will be called before a council to answer to the charges and receive proper punishment is found guilty. The innocents and Dean of Men Fred T. Dawson are absolutely backing the Iron Sphinx in the action.

Frank Frye, historian, was elected secretary to take the place of Herman McDougal, who did not return to school. Philip Lewis was elected as sergeant-at-arms to take the place of Hugh Snyder.

Initiation of men to take the places of those who did not return will be held Thursday, October 12. The members of the initiation committee, A. Barrett, chairman; Junior Hinman and Noel G. Rorby, will have charge of the ceremony. The committee on new men, Art Latta, chairman, Wendell Berge and Charles Adams, has charge of informing the fraternities as to who have a right to have men initiated.

Dean of Men Fred T. Dawson made a rousing speech at the first of the meeting on politics. He asked the Sphinx to put Nebraska first. He asked that they ask men from other fraternities to lunch with them and so help create a closer friendship. He also urged the men to see that the sophomores get out for the student manager positions. He declared that the second-year men are as yet very lax as to the number who have been working for the positions. He explained the plan fully, telling how much such a position was worth to any man. The Sphinx unanimously endorsed Dawson in all that he said and he went away amid a storm of applause.

Marion Harlan, chairman of the Olympics committee, was instructed to get some action to get sophomores training for the various events. He will meet with the other members of the committee, George Scott and George Carpenter, and will call for tryouts for sophomore men within the next few days. The Olympics are two weeks from next Saturday.

The next meeting will be held at the Delta Chi house, Sixteenth and R streets on October 17 at 7:15 p. m.

FOOTBALL RALLY ON NIGHT BEFORE SO. DAKOTA GAME

Dawson and Hartley to Speak at Big Convocation on Night Before First Gridiron Contest

TO TRY OUT CHEER LEADERS

Every Student in School Is Expected at the Friday Night Rally for the Team

Cornhusker spirit will receive a fresh impetus toward a Saturday victory over the Coyotes in a football rally in the Armory at 7:15, Friday. Coach Dawson and Captain Hartley will speak, and the team will be introduced individually. The University band will be present, full strength, to lead the students in singing Nebraska songs. Cheer leaders will try out their new movements on the assemblage. Chauncey Nelson, president of the innocents, who are in charge of the rally, will preside.

Fraternities and sororities are urged by the innocents to set the example to the other students by each attending in a body. One of the oldest traditions of the institution is the football rally on the evening before a game. Those in charge expect every student to come prepared to shout himself hoarse. The attendance of freshmen, in particular, is insisted upon by the perchless. For many of them this will probably be the first opportunity to learn the songs and yells—to realize what a victory means to the students; to see their team and to encourage it to win.

Freshman Requested To Turn in Uniforms

Members of the football squad who have taken out equipment, and who are not now reporting for practice are notified to return equipment Thursday. Coach Dawson sends this notice: "The following freshmen must return their football equipment to the storeroom today or the locks will be cut from the lockers. Report to the Athletic Office at once.

Give A. A. E. Stag Party for Engineers

A Stag party for engineers is to be given Friday night as the beginning of a set of social functions sponsored by the A. A. E. The purpose is to get the students in the rather diversified departments of the Engineering Colleges into a closer contact with their fellows and also with members of the faculty. This is a new idea which has been worked out by the president, Paul C. Kreuch and his committee and they are anxious for its success.

Plans for this party have been taking definite form for only a short time, but the A. A. E. expect to put it across. Everything for the enjoyment of those attending has been provided; there will be cats, boxing, wrestling, fencing, music, and cards. The entire M. E. building will be used. Complete announcements will appear in the Friday Daily Nebraskan.

DAIRY JUDGING TEAM LEAVE FOR ST. PAUL

To Participate in Judging Contests in Connection With National Dairy Show

The College of Agriculture dairy judging squad left at six o'clock Wednesday evening for St. Paul, Minnesota. They are to participate in the college students judging contest held in connection with the National Dairy show. The judging will take place October 9. Some practice will occupy the time of the Nebraska team until the contest.

Twelve classes of cattle will be judged. They are: One class of cows, one of heifers, and one of bulls for each of the four leading dairy breeds, Jersey, Guernsey, Ayrshire and Holstein.

Fifteen teams entered in the contest a year ago. Milo Sherman of Nebraska won the Jersey scholarship of $400 for being the high judge of Jerseys.

The squad which left for St. Paul includes, Glen Hunt, Thomas Oliver, Frank Flynn, C. E. Houseworth and G. V. Jones. Three from this group will comprise the team which is being coached by Professor Ray F. Morgan of the Agricultural college. At the National Dairy congress at Waterloo, Iowa last week, a Nebraska team composed of Oliver Flynn, and Houseworth placed fourth in a field of ten.

