

PLAYERS SCORE HUGE SUCCESS IN FIRST PLAY

"The Thirteenth Chair" Opens Dramatic Season for the University.

ENTHUSIASTIC AUDIENCE

Cast Wins Honors in Difficult Presentation—Plot Deals With Murder Mystery.

Bayard Veiller's "The Thirteenth Chair" was played to a large audience last night by the University Players. Unexpected thrills held the audience tense. The excellent cast, lighting, and stage setting combined to present one of the best performances yet given by the Players.

Helen Wiggins, as Madame Rosalie LaGrange, the spiritualistic medium, took the honors of the evening in the opinion of the audience. She had a deeply interesting part and played it well.

John Dawson, as Tim Donohue, was an excellent inspector. He is an old favorite in character work.

Irma McGowan, as Mary Eastwood, carried a good part with ability.

Helen Burkett, as Helen O'Neill, played the lead. Her admirable performance won considerable applause.

Herbert Yenne, as Billy Crosby, played his usual juvenile role.

C. L. Coombs, as Phillip Mason, and Neil Brown, as Harry Crosby, were received with favor. They appeared in most of last year's productions.

Byron Quigley, as Edward Wales, merited special mention.

The play, itself, is a murder mystery that is apparently unsolvable. An inspector, in attempting to discover the murderer of a prominent business man, takes part in a spiritualistic séance with Madame LaGrange as the medium. He appeared to occupy the thirteenth chair, and at the close of the séance is found dead. The remainder of the play concerns the unravelling of the mystery of his death. "The Thirteenth Chair" was one of New York's biggest successes eight years ago.

Tonight and Saturday afternoon and evening, the play will be repeated. The complete cast is as follows:

- Helen O'Neill—Helen Burkett

Mrs. Walter Herbert, for some years the business manager of the Players, is now with the Ohio National Life Insurance Company, consulting a change in the business personnel.

"For professional reasons, the University Players have decided to bring about a more definite organization, so the Temple Stock Company has been formed. This will enable us to procure plays not otherwise available. But it is as the University Players that we will still hope to retain a place in your regard."—From last night's program. The program also announced the Players' intention of continuing the Children's Theatre, of introducing a few extra productions and of presenting one original play.

In celebration of the Moliere tercentenary, the University Players are bringing to Lincoln the Coffey-Miller Players who will present Moliere's "La Malade Imaginaire" at the Temple Theatre the evening of November 14.

The Coffey-Miller Players are a professional company from Chicago. They are presenting Moliere in all the surrounding universities.

Honorable Charles H. Norvill, who has contributed largely to the Nebraska State Museum, is in Lincoln for a month before going south for the winter.

Kosmet Klub in Charge of Inter-Frat Sing to be Held in Armory Tonight

A chorus of six hundred male voices will be heard by those attending the Kosmet Klub inter-fraternity sing to be held tonight at 7:15 in the Armory. This will be the third inter-fraternity sing held at Nebraska University and the Kosmet Klub committee in charge is planning to make this the biggest event of its kind every held here.

The number of men present, the harmony, the volume, and the cleverness of presentation are the factors which will enter into the winning of first place. The winning fraternity will be announced Sunday. Three judges who have not yet been selected will select the fraternity which most effectively and successfully presents its two songs.

Every fraternity on the campus will be represented at the sing. The event will be concluded in time for the listeners to have Friday night dates.

Beside serving to promote a spirit of good feeling among the fraternities the sing will take the place of a "pep" meeting for the "Fighting Cornhuskers" who left yesterday at 10:00 for their game with the Oklahoma Sooners.

The fraternity groups will be seated in the Chapel and the auditors will be in the balcony. As each fraternity is called upon for its two songs it will come to the front and present its numbers. The University Quartet and the Ragador and Northwall jazz orchestra will be in action.

The first inter-fraternity sing was

FRESHMAN COMMISSION ELECTS NEW MEMBERS

Twenty-five First Year Women Chosen for Campus Organization.

