

CHICAGO ALUMNI ENTERTAIN TEAM

Chicago Alumni Association Gives Banquet for Livestock Judging Team

The Nebraska Alumni Association of Chicago entertained the Livestock Judging Team at a banquet in the Morrison hotel in Chicago, Tuesday evening, December 5, 1922. Fifty alumni were present.

H. R. Campbell acted as toastmaster and called upon several of the alumni for toasts. There are about two hundred and fifty former Nebraska graduates in Chicago now. The Alumni Association expects to have a social meeting once each month during the winter. Plans are being laid to send a delegation of rosters to the Nebraska-Illinois game in Champaign, Illinois, next fall.

JEST FOR FUN.

Furs for women are always in season. But, the fall and winter are the logical times to wear them—accompanying the men. This year furs are taking on such brilliant hues that the animals themselves could not recognize their own pelts. In the movies last night we saw all the animal folk entering Noah's ark in "The Big Flood," one of "Aesop's Film Fables," and we couldn't help thinking of the fright some of them would get if they should pass Miss Lady, herself, on the Avenue all dolled up in her bright colored furs. It seems that every girl has a longing for furs—a coat, wrap, or scarf. Many a husband dislikes women's furs because they cost him so much and he doesn't wear them. There is a lot of fun in fur. Jokes on fur have a wide appeal. When "Topics of the Day" Films screens a fur joke it always receives warm laughter.

A GAMBLER'S CHANCE.

The doctor's wife was entreating her husband.

"George, dear," she pleaded. "I really must have a new fur coat to go with that new gown."

"Well," returned the surgeon. "I can't promise you definitely, but I will look over by list of patients, and if there is one with his appendix left, you get the coat."

Russia. There are thousands of Russian students all over Europe, and those are the fellows that are going to need help this winter. If you could only realize what they went through. The student from Russia who left his family behind is almost hopelessly lost financially. We were very much won over the few Russian students we met. They were fine fellows and were patriotic to their country. I do not mean their government, but more to their fatherland. We met these Russians in Prague, the University city of all nationalities. We couldn't help feeling that we ought to do all we could to help them out. They were working at jobs that barely gave them food and then saved some out of this to send to their starving parents in Russia. Last year, very often messages came to these hard working students that their parents had died from starvation and this resulted in many suicides then."

Questions were then asked by persons in the audience, and the meeting broke up about 8 o'clock. It proved of much value to all present and having it come from someone so close at home made it all the more interesting.

Play Unique Game in 1923

The most unique game in the annals of football will be played at Urbana, Ill., on October 6, 1923, according to the opinion of the press. The New York Times has taken note of the rulings of the game and says, "The idea on the face of it is a good one." The emphasis will be placed on tackling, carrying the ball, interference and the A. B. C.'s of the game. These are the most common weaknesses of the players, and with a stiff early season polisher both coaches hope to materially benefit their teams. The innovation of the coaches is receiving notice from all all parts of the United States.

FOR THE FARMER.

In a current screen editorial, "Topics of the Day," films asks fair-play for the Farmer as follows:

"Too much distinction is being drawn between the needs of the farmer and those of the city man. Their fundamental requirements are the same—there is no difference. Each requires food, raiment and shelter and each is dependent upon the other for them. Instead of aligning them against each other, effort should be made to bring about a better understanding between the two."

A horse shoe may bring you luck; but when it's thrown you'd better duck.

direction of William T. Quick played special music. The appropriate scenery, the wonderful stage settings betrayed careful work in the preparation of the play. The prologue was the scene of which was the love boat lent an oriental touch to the entire play. The scenery in this act was a masterpiece of production.

The executive staff to whom goes part of the credit is composed of H. Alice Howell, Herbert Yenne, C. L. Coombs, David Lindstrom, and Rudolph Sandstedt.

The play will be given again this evening and Saturday a special matinee will be offered.

Mr. and Mrs. Buol of Norfolk spent Tuesday at the Phi Mu house, where they visited their daughter Margaret.
