HOLD FIFTH ANNUAL BABY INTERNATIONAL

The fifth annual Baby International Livestock show was held Saturday evening, November 4, at the Judging Pavilion, Nebraska College of Agriculture. The Baby International is sponsored by the Block and Bridle club and is patterned after the International Livestock show held in Chicago each year.

The purpose of the show is threefold. It teaches the students how to fit and show animals, it gives the public a chance to see stock owned by the University and work done by the students, and it enables the Block and Bridle club to give some financial support to the judging team.

Much of the success in pure bred live stock raising depends upon what the public thinks of the type of animals a breeder has. If he can win at shows by fitting and showing his chances of success are increased.

Each year a live stock judging team represents Nebraska in several judging contests. This year the senior team was fourth at the contest held in conjunction with the National Swine show in Peoria, Ill. The team will also compete with teams from other colleges at Kansas City Royal, November 15, and also at Chicago on December 2 at the contest held in connection with the International Livestock Show. A junior judging team will be sent to Denver to take part in the contest at the Western Live Stock Show.

All receipts from the Baby International above expenses will go to pay the expenses of the judging teams.

Prof. F. W. Bell, instructor in animal husbandry at the Kansas State Agricultural College, judged the contest. Awards were made on the manner in which the students fitted and showed their animals.

The judging team consisting of Floyd Reed, Arnold Fouts, Lynn Grandy, Milo Sherman, Howard Haverland, Floyd Warren, Elton Lux and James Adams placed a class of steers, each giving a set of reasons.

The Agricultural College orchestra furnished music during the early part of the evening. The scrub farmer, his wife and boy also entered an animal and added much mirth to the occasion.

HUSKERS BOW TO ORANGEMEN IN FIRST REVERSE OF SEASON

Nebraska Still in the Race for Honors in the Missouri Valley—Play Syracuse on a Soggy Field—Fumbles Costly for the Huskers

THOMPSEN RACES FIFTY-FIVE YARDS TO A TOUCHDOWN

McBride Kicks Field Goal for the Orange in First Few Minutes of Play—Nebraska Scores and Then Cinches the Victory

Nebraska's fighting Cornhuskers met their first defeat of the season by a 9 to 6 score, when they clashed with the Syracuse grid machine in an inter-sectional contest in Archibald stadium in Syracuse yesterday.

Nebraska's only counter was scored in the third quarter when "Terrible Thompson," the Husker left end, made a sensational 55-yard run for a touchdown. Captain Hartley was a marked man. His attempts at the line were frustrated and Nebraska failed at all her forward passing.

The Orange warriors drew first blood by a field goal in the first quarter kicked by McBride. Syracuse's phenomenal placement kicker. The Syracuse touchdown was made in the fourth quarter when an Orange player recovered Hartley's fumble on Nebraska's 20-yard line. Line plunges carried the ball over the Husker goal. A slight pain fell the night before, making the field soggy. The wet field accounted in some measure for the lack of end runs and the failure of the Cornhusker aerial attack.

A crowd of 19,000 people including several dozen Nebraska graduates, who reside near the Atlantic seaboard, witnessed the game.

A play-by-play account of the game follows:

The freshmen won from the sophomores by a score of 2-0, and the juniors won from the seniors, 2-1, in the first class soccer games of the Girls' Inter-class Soccer Tournament, Friday afternoon on the field east of the Social Science building. Besse Epstein refereed the first game, and Mrs. F. W. Putney the upperclassmen's match.

Freshman team work and clever use of the outside forwards surpassed that of the sophomores. Marguerite Eastman and Harriet McClelland were stars for the freshmen.