Invitations to membership in the 1922-23 freshman commission were issued Thursday morning by the Y. W. C. A. Twenty-five girls, half of whom must be non-sorority girls, make up the personnel of the commission each year. The general is to foster the spirit of the association on the campus. The retiring commission will act as hostesses to the incoming girls at a dinner Friday night at Ellen Smith hall at 6 o'clock.

New members are selected by the acting commission, the cabinet, and the Y. W. C. A. secretary. Election is based on merit only, and for this reason does not take place until time enough has elapsed for the new girls to be justly rated.

Meetings are held every two weeks. The commission meets occasionally with the Mystic Fish. Each member is responsible for interesting twenty-five freshmen in women's activities. During the winter a kid party for all freshman girls is given.

Because tendencies in the past have been to elect girls as presidents whom they would not have chosen later in the year, the Y. W. C. A. cabinet selects a senior from its number to act as president. Florence Price holds that position this year.

The members of the new commission are:

- Vivian Young
- Ruth Wells
- Vivian Varney
- Florence Wilson
- Mabel Rasmussen
- Doris Trout
- Helen Tomson
- Corine Anderson
- Mildred Upson
- Anna Anderson
- Anne Gerdes

- Dorothy Perkins
- Janice Anthes
- Nettie Ury
- Merle Walker

STADIUM ISSUE OF COMIC OUT MONDAY

November Awgwan to Come Off the Press Monday, November 1—New Stadium Cover.

The Stadium issue of the Awgwan will make its appearance on the campus next Monday, November 1. This is the second number of Nebraska's fun magazine, the first issue attracting through its cover design. This issue will have a three-color picture of the Memorial Stadium.

Old man Awgwan is featuring an editorial comment in his latest 32-page edition. He has given his sage advice on the proposed stadium and now that he has seen the drive go over the top one can expect him to have something to say about the success of the campaign. He has boosted in the by-gone days and he is boosting yet so watch for what he has to say. He has also taken interest in the comment that has been floating around the campus about the number of drives that have been conducted this year. When he has offered his opinion on the subject the question will undoubtedly be settled for he has seen our campus in turmoil before and knows the oil that will settle the troubled waters. Another editorial will discuss the causes and results of Nebraska spirit. Our lack of spirit has been noticeable at various times and the Old Man has undoubtedly developed a pancea that will give us the desired pep.

The cover has been drawn especially for the Awgwan by an artist who was formerly a student at Nebraska and is now studying in Paris. It will surpass any cover that has ever appeared on the campus as those who have seen it. The cover alone being worth the price of the entire copy.

Extra copies may be secured at Station A. The regular subscribers will also get their copies there.

Benson High Gives One Stadium Unit

(University Publicity Office). The students of the Benson high school of Omaha have contributed $25 toward the University Memorial Stadium, and will have their names inscribed on the bronze tablets that are to be placed within the portals of the structure. This voluntary pledge is accompanied by a letter which reveals the deep interest of the students in the stadium. Alumni officers and those who have been so holding pledges from University students are gratified to receive this contribution and to see the sincere concern of the high school students in a fitting memorial for the fallen heroes and a suitable field for Nebraska's athletes. Miss Mary McNamara, principal, sent the pledge on behalf of her students to Head Athletic Coach E. T. Dawson.

CORNCOBS WILL GO TO LAWRENCE GAME

Officers were elected at meeting of "Pep" Organization Thursday Night.

The Nebraska "Corncobs" a newly reorganized campus organization, will make the trip to Kansas in a body for the annual gridiron contest, according to the report from a meeting of the "Cobs" last night at the Kappa Sigma house.

Officers were elected for the coming year and the activities of the club outlined. "South" Milham was elected "Chief Cob." Rex Smith "Keeper of the Kernels" and Audley Sullivan "Cob Spreader."

William appointed a committee of three to meet with the student council this week to make the organization a permanent one and to complete the plans for going to Kansas.

Chicago—More than 600 students at colleges in the United States and Canada have entered the contest for prizes for the best essays on "The world movement against alcohol, the intercollegiate prohibition association announced today. Forty cash prizes will be awarded.—The Lincoln Star.

