TIGER DEFENSE WINS BIG GAME FROM HUSKERS

Huskies Keep Close on Tiger's Heels Until the Last Five Minutes of the Fray.

BROWNING SCORES HIGH

Oklahoma Unable to Follow the Pace Set by Huskers Last Saturday Night.

Playing a brand of basketball that the Huskers were unable to fathom, the Missouri squad whipped the Nebraska team farther down the percentage column, when they won by a score of 33 to 18. Time after time, the Cornhuskers tried to carry the ball through the Tiger defense only to lose it before they came within shooting distance. Browning of Missouri, led the scoring while Warren was high man for Nebraska.

Fighting for a bare chance to win a victory, the Huskers threw basket for basket, up to the last few minutes of play, when the Tigers broke away and raised the count out of reach.

Coach Frank tried all combinations but none seemed to be able to break through the solid Tiger defense. Russell playing with the Huskers last night, doing some very effective work and tossing a good share of the baskets. Fisher, Klepper and Captain Warren worked smoothly on the Cornhusker squad. M. Tipton and P. Tipton showed brilliant form in all departments.

The Tigers were better finished but they did not have more fight than the Huskers. The ball was in possession of the Cornhuskers half the time but the baskets were hard to find. The Missouri squad worked the ball down the floor persistently and seemed to be able to locate the hoop for disastrous counters.

Each game shows much improvement in the Cornhusker squad. Coach Frank and Assistant Coach Munn are surely working out a squad that is showing ability to bring the average up to a desirable level. Any team that holds the title-contending Missourians to a margin of a few points throughout a game is able to proclaim itself as a squad of high calibre and worthy of Valley note.

The Oklahoma team was unable to play the brand of basketball that the Huskers cut loose Saturday night. Although game to the last and even threatening the score at intervals, the Sooners had to take the short end of the score.

SUBSCRIPTION DRIVE STARTS THIS MORNING

Many Nebraskan Subscriptions Have Run Out—Price Will Be $1.25 for Semester.

The subscription campaign for the Daily Nebraskan begins today. Second semester subscriptions are being sold for $1.25 at the post office of the paper. There will be soliciting in the line in Station A.

Four hundred first semester subscriptions have expired. All houses which had their papers delivered the first semester can re-subscribe at any time now. Most of the organizations have already made payments on their subscriptions. Bills for the balances will be sent out sometime this week.

Elsewhere in this issue, the names of those students whose subscriptions have expired, will be found. These students can re-subscribe either at the post office on the campus or at the office of the Nebraskan in the basement of Administration hall.

Nineteen hundred subscriptions have been secured for this semester. Most of these are people who made their subscriptions for the year in September. The circulation heads of the paper expect five hundred additional subscriptions to be secured before the campaign closes.

Faculty members, whose subscriptions have expired, says the circulation managers, should have them renewed as soon as possible so that the list of deliveries may be made up soon.

The Daily Nebraskan will be sent anywhere in the country for the price of the subscription. The members of the business staff suggest that students and the paper home, as a means of telling the home folks just what they do at the University.

Most Students Consider Starting of New Semester as First of Year

January 1 is the conventional New Year, but has it any more significance for college students that the New Year which ushers in a fresh semester? A very appropriate greeting, at this week, would be "Happy New Year," for short, having it mean "Hope you get along well this semester."

In all probability some students will need the greeting, for, from what has been said, the last semester has not proved especially profitable. The last week of exams put a damper on many who imagined that they would go through somehow—some way.

Really though, it is hardly fair to speak harshly of exams. Professors were exceptionally lenient last semester. Whether it was because they did not care to have the bother and worry of correcting papers or whether it was just respect for the nerves and emotions of their students, cannot be ascertained, at any rate, there were fewer exams last semester than ever before. If a vote were taken from the student body, no doubt the method of the outgoing semester would be effected.

If the philosophy of "Coutie" work-outs—"Day by day in every way we're getting better and better," then it will not be necessary to give examinations at all. Some day, this medium for finding out how much a student knows, or rather, does not know, may become extinct.

The most popular "topics of the day"—"Didja pass?"—"What didja get from Professor Bla Bla?"—"Ob, the dumb'bell flunked me!"—"Say, I gotta carry seventy-two hours in order to graduate this coming June. Know any 'pipe' courses?"—"I have't registered yet?"—"Gee, I'm glad this is my last semester." These are only a few of the milder expressions that are floating around the college campus.

