cause of the variation in the draft available for different installations.

3—Rules for Burning Coke and Anthracite Pea or Buckwheat.

(e) Carry a deep bed of fuel—even above the level of the fire door.

(f) Shake the grate to remove ashes and lower the fuel bed but stop when the first live coals appear.

(g) Spread a thin layer of anthracite over the entire grate and allow a few minutes for this fuel to ignite. Next fill the fire pot with coke, and allow this to burn until blue flame appears, then add another layer of anthracite.

(h) After firing and seeing that the charge is ignited, check off the draft to the desired point for slow burning.

(i) When banking the fire for the night, use less coke and more anthracite, but otherwise fire in the same manner.

(j) Anthracite pea or buckwheat can often be used alone with success. This will happen when the draft is unusually good and the furnace is amply large. Small size anthracite ignites slowly. It is best to fire one-half of the grate at a time, allowing the first half of the charge to ignite before adding the second half. Small sizes may be used in the fall and spring if not in the winter.

3—Rules for Burning Wood and Anthracite Pea or Buckwheat.

(k) Follow the rules for Coke and Anthracite, substituting Block wood for coke. It is highly important to see that the fuel is properly ignited and giving off flame before closing off the drafts.

4—Rules for Burning Bituminous Coal.

(l) Bituminous, or soft coal, will, as a rule, give out less heat than anthracite when fired in the ordinary residence heater. Hence more attention will usually be required when using soft coal.

(m) A deep fuel bed is desirable, also, as a rule, more draft by the dampers.

(n) After the fuel is partly burned, more heat can be obtained by breaking up the fire bed with the hoe or poker if the fuel bed is caked.

(o) Stir up the fire and get it hot before adding new fuel.

(p) Preliminary to firing a new charge, push the burned fuel to the back or sides of the fire box, heaping it high up on the sides of the fire box walls. Fire fresh fuel into the hole in the hot fuel bed, making it level with the heaped up burning fuel.

(q) After firing check the draft to make the fire burn slowly, setting the dampers as found best by experience.

(r) A large charge of soft coal will burn slowly for several hours, giving out moderate heat. If more heat is demanded, it can be secured by breaking up the partly ignited mass with the fire tools.

(s) A little air should be admitted through the slides in the fire door when burning bituminous coal.

HUSKERS HAVE GOOD WRESTLING SCHEDULE FOR COMING SEASON

names to Dr. Clapp, G296, Grant Memorial hall.

Soon after Christmas comes the final tryouts for the Varsity teams. It is believed at the present time that there will be a tryout before each meet. Dr. Clapp said, "From now on, the men are going to get down to real hard training, and I want the team in first-class shape before the Christmas holidays." Three letter men are out practicing from last year: Captain S. A. Troutman, 175 pounds and winner of first place in his weight at the individual meet at Columbus last year; Reed, 158 pounds, last year's captain, and C. A. Thomas, 145 pounds, and winner of third place in last year's individual meet. Promising wrestlers now are: Isaacson, 135; Renner, heavyweight, Skinner, 145. Besties, there are two men who were on last year's team but failed to make their letters who probably will show up well this year: Probes, 115, and Kellogg, 125.

There have been about sixty freshmen out, and a good many more men are expected now that the football season is over. Coach Dawson wants all football men to go out for wrestling for their own benefit in football. Coach Roper of Princeton, it seems, requires all football men to take wrestling and has a special instructor for that purpose.

One of the families consisted of an old man and his wife. The second was a family of seven, the father being ill and unable to work. The third was a widow with four children who had been quarantined. Before the illness of the children, the mother has earned money by scrubbing floors.

Former Cornhusker Gridiron Star Dies At Powell, Wyoming

F. E. Wiggins, a star on the Cornhusker football team in the late nineties, died recently at Powell, Wyo. He was graduated from the College of Arts in 1896 and from the College of Law two years later. He has lived in Wyoming for the last twelve years.

People who saw him play on the Scarlet and Cream squad in the early days will recall his ability to carry the pigskin for long end runs. He belonged to the old ranks that help put football in the University as the major sport.

He was a prominent citizen in Powell, having been president of the Park County farm bureau, president of the board of education, president of the water users' association, and teacher of a large Bible class for men in the Powell Presbyterian church.

Prof. Louise Pound of the department of English is the author of an article entitled "Intentional Misrepresentations of the Central West," which is given initial place in the fall number of Dialect Notes, just issued. This article Professor Pound read last year before an eastern meeting of the Dialect society.

.. Worthless Advertising ..

Millions of dollars have been wasted in frantic attempts to manufacture efficient advertising at a Publicity Desk.

The real asset of successful advertising is the respect that it creates.

Efficient copy must be based on sincerity. To create respect, the advertising must be conceived in terms of usefulness to the customer just as the factory product is conceived. This kind of advertising must be CREATED IN EVERY DEPARTMENT OF THE BUSINESS.

In Advertising, An Ounce of Sincerity is Worth a Ton of Jazz.

Five years ago, the Kline Publishing Company inaugurated a policy of SINCERITY and EFFICIENCY in the production of Publications. The results have far exceeded the fondest hopes of the managers.

Before the company was a year old NIGHT SERVICE had to be installed. Since then the plant has been in continuous operation—DAY and NIGHT PRODUCTION.

But in planning the tiny leaflet for the job press or laying out the biggest job for the Hoe Quadruple, the Kline Publishing Company merely sells the customer SINCERITY.
