

ALL INDIVIDUAL PICTURES MUST BE IN MONDAY

Editor Adolph Wenke Announces Last Date For Photographs for the Cornhusker.

OLD PRINTS CAN BE USED

Students Should Take Negatives to Dole's, Where Proper Size Will Be Made.

Individual photographs for "Your Cornhusker" must be taken and prints accepted by February 5, according to an announcement made by Editor Wenke yesterday. Organizations, he says, should make their arrangements as soon as possible for space in the book and for appointments with the photographer. Those students, who still wish to subscribe for the Cornhusker may do so by seeing the business manager in the office of the Cornhusker in the northwest corner of the basement of Administration Hall. Members of the class division of the Cornhusker are now engaged in calling all junior and senior students, who have not, as yet, made their arrangements.

Those students who wish to use photographs from last year may bring their prints to Dole's studio, where prints of the proper size may be made. If photographs are taken this year, none may be secured elsewhere than at Dole's, because at other photographers, the sizes are not the same, and it is very difficult to make the size of the space for the individual's picture conform to the print.

Letters have been sent to twenty highest students' "Representative Contest" asking for complete lists of their activities. The complete lists of their activities, during their stay in college, will be published in the Daily Nebraskan for Sunday, February 4.

IS CHOSEN CAPTAIN OF PERSHING RIFLES

Grant Lantz Is Honored by Military Organization—Succeeds Joe Noh as Head.

Grant E. Lantz, major of the first battalion of the cadet regiment was elected captain of the Pershing Rifles at a meeting of the Rifles Wednesday evening. This is the last year for Lantz in the R. O. T. C. work. He succeeds Joseph Noh as head of the crack drill organization of the Nebraska R. O. T. C.

Norris Coats was elected to the post of first lieutenant and James Proebsting second lieutenant of the honorary drill company for this year. Howard Hunter was selected secretary.

The Rifles discussed plans for the rest of the year at the meeting. They expect to develop some new features in the military department in the near future.

Everson Speaks to Knife and Fork Club

William C. Everson, brigadier-general of the Seventy-sixth infantry, spoke at the Knife and Fork club last night at a banquet in the Chamber of Commerce club rooms. General Everson entered the service during the war as a private. "Challenge of the Impossible" is his subject. He saw service on the Italian front.

The Knife and Fork club, a business men's organization, was able to make two engagements with Everson, as a national organization. He spoke recently in Wichita, Kansas, to the club there. The meeting here is to be the annual patriotic meeting.

A reception committee, Dr. Eiche, president of the Commercial Club, Mr. C. S. Guenzel and Professor Taylor, met General Everson at the train yesterday afternoon.

Ex-Secretary of the Navy Daniels spoke to the club members at its last meeting.

Prof. A. L. Candy, dean of the Arts and Science College, received news yesterday of the death of an infant grandson in Pittsburg. The baby was one of twin boys, whose birth was announced five weeks ago. Pneumonia caused the death. The father is Dr. Candy's son, A. M. Candy.

Tryouts for Vesper Choir Held Tuesday

At the tryouts for the Vesper Choir, which were held Tuesday afternoon at Ellen Smith Hall, Ella Hardin and Neva Jones were selected to become members of the organization. Additional tryouts will be held Tuesday afternoon, February 6, from three to five at the same place.

The Vesper Choir is an organization under the auspices of the University Y. W. C. A., which furnishes music for the regular Tuesday Vesper services and also for special occasions where a group of women's voices is exceptionally appropriate.

PLAY FOUR GAMES IN GREEK TOURNAMENT

Acacia, Sig Alphas, Delts, and Silver Lynx to Meet in Semi-Finals.

The third round of the inter-fraternity basketball tournament was staged in a whirlwind fashion Wednesday afternoon on the Armory floor. Close scores marked the victories of Acacia, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Silver Lynx and Delta Tau Delta.

Acacia opened the afternoon performance by coming up from behind after trailing 4 to 2 at the end of the first frame, and winning from Delta Upsilon. The game was held up for some minutes while the eligibility of Danna, Delt forward, was questioned. Danna was only registered this semester. Page led the scoring with two throws from the court and four free flings.

With the score a 3 to 3 tie at the end of the first half and those points gleaned from the foul ring Sigma Alpha Epsilon shoved down the Phi Gams 15 to 7. Thompson did the main scoring for the Sig Alphas and Bernard found the hoop twice for the Phi Gams. Locke sped over the court in winning fashion but failed to mark up with the exception of three free tallies.

Sigma Phi Epsilon and Delta Tau Delta settled their argument in the fastest game of the afternoon with Tau Delt on the lucky end. Both teams played in a manner that brought the varsity to mind. Andrews and Haverly repeatedly broke through the Sig Ep defense and caged fancy goals. Hubka with his guarding kept the Sig Ep total low. Costello slipped in three field goals.

