

COUNCIL GIVES APPROVAL TO FOUR DRIVES

Daily Nebraskan, Student Athletic Ticket, Payment of Stadium Pledge, and Freshman Pledge Drives Authorized.

TWO NEW NON-VOTING MEMBERS APPOINTED

President of Body Demands That Student Representatives Be Consulted Before Any Project Is Launched.

Drives on the campus were authorized by the Student Council for the next two months at a special meeting held in S. S. 107 yesterday as follows: The Daily Nebraskan, September 24, 25, 26; student athletic tickets, October 10, 11, and 12; third payment of stadium pledges, October 24, 25, 26; November 5 to 10, drive for freshman stadium pledges. During this period all other drives have been eliminated. Two new non-voting members, Emmett V. Maun and Miss Arvilla Johnson, were appointed to take the place of those who did not return to school.

Drastic changes in the policy of other years were made at the meeting yesterday, which Clifford Hicks, president, classed as the most important of the year. The president stated that the Council demanded that it be consulted before any drive is started or such a drive will not be allowed on the campus.

The matter of allowing these drives was carefully weighed by the Council, according to the president, and it was decided that the appointment of dates would allow plenty of time between the important campaigns.

Miss Arvilla Johnson, who was nominated from the Teachers College for the elections last spring, will take the place left vacant by the failure of Miss Dorothy Hultin to return to school. Miss Johnson will attend all meetings but will have no vote.

Emmett V. Maun was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the absence of Ronald Button, who did not return to school. Mr. Maun will attend all meetings until a special election is held to elect a successor to Mr. Button. Neither of the appointees will have a vote in meetings.

The personnel of the Council for the 1923-24 session is:

Officers: Clifford M. Hicks, president; Helen Kummer, vice president; Ruth Small, secretary.

Senior members: Reede Reynolds, Clifford Hicks, Helen Kummer, and Mildred Daly.

Junior members: Ruth Small, Josephine Schramek, Robert F. Craig, and Carl J. Peterson.

Representatives from colleges: Francis Boucher, engineering; Victor Anderson, business administration; Marx Khenke and Frances Weintz, agriculture; Emmett V. Maun, (non-voting) and Neva Jones, arts and sciences; Gladys Lux, fine arts; Pell Broady, pharmacy; Arvilla Johnson (non-voting) teachers; William Scaaf, law; and Jack Meredith, dental.

Meetings of the Student Council will be held every Thursday for the next three weeks. The meetings will be held at the Temple at 6 p. m.

For the time being, the office of the Student Council will be in The Daily Nebraskan office, where the president, Clifford M. Hicks, may be consulted.

Y TO GIVE SECOND STAG PARTY TONIGHT

The second big Y. M. C. A. stag party for freshmen and others who wish to come is to be given tonight at 7:30 in the Temple. The entertainment committee of the "Y" cabinet considered the first party held last Tuesday so successful that a similar program will be given this evening.

The program will include a new film showing different phases of campus life and activities. A speaker is being secured for a short talk. Music, games, and refreshments will fill in the remainder of the evening. As the get-together starts at 7:30 it will be over by 9 o'clock to allow for other appointments.

BEGIN WORK ON UNI DIRECTORY

Work has commenced on the University Directory for the year 1923-1924 by the joint committee appointed by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. for that purpose. This roster of faculty and students is compiled annually and put on sale as the most complete and convenient directory of Nebraskans.

As in the past, this year's book will contain the name, telephone, home and Lincoln address, year, college and affiliations of all university students. The office and residence telephone and addresses of the members of the faculty are included. Separate lists of the students coming from the different towns of the state and of the students from other states are given in the back of the book.

The lists from which the directory is assembled are to be obtained thru classrooms in about ten days. These lists will be placed in the hands of the Y. M. C. A. about the last of September.

It is the plan of the committee in charge to have the book with the printer by about October 10 and if present plans go thru the book will be ready for distribution on the first of November. The "Y" committee in charge thinks that this record will be a good one since the books will be issued a week earlier than in former years in spite of the fact that school started a week late.

NEW STUDENTS QUICK TO TAKE UP N BOOKS

Entire Context is Rewritten; Upperclassmen Anxious to Get Copies.

Copies of the 1923 "N" book were distributed to the 300 freshmen who attended the Y. M. C. A. stag party last Tuesday. Since that time they have been given to men and women students alike as fast as they came from the printer. Twenty-one hundred books have been ordered, an increase of 300 over last year's order. Although there has been a constant demand for these guide books from upperclassmen, preference is being given to freshmen and new students.