PICTURES MUST BE TAKEN SOON FOR CORNHUSKER

Dates for Organization Pictures Will Be Set Soon—January First Is Deadline.

CHANGE PHOTOGRAPHERS

Editors to Give More Time to Artistic Arrangement of Student Section.

All students must have their pictures for the 1923 Cornhusker taken at Dole's studio before January 1, according to an announcement made by the editors of the annual last night.

The contract for the big book has been let to Dole instead of Townsend's studio as in former years. The editors have given for reasons as to why the change was made that, although the photographers of last year are fully experienced in the mass work of the year-book photographs, it is felt that it is unnecessary to pay the advanced price which they are asking. The contract which has been made with Dole will allow the students to have their pictures in the Cornhusker without an advance in price which would otherwise have been necessitated.

No time extensions after the first of January will be allowed by the staff. Dole's studio is now open to University students and the editors of the annual urge those who do not wish to be caught in the last-minute rush to have their photographs taken without delay.

The executive committee of the Cornhusker for this year is being chosen at the present time and will probably be announced sometime next week. Members of the staff will be announced from time to time. Applications of those who desire to work on the 1923 book are being considered now.

On account of the fact that the student pictures are being taken earlier than usual this year, it is expected by the editors that more time will be available for artistic arrangement of the student section. Organization pictures will be taken before long but no definite dates have been set.

FRESHMEN STAGE FIRST PARTY SATURDAY NIGHT

Games and Dancing Planned for the First Party of Class of 1926.

With a whoop and a yell, the freshmen of the University will Saturday evening enter upon their first party. The All-University party committee, with Kenneth Cozier as general chairman, has turned the work of putting on a party for the first-year students in the hands of freshmen committees.

Since the announcement of the committees more than a week ago, the committeemen have been busy almost to the point of exhaustion preparing for the event. A formal program has been arranged. The doors will open at 8 o'clock and the early part of the evening will be spent with games after which will come the dancing, which will last until 11:30.

Is a Freshman Party.

Freshmen are especially urged to make it a point to attend this party. The first-year students have few chances during the year for an exclusive gathering and the party Saturday evening is one of the best methods for freshmen to become acquainted with one another.

Northwall's orchestra will furnish the musical harmony for the evening. Various other forms of entertainment have been prepared, including a full program of games for those students who care little about dancing.

The price of admission to the big party is 50 cents. This is the same price as that charged for the regular All-University parties. The freshman party furnished the first financial duties to the treasurer of the new class, all of the money going into the coffers of the freshmen.

Plenty of Room.

In years past, the freshmen have never been able to enjoy themselves in comfort at their first mixer. The partition which until this year separated the chapel and the Armory proper did not allow the first-year students nearly enough room for their fun. The floor space this year, however, is nearly double that of former years and the freshmen should have little trouble in enjoying themselves in comfort.

Girls are especially urged to attend this mixer. The men of the freshman class usually turn out en masse but the girls fear that they must have made no definite announcements as to whether or not they intend to accept the offer.

Five Hundred Parade to Station for Departure of Huskers for Oklahoma

The football team was given a big send-off yesterday by 500 loyal Cornhuskers. The band led the parade of students through the business section of the city to the station to wish the team success. The procession left the Temple at 1 o'clock in order to be at the station in time to sing some songs and give a few yells, but the train was twenty-five minutes late, so the rally broke up before the Cornhuskers entrained for their southern trip.

Coach Dawson was called upon for a speech. He told the paraders that "We're going to work and work hard for a victory. We don't expect a big score but we are going to get a victory." Chick Hartley spoke in behalf of the team. "We appreciate this turnout and pep session and we will try to show our appreciation by bringing home a victory," he said.

The enthusiastic crowd sang the Cornhusker and the chant, the band played the famous old song and the parade broke up after wishing the individual members of the team lots of success in their clash with the Sooners Saturday.

The team will probably be back Sunday morning, leaving Norman at 6 o'clock Saturday evening.

