TO ELECT MAY QUEEN FOR IVY DAY WEDNESDAY

Senior Girls Will Vote for Co-ed to Fill Honor Position on Fete Day this Spring.

CAST VOTES IN LIBRARY

Election Will Be in Charge of Mortarboards—Kept Secret Until Crowning May 1.

The May Queen, to be crowned Ivy Day, which falls this year on May 31, will be elected by the girls of the senior class Wednesday. This election will be under the auspices of the members of Mortar Board, senior girls honorary organization and will be held in the Library, from 9 to 6. All senior girls may vote.

A list of the girls who are eligible for the honor will be posted in the Library, and no nominations will be made in advance. It is a tradition that there shall be no electioneering.

The May Queen is crowned in an outdoor theatre which is built in the quadrangle on the city campus. She is attended by a maid of honor, the senior girl who received the next highest number of votes. The identity of both of these girls is kept secret until the morning of the coronation.

Two maids of honor are chosen from each of the four classes. These girls precede the Queen on the way to the coronation. A pageant is usually staged, and the Ivy Day address is delivered before the newly-crowned sovereign.

The Ivy Day orator, elected Tuesday by members of the senior class, delivers his address after the coronation.

The president of the senior class, escorted by the president of the junior class, plants the historic ivy at the side of Administration hall. This is also a part of the Ivy Day exercises.

A Lenten Thought for Every Day

The Day Returns.
The day returns and brings us the petty round of irritating concerns and duties. Help us to play the man! Help us to perform them with laughter and kind faces. Let cheerfulness abound with industry. Give us to go blithely on our business all this day. Bring us to our resting beds weary and content, and undishonored, and grant us in the end the gift of sleep. Amen.

Corsages Not to Be Sent for Pan-Hellenic Party

At a meeting of the fraternities which will be represented at the Pan-Hellenic formal party at the Auditorium next Friday night, action was taken to endorse the movement that no flowers be sent to co-eds on the occasion of this Greek formal. Uncertainty as to this part of the plans was the reason for the formal announcement.

Additional calls for tickets should be made today to any member of Kosmet Klub.

COMMITTEE GRANTED EXTENSION OF TIME

University Investigating Committee Will Work Until March 20 Looking into Affairs.

The house committee that is investigating university affairs reported Tuesday morning that another month is necessary to finish the work upon which it is engaged, and further time until March 20 was granted.

The committee says that it is necessary to take up one department at a time, and that each time it gets some new lead that necessitates investigation elsewhere. The partial report made assures the house that the results so far are of vital importance both to the university and the people. The people set out these facts:

"Your committee has proceeded to investigate the University of Nebraska entirely in the spirit of the resolution adopted by this body.

"You will readily appreciate the impossibility of your committee investigating all departments at once, and that your committee must proceed in this investigation by departments separately.

"On the invitation of the head of the department of soil survey and conservation of resources of the university, your committee with the assistance of an expert accountant proceeded to investigate this department in the matter of expenditures. This one department maintains seven state automobiles at the present time. As these expenditures were being investigated suggestions came from some unknown source to your committee that their investigation be directed into the record of the blue sky department to ascertain the policies of the department of soil survey and conservation relative to various commercial stock selling activities. The department of soil survey and conservation appears to be overlooked by law to the bureau of securities.

Your committee has carried their investigation into the bureau of securities. The disclosures made in this direction were from them beginning of such a highly important nature that your committee felt impelled to follow out these developments to their reasonable and logical conclusions.

"Limited time has not permitted your committee to, in any degree, complete its work.

"Your committee believes it to be the spirit and purpose of this investigation to look into the financial affairs and policies of the university and not any one department only.

"Your committee has been working with a determination that their investigation shall not be diverted to any one major department, and your committee has reasons to believe that if they are given the opportunities of longer time to direct the course into other departments of the university that many additional and important facts can be secured and presented to you for your judgment and information.

"Your committee deeply appreciated the purposes and responsibilities of this investigation and assures you that the results of their efforts and labors thus far are of vital importance both to the university and to the state of Nebraska.