The 1923 N book is distinguished by the fact that the entire context has been rewritten. Sixteen pages have been added and extra memorandum space provided for. Cuts of campus views and personalities appear for the first time in this year's issue. Much cumbersome material has been eliminated to be replaced by information which is considered more useful. The Y. M. C. A. cabinet believes that the result of these changes and the elaborate cover which features this edition is the best "N" book to date.

The staff which had charge of publishing the 1923 "N" book was selected from the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. cabinets. Frank FrFy was editor and business manager of the book and Edith Olds, publicity chairman for the Y. W. C. A., was associate editor. A staff of seven reporters assisted the editors with the publication.

Sixty men recently enrolled in the new course in wood pulp making that is conducted by the Forest Products laboratory and the University of Wisconsin Extension division.

A total of 540 students were enrolled in the classes of the Wisconsin Course in Journalism this year.

Wearing of the Green

Green caps must be worn by all first year men.

These caps must be worn at all times whether or not students are upon the University campus.

The caps may be discarded after Olympics if the freshmen beat the sophomores in the annual classic.

The Iron Sphinx will be in charge of the enforcement of the green cap rule and each sophomore man is appointed a committee of one to see to the enforcement of the wearing of the green caps.

Chancellor Supports Council

To the Students of the University:

Confirming a statement made on the authority of Mr. Hicks, president of the Student Council, in the first issue of The Nebraskan I wish to call your attention to the fact that drives on the University campus in which the students or faculty are to be solicited for money will be permitted only under the following conditions:

Any proposed drive should be taken up first with the Student Council and receive the approval of this body. After such approval the proposal will be transmitted under the signature of the president of the Council to the committee on student organizations of which Dean Heppner is chairman. If approved by this committee, it will come to my office for final approval, which except under unusual circumstances, will be a matter of formality.

S. AVERY, Chancellor.

AWGWAN NEVER TO APPEAR ON CAMPUS AGAIN?

Sigma Delta Chi and University Authorities Fail to Agree on Details Regarding Joke Magazine.

FRATERNITY MEETING FRIDAY TO DECIDE

Issue of Shun Last Year Put Local Journalistic Organization on Outs With Its National Headquarters.

Publication of the Awgwan, campus funny sheet since 1912, may be stopped on account of a disagreement between the Sigma Delta Chi, Journalistic fraternity, and University authorities over "The Shun" scandal sheet published last spring. The final decision is expected to be made at a meeting of the fraternity Friday.

It is said that the Student Publication Board not only objected to the Shun, but to the disposal of profits of the Awgwan. Though the national headquarters censured the local fraternity, it did not heed suggestions made to put Sigma Delta Chi publications here under the direct supervision of the university faculty.

Both university officials and Charles Mitchell, secretary of the fraternity, say that no definite action about discontinuance of publication has been taken. One member of the fraternity declared that discontinuance of the sheet is a certain thing.

The Awgwan was started in 1912 after the Arrow-Head, a high class humorous paper first printed in 1899, had expired. Ralph Northrup was the moving spirit of the new paper, and largely due to his efforts it was begun. Its drawings and cover designs from that time until now have furnished an outlet for student humorists and cartoonists, so ample an outlet, that its issues were published monthly instead of bi-monthly.

Some 1,200 Wisconsin physicians last year sent 64,768 specimens for diagnosis to the State Hygiene laboratory conducted in connection with the University of Wisconsin.

Badger University Commencement exercises now have their own special music, composed by the Director of the School of Music.

Member of Second Class Graduated Recalls University Life of the 70's

Dr. U. H. Malick, '74, Bloomington, one of the three members of the second class that was graduated from the University, was on the campus yesterday afternoon visiting Chancellor Avery.

A glance at the registration figures showed Dr. Malick that over 4,000 students had registered so far and led him to point out that in 1874 there were just sixty-nine students in the whole school. Only fifteen of these were taking collegiate work. The rest were taking preparatory work.

"University hall was the only building on the campus then," Dr. Malick said. "There were only five members on the faculty. When the building was first erected they put a furnace in the basement but the first winter we almost froze so they took the furnace out and put in small hard coal stoves."

Dr. Malick and Chancellor Avery laughed as they remembered how

REGISTRATION FIGURES SHOW 500 INCREASE

Announcement Made by Chancellor on Registration; Students Lost Through Reciprocal Tuition Plan.

SEVERAL COLLEGES NOT INCLUDED IN LIST

Enrollment Larger in Spite of Increased Fees Needed Because of Lame Legislative Appropriation.

(University News Service)

"Registration figures up to the present date indicate that there will be at least 500 more students in the catalog this year than last," Chancellor Avery declared yesterday.