No University Unit for Armistice Day

No University unit will be included in the Armistice Day celebration in connection with the laying of the cornerstone of the new state capitol on November 11. Chancellor Avery will be in Baltimore, while the football team and a large crowd of students will be at Lawrence, Kansas, for the football game and the dedication of the new stadium there.

Chancellor Avery has given out the following statement in regard to the plans for the day:

"To the University Committee: "I regret that arrangements for Armistice Day, including the presence here of General Pershing and the Commander of the American Legion, were not known long enough in advance so that we could plan for full University participation in the events of the day. Personally, too, I must be absent at Baltimore to preside over the sessions of the Association of American Universities. I hope another year Armistice Day will be kept open for every one so that the University may participate as a unit in the parade. For this year, however, on account of the football game at Kansas and other circumstances it seems desirable to urge all Legionnaires belonging to the University to participate as members of their local units."

Dental School to Have Coon Hunt

The annual raccoon hunt under the auspices of the Dental School faculty and students will be held Saturday evening, November 4. This novel form of amusement was first started by Dean Davis several years ago and the interest aroused by its very uniqueness has caused the coon hunt to become a tradition in the Dental school.

This year's hunt will take place at Crete. To add zest to the affair, Dean Davis has offered a bonus of $5 to each colored man who succeeds in catching an animal. All students in the Dental school are looking forward to the event which has afforded such an opportunity for entertainment.

Nebraska's great football team, which left yesterday afternoon for Norman, is practicing on the Oklahoma City high school field today, in preparation for the big battle with Benny Owen's Oklahoma Sooners Saturday afternoon on Boyd field at Norman. The latest reports from both camps indicate that the two elevens are both in the best of condition for the clash.

The Scarlet and Cream machine, following the overwhelming defeat of Missouri last week, will enter the contest decided favorites. The Cornhuskers demonstrated last Saturday that they have one of the most powerful teams in the country today, and are expected to experience no great difficulty in lowering the Sooner colors. Benny Owen, however, has a machine which must be reckoned with, as the Sooners held the highly-touted Kansas Aggie crew to a 7-6 tie last week.

Coach Dawson can present his strongest lineup against the Sooners Saturday. The Husker squad, which went through but light practices this week, is totting no injured gridsters.

On the other hand, the Sooners will present a stronger lineup against the Nebraska team than they did against the Jayhawk Farmers last week. Captain Marsh, all-valley end, was recently declared eligible and will face the Huskers Saturday. Schaefer, center, who has been on the injured list, is back in the molokins. Clarence Morrison, halfback who was the sensation of the Aggie battle, has recovered from injuries received last week, and has been showing up in his usual stellar fashion.

The greatest strength of the Oklahoma eleven lies in the backfield. Pilot Straveille is handling the team with rare generalship. Hammett at one of the halves is proving a sensation, his offensive work being first-class, and his defensive work without a flaw. Ima Morrison at left half is the big noise in the Sooner backfield. Morrison is a wizard on end runs, and averages about fifty yards on each punt. The Oklahoma team is expected to try their famous aerial game Saturday.

Nebraska's Yearling team, which has been showing some real stuff in their scrimmages with the Varsity, proved their ability Thursday by defeating the reformatory eleven 77 to 6, in a one-sided contest. The game was played at the reformatory on a twenty-five yard field. It is rumored around the Armory that one of the Freshmen did not make a touchdown.

The big Eastern game for the Huskers, the contest with Syracuse, comes next week. The Syracuse crew will be one of the hardest stunts in the Cornhusker schedule. The Orange team completely outplayed the Pitt eleven last week, but lost 21 to 31. Coach Melham's strong team will meet the Penn State machine Saturday on the Polo Grounds at New York. A powerful eleven has been developed at Syracuse, which promises to give the Huskers no little difficulty on their long trip east next week.

Dartmouth Museum Has Relic Collection

Alumni visiting the college for Dartmouth Night are invited to visit the exhibits of relics of the early days which are now on display in both the College and Howe Libraries. The exhibits, which are being conducted in connection with the study of the history of Dartmouth in the freshman English course, include many old prints, engravings and wood cuts of the college buildings and prominent figures in the founding of the college.