The new semester means a clean sheet for every student. There is a chance to make good, and by the way things appear, "making good" is going to be the slogan. Enthusiasm is in evidence everywhere, scholarship is becoming a more popularly discussed subject. Everybody seems "ready to take the reins." Just why, can't be determined, may be it's the weather. Dunno!

UNI JOURNAL GIVES FACTS ON STADIUM

Chairman and Workers Given Prominent Place in January Issue.

The chairman and workers in the campaign for the Nebraska Stadium are given a prominent place in the January number of the University Journal. A list of the county chairmen, their quotas, and the amount subscribed are given. Forty-one of the eighty-six counties have passed their quotas and twelve have not yet reported. About eight-seven per cent of the grand total has been made. Photographs of Harold Holtz, '17, Secretary of the Alumni Association and chairman of the campaign; Robert H. Manley, '97, Omaha, who directed the publicity campaign with Frank A. Baulta, '08, Omaha, and Robert F. Craig, '24, Lincoln; August Elche, president of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce, and Earl Campbell, '10, Lincoln, who were in charge of the drive in Lincoln; Chauncey Nelson, '23, Lincoln, in charge of the student campaign, and the following county chairmen: Clyde B. Dempster, '17, Gage; E. L. Cochran, '10, Lincoln; A. B. Mickey, '17, Polk; Fred W. Clark, '18, Red Willow; William H. Quade, '08, Logan; Edward Bauman, '02, Cum- ming; Lowell Walker, '14, Platte; W. W. Wilson, '98, Otoe, and A. C. Krebs, '18, Clay, appear in the Journal.

Every student should know the details of the Stadium Drive. For some day they will be called on to account for the stadium says the Journal. The students, in spite of the fact that they are right in the heart of the affair, can very seldom repeat the details. The University Journal gives one of the most complete summaries of the campaign ever printed, and in addition, contains the pictures of persons closely connected with University activities.

AG CLUB ELECTION

James C. Adams Elected President for the Second Semester.

The Agricultural club of the University held its election of officers for the semester at the College of Agriculture campus last Thursday. The following men were elected:

James C. Adams, president.
Alfred Stenger, vice president.
Thomas Koontz, treasurer.
Joseph Lite, secretary.

George Scheidt was elected treasurer of Farmers Fair to fill that vacancy which occurred through the resignation of Harley Rhodes.

The president of Ag club during the second semester automatically becomes a member of the Farmers Fair board. This makes this board complete and it is now formulating and developing plans for a bigger and better fair. The committees are almost all appointed to carry on the work and all indication are that May 5 will be a "red letter" day in the history of Farmers Fair.

The Greek government has proclaimed amnesty for all political offenses except in cases where judicial decision has already been given.

COMMITTEE MEETS

Committee on Scholarship Will Treat Delinquencies Carefully.

The Committee on Scholarship in special session Thursday, January 11, took the following action regarding delinquent students after studying the rules in force in other state Universities.

"Because of the great number of delinquent students in the institution, the Committee on Scholarship has found it necessary to use its discretionary power of reinstatement only in very exceptional cases."

REGISTRATION FIGURES SHOW BIG INCREASE

Present School Year Promises to Be Largest in History of the University.

With 792 more students registered for the second semester than were a year ago, the year 1922-1923 promises to be the largest in the history of the University, according to figures obtained at the registrar's office yesterday.

Over forty-two hundred were registered at the end of the first three days of classes this fall. Second semester registration is always smaller than that of the first semester. By noon Saturday, January 20, 3,971 had registered. Last year's second semester registration totalled 3,414. By 5 o'clock Monday 235 more completed programs were reported to the registrar's office.

Lines at the registrar's and the assignment committee's rooms were short by the closing hour Monday and it was thought that the rush was over.

NEW STAFF STARTS WORK ON NEBRASKAN

Six Column Paper to Be Put Out Second Semester—Reporters Should Report to Managing Editor.

With this issue, the Daily Nebraskan, under the management of the new staff chosen by the Student Publication Board on Monday, January 15, begins the publication of a six-column paper. It is felt by the members of the newly-elected staff that since the advertisements and the activities are both lessened the second semester, six columns of live news would make a more readable paper for the students of the University.

Competitions for the positions was on the basis of scholarship, time to attend to the work, and qualifications for the positions, applied for. The candidates appeared before the Board at its meeting, in order that the members might meet those with whom they were not acquainted and in order that the Board might ask them questions which were not specifically answered in their applications.