"Your committee earnestly and respectfully petitions you to be privileged to lay before this body a complete report of the findings of a complete investigation rather than a partial report of any one department.

"Your committee desires also to call the attention of the house to the fact that sickness of the various members of your committee has very seriously interfered with and delayed this investigation. On the foregoing representations and statement of fact, your committee most respectfully ask to be continued until March 20."

DR. HARRISON TO SPEAK AT CONVOCATION

Graduated from Nebraska in 1905 and in Missionary Service for Fourteen Years.

TO BE LAST VISIT HERE

Will Address Zoology Seminary and Pre-Medic Society at Special Meetings Today.

Dr. Paul Harrison, medical missionary from Arabia, and graduate of the University of Nebraska, will speak on "The Situation in the Near East" at special convocation this morning at 11 o'clock in the Temple. Today is the second and last of his visit to Lincoln.

Dr. Harrison speaks to the Zoology Seminar in Bessey hall at 5, and to pre-medic students at a dinner at the Grand hotel at 6 o'clock today. He has been a medical missionary at Behrein, Arabia, for the past fourteen years, having been graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1905 and from Johns Hopkins in 1909. He will be in this country until the summer of 1924 and he is at present traveling secretary for the Student Volunteers.

The conversion of Arabs to Christianity is difficult principally because they are very well satisfied with Mohammedanism. Dr. Harrison said to University student at a luncheon at the Grand hotel yesterday at noon. An Arab experiences no spiritual longings which cannot be appeased by Mohammedanism.

The Arab conception of God is that of an all-powerful ruler who doesn't interest himself with the personal morality or ethics of his worshippers, but requires them to acknowledge and affirm his omnipotence. As long as an Arab does this, he is supremely self-satisfied, and although he may be in rags and with only a hazy idea as to where his next meal is coming from, he regards no one as his superior, said the doctor.

The missionary in Arabia doesn't try to make Baptists, Presbyterians or what not of the Bedouins, but endeavors to teach them the skeletal teachings of Christ himself, stripped of unimportant theological baggage and doctrinal impediments. Dr. Harrison explains. The enlightened missionary is content if the Arabs accept the essential points of the Christian belief and adapt them to fit their individual needs. The result would be (Continued on Page Four).

DR. HYDE SPEAKS TO LECTURE GROUP

Science of Psychology Is Explained to Freshmen of Arts and Science College.

The science of psychology was explained to the freshmen of the College of Arts and Sciences, Monday evening and Tuesday morning, by Dr. Winifred Hyde, professor of psychology. The nature of the work in the study of psychology was explained and some experiments were performed by Dr. Hyde to show the practical application of psychological principles.

"Psychologists are interested in human beings. They would like to find out some of the laws that govern human behavior," declared Dr. Hyde. She pointed out that these laws were discovered by studying the mechanism through which the consciousness works.

Dr. Hyde explained that the first thing studied in psychology is the five senses, sound, sight, touch, smell, and taste. Dr. Hyde then performed several experiments to show some of the laws that govern the exercise of these senses. The human memory, the power of imagination and of association are also analyzed in psychology. Dr. Hyde conducted some experiments to show how these mental processes are studied by psychologists.

CHEMICAL FRATERNITY SPONSORING LECTURES

Series of Lectures to Be Given as Vital Force to Our Everyday Life.

Alpha Chi Sigma, honorary chemical fraternity, is inaugurating a series of lectures on chemistry as a vital force in our everyday life. The lectures will take place once every two weeks and will be given in the main lecture hall of the Chemistry building. The first one will be given next Thursday at 5 o'clock by Dr. F. W. Upson, the head of the chemistry department, on the Field of Organic Chemistry.

"The purpose of the lectures is to show the one who is not a student of chemistry that it is not merely a study of test tubes and abstract principles, but that it is vitally connected with our commercial and industrial life," said Lemont Kier, a member of Alpha Chi Sigma. Various business and professional men of Lincoln will tell how chemistry is used in their lines. Prof. C. J. Frankforter, of the chemistry department, will also be one of the speakers.