With a team depleted by influenza Delta Chi was nosed out of the Greek tournament, 10 to 13, by Silver Lynx. Bixby did the scoring for the Lynx and Sommers acted as the main cog in the Delta Chi scoring machine. The opening frame ended 7 to 5 with Silver Lynx trailing, their total resulting from the free basket tossing by Bixby. In the last few minutes of the final half Bixby sneaked in a trio more and with Boomer's throw made their total 13, proving unlucky for Delta Chi to overcome.

Returning Cornhusker Depicts University Life in Germany

"As a university student, the most interesting subject to me was the German university. I spent considerable time studying the ideals and methods of the educational and social sides of the German schools, and I am convinced, that despite the general opinion to the contrary, that the American university has accomplished greatly superior results."

In this manner, Herbert Mayer '23, who has just returned to Nebraska after an eight months' trip into Germany, summarizes German education. Mr. Mayer attended the University two years previous to his trip. He speaks German fluently and was thus able to come into close contact with the ideas of the German college man.

Mr. Mayer found the social life in the German universities very different from that at Nebraska. Women are a very inconsequential minority. In numbers they average only about 25 to 1,000 men and they take no part in school activities. There are dances every week but very few attend. The great sport of the German is his visit to the "wierte schaft," or German "beer garden." There he will sit with his companions, talking and drinking beer, or wine, if his finances permit. He often philosophizes, and his conversation improves greatly with a few festive glasses. The German student is more interested in sports than he was before the war. The university itself has no sports of any kind but the individual students engage in soccer and boating.

The German colleges have national fraternities but they are not Greek letter. The fraternities have no secret organization. The members are recognized either by the fraternity colors which they wear across their chests on state occasions, or by the "painter caps" which they wear to classes. German fraternities are divided into two classes. There is the fraternity whose aims are social and educational which resembles the American college fraternity. Then, there is the dueling fraternity. This type of fraternity is organized purely for the purpose of furthering the duel. Its members look with contempt on the members of the social fraternity and consider them "molly-coddles" and men of little spirit. The members of the dueling groups must duel every Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 5 a. m. until 5 p. m., throughout the school year. On these days all the fraternity members are required to miss school and attend the duels.

Mr. Mayer witnessed several of these all day dueling matches and considered them to be most interesting. The duelers wear affairs like football helmets which expose the entire face. The eyes are covered with wire goggles. They also wear shoulder pads and neck protectors. Their arms are covered with gauntlets. The German student duels with his best friend. He is particularly proud of a terrible face gash if his best friend has given it to him. The duelers often pour (Continued on Page 2)

How to Address Chemical Society

Mr. Harrison E. Howe, of Washington, will be the speaker at the one hundred and seventh meeting of the Nebraska section of the American Chemical Society, which will be held in room 208 Chemistry Hall, Friday at 8 p. m.

Mr. Howe, who is editor of the "Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry," is a graduate of the University of Michigan. Since then he has been one of the leaders in industrial chemistry, and during the war was consulting chemist for the nitrate division of the Ordnance bureau.

Xi Delta Sponsors Dinner for Girls

Xi Delta, sophomore girls' honorary society, sponsored a get-together for sophomore girls, Wednesday evening, at Ellen Smith Hall. Dinner was served at six o'clock. The dormitory girls of 1220 R street furnished music for dancing after dinner.

The members of Xi Delta gave a stunt. It is expected by members of Xi Delta that something of the sort will become a tradition at the University of Nebraska, after the fashion of the Silver Serpent and Mortarboard teas which are held in the spring.

THREE EUROPEAN STUDENT GUESTS RECEIVE PRAISE

Platt, Foreign Secretary of National Student Forum, Lauds Foreigners to Visit Nebraska.

TO ARRIVE FEBRUARY 13

Purpose of Trip is to Promote Good Feeling Between Universities of Two Continents.

"These fellows are more than well worth knowing. They have much to offer and we cannot afford to sit back in contented isolation if we are to take our place in the coming development of our world."

These are the words of Ceo ga D. Platt, foreign secretary of the National Student Forum, in an article, "A Great Opportunity," in the New Student, a periodical published in New York, in speaking of the foreign students, who are to visit Nebraska for three days, beginning February 13—Hans Tiesler, a German; Piet Roest, a Dutchman; and Jorgen Holck, Dane. These men will be accompanied by John Rothchild, of Harvard, and Jasper King, traveling secretary for the National Student Forum.

The purpose of this visit is not to ask for aid for the students in financial straits in the European universities but it is merely to give the American college young people a better understanding of the mind of the European University man, in the hope of promoting thereby a closer bond of unity between the different nations, states a bulletin from the Forum.