For managing editor there were three candidates; for associate editor, four; for the three night editorships, seven; and for circulation manager, three. For editor, business manager, and assistant business manager, there was one each.

The members of the Board are: Faculty (appointed by the University Senate)—Prof. H. E. Bradford, Prof. M. M. Fogg, acting chairman; Prof. S. B. Gass, Librarian Malcolm G. Weyer; student (elected by the students)—Norman Cramb, '23, Fairbury; Joseph G. Noh, '22, Graduate, Clarkson; and Joseph R. Tottenhoff, '24, North Platte.

The smaller sized publication for the second semester will help the staff to put out a mechanically more accurate paper and to get all the news as soon as it happens. Less to read, more concise statements of the campus happenings, and fewer imperfections in the paper, are the aims of the present staff of the campus publication.

Items of interest to students as well as announcements for the calendar and the notices column should be brought to the Daily Nebraskan office as early in the day as possible. News of alumni, the classes, the faculty or of students will be particularly interesting to the people who will read the paper.

The address on "The Responsibilities of Citizenship" by Dean Warren A. Seavey of the College of Law at the mid-year graduation exercises of the Lincoln high school, January 19, was the subject of a lengthy editorial in the Lincoln Sunday Star.

STUDENTS TO HEAR VISITORS FROM EUROPE

Three Members of Returned Student Friendship Pilgrimage Will Speak to Students.

HERE FEBRUARY 13 TO 15

Will Tell of Conditions in Their Own Countries and How Students Can Help.

Antonin Palecek of Prague, William A. Robson of the London School of Economics, Joachim Friedrich of Germany, and George D. Pratt, Jr., of Yale, will come to the University of Nebraska February 13, 14 and 15, as members of the return student friendship pilgrimage from Europe.

These students from over the seas will speak to groups at the University of Nebraska. A representative of any organization whose members would like to hear them should call at the Daily Nebraskan office and leave a note to that effect. These notes can then be given to the committee on arrangements for the students.

A Student Conference was held under the auspices of The National Student Forum at Hartsdale, N. Y., from December 26th to December 29th to discuss the economic basis of our education. Twenty-three colleges were represented; although there were about sixty delegates chosen from the local forums, the student governments and college publications.

The National Student Forum is a federation of local college discussion groups, it has no platform and no principle except freedom of speech. Its object is to encourage students to examine and to express their opinions on current problems, and to help the students realize that the youth of a nation has something of definite value to contribute to the settlement of these problems and to the culture of their country.

The students at the Conference agreed that everyone who contributed to support education was in turn benefited by it, but the workers did not seem to be getting a fair share of the benefits. The students therefore felt themselves in debt to the worker and insisted that they must pay back what they had received, either by going into worker's education, or into some basic activity which should bring to the worker a fuller and richer life.

The chief guests at the Conference were the six foreign students whom The National Student Forum has brought to the United States. These young men from Germany, Denmark, Czechoslovakia, Holland, and England, are a living witness to the power and influence of the youth movements abroad. More than one eminent writer has declared that the youth movement is Germany's greatest, if not her only hope.

Last year, while traveling in Europe, George D. Pratt, Jr., Foreign Secretary of The National Student Forum, attended an international student conference at Turnow, Czechoslovakia. He was much impressed by the fact that these students seemed to have fully realized the value of the contribution they could make to the life of their country, and were discussing only how best the contribution could be made.

Last summer, John Rothchild, Executive Secretary of the Forum and George D. Pratt, Jr., Foreign Secretary, visited ten European countries in order to select these students. The young men ranging in age from 21-28, were finally chosen from Germany, Holland, Denmark, Czechoslovakia, and England, in which countries young people are taking the most active part in reconstructing the national life.

The students were chosen in every case because they knew all the groups of young people in their country and could interpret the spirit of each. They come to give us what they have found of most value in their countries, asking no return only our friendship.

These foreign students will tour the colleges of the United States, staying a few days at each college. They come with two objects:

1. To tell us of the youth movement in their own countries.
2. To find a basis on which the youth of their country can cooperate with the youth of ours to develop a spiritual renaissance.

The National Student Forum hopes that this will only be the beginning of an exchange of students and an interchange of ideas which will make for an understanding between nations and vital international friendships.

REGENTS MEETING.

The Board of Regents of the University will meet in the office of the Chancellor Wednesday. This is the first meeting of the year, and the new member of the Board, William P. Warner of Dakota City, will be present. At this meeting degrees will be conferred.