Shields Elected President of the Y. M. C. A. Freshman

Robert Shields was elected president of the Freshmen Y. M. C. A. at the meeting held last night at the club rooms of the city Y. M. C. A. The other officers elected were as follows:

- Vice president—George Bowers.
  - Secretary—Lloyd Jones.
  - Treasurer—Charles Allen.
- A fifteen-minute address by Harry F. Huntington, University Methodist pastor was followed by short talks from George Bowers and Paul W. McCaffree, general secretary of the University Y. M. C. A.
- "Epitaph" was the subject selected by Mr. Huntington for his talk. The greatest monument a man can leave behind him is good work which he has done, according to Mr. Huntington. As an example of this he spoke of Sir Christopher Wren, designer of St. Pauls cathedral, London. Above one of the doors of the cathedral is written: "Sir Christopher Wren; if you would see his monument, look about you."
- Dr. Huntington quoted one epitaph to show that it made no difference to a man after he was dead whether he had an expensive tombstone or not. In some of the churches in England it was the desire of the inhabitants to be buried as near to the altar as possible. Naturally the more desirable positions commanded a higher rent than those further from the altar. One man, evidently of moderate means, who was buried just inside the door, had caused the following to be inscribed upon his marker:
- "Hearo lies I at the church's door,
Hearo lies I because I'm poor;
The further in the more you pay,
Yet hearo lies I as near as they."
Meaning that he was as near heaven as the richer men.

DEAN DAVIS TO LEAVE NEBRASKA DENTAL COLLEGE

Resignation to Take Effect as Soon as Successor Can Be Appointed

GOES TO MILFORD, DELA.

Will Be Head of the Dental Research Institute and Post-Graduate School

W. Clyde Davis, dean of the dental college today announced his resignation to take effect as soon as a successor can be obtained. Dean Davis goes to Milford, Delaware, to head a dental research institute and post-graduate school.

Dean Davis took his D. D. S. degree from the University of Iowa in 1881 and a B. S. C. degree in 1887 from York college. In 1898 Dean Davis was awarded an M. D. degree from Cutler university. In 1921 he took dental pathology at this University for his M. A. degree.

In his letter of resignation to the Chancellor Dean Davis declares that his relations with the University and its official personnel have been more than cordial. He points out the importance to the School of Dentistry and expresses hope that it will not be separated from the College of Arts and Sciences.

The statement which Chancellor Avery has given for publication expresses regret at the loss of Dean Davis, and declares that the school of dentistry is practically of his creation.

The letter follows:

October 4, 1922.
Chancellor S. Avery,
University of Nebraska,
Lincoln, Neb.
My Dear Chancellor:
I have been offered the position as head of a dental research institute and post-graduate school, with a material raise in salary. I have decided to accept this position and to tender you my resignation to take effect as soon as my successor has been secured.

It is only fair to the board of regents and you to state that my relations with the University and its official personnel have been more than cordial and that I have no memories other than those which are most pleasant. I have felt at all times that you were doing for the college of dentistry everything possible for its development and giving it all the financial support within your power. In cases where greater financial assistance has been withheld, I have fully realized that it was because of your desire to keep within the bounds of the wishes of our now heavily-burdened taxpayers. However, do not forget the college of dentistry, as it stands to serve a great purpose for the people of Nebraska.

I hardly need remind you that this college is one of the only seven dental colleges which are integral parts of great state universities. The members of my faculty and I are so concerned as to believe that it stands new among the greatest dental schools in the world. However, if that should be brought in question at this time, it is only the very near future when this perhaps dream of ours will be undisputed. Bear in mind that this college is peculiarly situated. It is, as all professional schools should be, resting in the very lap of the College of Arts and Sciences, which is the foundation college of an university. Its students have the benefit of one of the greatest departments in zoology and biology in the world and a chemistry department second to none. At the same time it does not sustain a relation to any other college of the University which would cause its students or faculty to take second place in the attention of the greater University faculty.

I shall be sorry to learn if at any time in the future politics or designing persons should manage, or even attempt, to divorce this college from the College of Arts and Sciences and remove it from the greater University influence which it now enjoys.

I shall stand ready at any time in the future to do all that my time will permit to assist this college to which I have already given the best years of my life.

I am,
Most sincerely yours,
(Signed) W. CLYDE DAVIS.

Chancellor Avery authorizes the following: "The dental college of the University"
