FRESHMEN SCRIMMAGE WITH VARSITY TODAY

Dawson Discovers Weaknesses in Husker Machine in Game With Coyotes.

A Freshman-Varsity scrimmage will feature today's football practice, to be open to the students. Hard work and lots of it, is Coach Dawson's program for the football squad for this week. The Husker mentor and his assistants discovered a number of weaknesses in the Cornhusker team during the Dakota game, and the coaches are busy ironing out these rough spots in the Husker eleven.

Despite the fact that the Husker machine ran up a tremendous score against the Coyotes, Coach Dawson's eleven is far from the finished team which it must be when it meets the Missouri Tigers two weeks from last Saturday. Line Coach Schulte has been giving the linemen some stiff drilling on charging, and charging in unison. Owen Frank has been devoting his work with the backfield to shifting, sidestepping and other tricks of a good backfield.

The practice last night was shorter than usual, the first team going in at 5 o'clock, after a tough scrimmage with the Yearlings. Nebraska's formidable staff of coaches, head Coach Dawson, Line Coaches Day and Schulte, End Coach Swanson, Backfield Coach Frank, and Freshmen Coaches Young and Towle, scrutinized carefully the work in the scrimmage, and were quick to point out and correct every fault.

The third open workout of the season which will be held this afternoon, will provide plenty of action for all students who come out to watch the practice. A Freshmen-Varsity or possibly a Varsity-Varsity game will be held. Coach Dawson intimated yesterday that there will be a Yearling-Varsity tussle next Saturday, October 14, which is the only open date on the Scarlet and Cream schedule.

"We won't win in track." This is what both coaches, Schulte and McMaster, say. "We won't win in track or cross-country unless more men get out and work right now."

Tryouts for cross-country varsity team will be held at 11 o'clock Saturday morning, October 21. The team picked will run against Missouri in the cross-country meet which comes at the same time as the Missouri game. The finish will come between the halves of the game, and will end on the field.

Coach Schulte of the track team said: "We only have about fifty men out for track and about fifty for cross-country. There should be five hundred. We have the making of a cross-country team in the men we have here at school, but we can't make it unless the men come out. Any man who expects to make the track team next spring except sprinters, hurdlers and field men should be out now for the cross-country run."

McMaster, coach of cross-country, says: "There are several places on this cross-country team that aren't cinched by any means, and if a man gets out and gets to work right away he's got a chance of making the team."

Sphinx to Paddle Delinquent Fresh

Freshmen take warning! Paddles are not for all those first-year men who do not appear on the campus or the streets of Lincoln at any time without their emerald head gear.

The Knights of Iron Sphinx last night took several first-year men to the Army. In the street in front they were sent through the gauntlet and by other means (to remain secret to the comms students) they were led to know that the decree of the innocents handed down some days ago, ordering all freshmen at the University of Nebraska to wear their green caps, twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week, must and will be obeyed.

Freshmen who escaped the "cleaning house" Tuesday evening should take heed. Another night raid will be held later this week by the Knights of Iron Sphinx and woe be to those freshmen caught without the proper headgear.

Students knowing of freshmen who are delinquent in the wearing of the green caps should report to any member of Iron Sphinx.

MORE GREEN CAPS
A second shipment of the renowned Freshman headgear has arrived and is being distributed by Magees. The arrival of the caps necessitates warning all freshmen who are not at present supplied with the scant grass-stained head pieces to secure them at once or undergo most severe consequences.

According to an announcement made by Professor John C. Swenson, chairman of the lyceum committee of the B. Y. P., Thurlow Liourance, famous composer of Indian songs, will be one of the attractions during the year. Mr. Liourance has probably done more than any other American composer gave it be Charles Wakefield Cadman, to collect and preserve the native music of the American Indian. He is the author of "The Waters of Minnetonka," a song which never ceases to thrill the hearts of the world.—University of Utah News.