On November 22, Hans Tiesler of Berlin, and Piet Roest of Leyden, reached New York on the Saxonia. Tiesler is a young German workman whose higher education is composed of a term at the International People's College, Elsinore, Denmark. He is, according to those who have met him, is more representative of the true spirit of the present-day Germans, than anyone else, who has given his opinions to the people of this country.

Piet Roest of the University of Leyden, is one of the Dutch youths who are seeking the reconstruction of European civilization. Jorgen Holck is a student in the University of Copenhagen.

MANY EXPECTED AT BANQUET SATURDAY

Business Men Will Address Students Working Their Way Through School.

"Business men are enthusiastic, and expect a large crowd at the banquet," stated Wm. G. Altstadt in speaking of the dinner for students, who are working their way through school, which will be held next Saturday in the Red Room of the City Y. M. C. A. Many inquiries for tickets have been made at the Employment Bureau in the Temple Building. Students may also get tickets from Thomas Garrett. The dinner will be over before 8 o'clock.

The banquet, according to the Employment Secretary, is for the purpose of interesting the business men of Lincoln in the students who are having a hard time earning expenses. Successful business men, who worked their way through university, will be on the toast list, and they will present ideas of inspiration and help to the present students.

"Is It Worth It?" is the title of a speech to be made by A. N. Mathers, Speaker of the House of Representatives. J. W. Searson, president of the Knife and Fork Club, will also speak.

Harry La Towsky will talk on "How to Create a Job." Joe Ryons will be toastmaster. Both these students are seniors in the "Bizad" college. Three students and three alumni will be placed on the toast list.

The American Legion is fostering a movement which will ultimately become a body for Americanization in the schools, to membership in which three State Teachers' Association will appoint two members and the denominational schools two, with the intention of making patriotism a more important part of the curriculum of the public schools.

UNI PLAYERS STAGE O'NEIL DRAMA TONIGHT

"Beyond the Horizon," New York Success, Will Be Presented at Temple Theater.

The University Players will present Eugene O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon," at the Temple Theater tonight at 8:20 p. m. This drama scored a splendid success in New York City and is conceded by critics to be one of the best American plays ever written.

James Mayo, the practical, hard-headed farmer, is played by C. L. Coombs; Kate Mayo, his wife who fills the mother's position of peacemaker between father and son, is carried by Dora Lantz. John Dawson plays the rough, roaring sea captain, Dick Scott; Anderson Mayo, the brother, is played by Neil Brown. The leading role, Robert Mayo, is taken by Herbert Yenne and his wife, Ruth Atkins, by Helen Martin. Mrs. Atkins, the scolding mother-in-law, is carried by Marion Sargent; the little child, Mary, by Ellen Lewellen. William Norton plays the farm hand and Carlton Hawley the doctor.

This is the first appearance for "Beyond the Horizon" in Lincoln and the theater-goers of the city are taking advantage of the opportunity to see this production. A few good seats, however, are still left and are on sale at Ross P. Curtice Co.

Ames Cage Team Defeats Bulldogs

The Ames Aggies' basketball stock took a rise when they nosed out Drake 29 to 27 in a fast game Tuesday evening. The Cyclones displayed the same brand of team work that they used against Missouri the preceding week, but were unable to show in the fray with Nebraska.

Jacobson, long Aggie center, broke through the Bulldog defense, showing ease in handling the ball and hitting the hoop. Raff, the midget forward, whose work was of star quality up to his injury in the Grinnell game was not used, but will probably be in position against the Huskers Saturday night.

Last year, after being defeated on their home floor by the Scarlet and Cream five 26 to 7, the Aggies came to Lincoln and evened matters up in one of the fastest games of last season. News is prevalent in the Husker camp that they are confident of regaining the tale this year.

Ames uses the same short pass system of Missouri and nearly beat the Showme team at their own game several weeks ago, when Missouri succeeded in stealing a two-point victory. Dancing will close the Saturday evening performance.

PROPOSE A SCHEDULE FOR COLLEGE WOMEN

Ten-Hour Day, Six Days a Week, Is Program Outlined at Barnard College.

A proposition of a ten-hour day, six days a week, for college women has been proposed by the Board of Student Presidents of Barnard College, and will be put to a vote by the students in the near future. It is urged by the members of the Board, according to a dispatch sent to the colleges all over the country, that with the eight-hour day the pre-eminent cry in industry, surely the ten-hour day is not asking too much from the college girl.

The plan as outlined at Barnard, a New York college for women, proposes a new point system to regulate extra-curricular activities. Eight hours sleep, two hours exercise, four for meals and incidental duties at home, and ten for college activity is the ratio proposed by the plan of the presidents.

It is explained that the new method of extra-curricular activities would be regulated by a point system, in which each point would signify three hours of work. No student of Barnard, were the system in effect, would be permitted to carry more than a total of twenty points of work a semester, combining academic and extra-curricular work.