Indiana university's famous 100-piece band will render a "world concert" at Indianapolis, Saturday, Oct. 14, following the Indiana-Minnesota football game. Arrangements have been completed with WOM, the Star Hatfield radio station, to have the concert broadcasted that evening.—Indiana Daily Student.

That the universities of Europe have little or no student life or activities as compared with the American colleges, was the statement of Dean Chandler in a recent interview. The small registration and the lack of equipment impressed him greatly and showed that in comparison to the universities abroad, Cincinnati university is truly a very large educational center. The students of the city colleges, such as those in Liverpool and London, are practically the same as the local types. Dean Chandler noticed that the foreign scholar is of a more mature nature or mind than the American, and that he pays little attention, if any, to the so-called student activities.

When questioned with regard to the status of the women, the Dean immediately spoke of Cambridge. Though women may attend the same lectures as men students, and spend as many hours on the campus, they can never receive degrees. Honors may be given women, but not degrees. That some of the men resent the presence of women was demonstrated at this college last year. The gates of Griton hall, one of the dormitories for women, were deliberately destroyed by a large group of men students, who thus sought to demonstrate their opposition.—Cincinnati University News.

A. A. S. U. R. assembly will be called an oath of allegiance to the University of Washington given to the freshmen each year will be announced later.

A freshman assembly at which the traditions of the university will be outlined by a member of the senior council will be held October 6.

In order to sell 150 tickets to Madison, Wis. for the Indiana-Wisconsin football game, October 21, campus leaders will hold a meeting at 7 o'clock tonight in Maxwell hall and discuss plans which were laid tentatively at the meeting last week when it was decided that the Madison trip would not be abandoned.

Three Oxford university students.

members of the team which will meet Columbia tonight in Horace Maon auditorium, received their first impressions of the Columbia campus yesterday afternoon. They were frankly surprised at the bustling air of the students. "Where's everybody going?" asked one of the debaters.

Edward Marjoribanks, captain of the team, said that he had most remarked the hospitality of the American college men. "We had expected to be treated like English soldiers in a German prison camp," he said, "but the attitude at the colleges seems more of a 'friendly enemy' spirit."—Columbia Spectator.

Washington's new yell, a spontaneous development at the Poughkeepsie crew race in June, will be presented to the student body at the Montana game in the Stadium tomorrow as the first yell in the new system of dignified rooting, to be adopted this year.

Yell king and dukes will stand on the field as the points in the letter "W" and a purple and gold path will connect them. All yells will be announced by the yell king alone.

The new rooting will resemble setting up exercises rather than the less dignified motions of the past. All movements on the part of the yell leaders will be of the arm and head alone.—Washington University.

"We have the diphtheria situation whipped," said Dr. J. E. P. Holland, university physician, late last night, after reports of two new cases Sunday and one yesterday morning had started wild campus rumors that reached the maximum of fabrication in a tale that the university would be closed and students quarantined if cases continued developing.

"There is no stock in such reports," Dr. Holland said "Although over 150 students visited the university office in the last three days with colds and sore throats, we have found only a total of six diphtheria cases.—Indiana Daily Student.

Prof. Robert M. Wenley, head of the philosophy department and one of the most popular members of the Michigan faculty, has been secured to address the yearlings. Professor Wenley's expression of Michigan spirit and ideals did much to augment the success of last year's Traditions night and due to this, he was placed on the program again this year. Vernon F. Hilbery, 25L, president of the student council, will speak in behalf of the student body.—Michigan Daily.

Professor Sears Has Returned to Nebraska

Paul B. Sears, assistant professor of botany, has returned to his work in the University after a year's leave of absence. During his absence Dr. Sears completed his graduate work at the University of Chicago and received his degree of Doctor of Philosophy, magna cum laude.

After finishing his work in Chicago, Sears sailed for England, where he visited most of the prominent botanical institutions and became acquainted with many of the prominent botanists there.

Following his studies in England Dr. Sears spent several weeks traveling and visiting the botanical centers in France and Germany.

At the University of Nebraska Dr. Sears has charge of certain sections in general botany, and is director of all the laboratories for the general courses.