Incomplete registration at the University of Nebraska Wednesday evening recorded 229 students in excess of the corresponding period a year ago. These figures do not include those registered in the College of Medicine at Omaha, the School of Agriculture at Curtis, in extension work, in the secondary School of Agriculture, and in the short courses. This increase in registration probably is a fair index to the increased attendance of students who will register in Lincoln for this year.

Altho Wednesday evening officially closed the three-day period of registration adopted in place of the five-day period of last year, the enrollment of students is continuing. Those registering late without special permission given on account of causes beyond their control are penalized by a late registration fee.

This increase in attendance comes in spite of the fact that the Board of Regents found it necessary to increase fees to care for the ever-increasing number of students seeking admission along with some decrease in legislative support. It comes, too, despite the fact that standards of scholarship have been consistently and constantly raised in the university as well as in the high schools of the state.

NOTICE

Student Managers

sophomores who wish to try-out for Football Student Manager by applying this fall as Sophomore candidates should report to the Athletic office at once or to Jim Tyson, Student Manager, at the gymnasium.

HARRIERS WORK OUT ON BELMONT COURSE

"One hundred and fifty men out for cross-country," is the call sent out by Coach J. Lloyd McMasters. "I see no reason why Nebraska should not have a successful season if we can get enough men out," stated the coach. Captain A. L. Hyde and thirteen other men have already signed up.

Freshmen especially are urged to come out and get in training. Although they are not eligible for intercollegiate contests this year, the training which they would receive this year would give them a tremendous advantage over other candidates who do not come out until they are sophomores, asserts Coach McMasters.

The men received their first serious workout last night under the coach's direction. Previously the men have been working out alone. No track is available at present, and the harriers will take short workouts on the Belmont course.

The schedule has not been definitely settled yet, but return matches will be held with Missouri, the Kansas Aggies, and probably with Ames.

The Belmont course, which has been used for several years will have to be changed slightly this year on account of the location of the stadium.

The fourteen men who had signed up last night are: A. L. Hyde, Paul Zimmerman, J. F. Schultz, J. M. Cohen, Robert Preston, W. E. Christman, J. W. Anderson, J. W. Ross, J. W. Hepperly, Ray E. Hall, Claire Fairchild, Eward G. Lee, George E. Ready, Raymond H. Swallow.

WFAV HAS COMPLETE NEW SET THIS YEAR

Radio Station Enlarged; Daily Nebraskan Articles to Be Broadcast.

WFAV, University radio station, has a complete new outfit including a motor generator set, new tubes, and a new panel. The transmitter has been enlarged to 500 watts.

The new set has been in operation about a week and seems fairly satisfactory, Mr. Moles, radio operator, said yesterday. It is not completely adjusted yet. The best range covered so far has been from Lexington, Ky., to Saskatchewan, Canada. This equipment was formerly used at the capitol, but Mr. Moles is trying to use it at the full 500-watt output instead of 250-watt as it was at the capitol.

New antennae have also been put up at the station and a counterpoise will soon be erected.

Articles from The Daily Nebraskan that may interest alumni are being broadcast at present on the daytime program of the station. The regular time will probably be 12:40 p. m.

Musical programs have not yet been definitely arranged. The artists will use the same room in the Electrical Engineering building as that in which the set is located. A piano will be moved in soon and programs begun. The arrangement will eliminate telephone-line troubles encountered using a library room last year.

Suggestions and constructive criticism are welcome from anyone on the campus, Mr. Moles said.

Business or vocational subjects are studied by one-fourth the persons who take correspondence-study courses through the Wisconsin University Extension division.

Student Reception

The annual reception given by Chancellor and Mrs. Avery for all students and members of the faculty will be given in Fine Arts hall Saturday evening from 8 to 10. This has been a custom for years, and is always an event looked forward to by the new students who have never had an occasion to meet the Chancellor and Mrs. Avery. A large number of persons always take advantage of the invitation issued and take opportunity of meeting the head of the University of Nebraska and his wife.

CAMPAIGN FOR SUBSCRIPTIONS WILL BE MADE

Nebraskan Solicitors Start Three Day Drive Monday; Booths to Be Erected on Campus.

MANAGER WANTS 1,400 COLLEGE SUBSCRIBERS

Price Remains Same as Last Year Despite Greatly Increased Size of Newspaper.

At least 1,400 new subscriptions are expected by the management of The Daily Nebraskan the first three days of next week—"gala days"—when an active campaign will begin on the campus, according to Business Manager Hicks.

Booths are to be erected at the entrances of the Social Science and Library buildings, and a headquarters in front of University hall, with a corps of solicitors operating from them.

The price of the paper this year remains at $2 a year, or $1.25 a semester, despite the fact that the size of the paper has been increased. Last year a four-page, six-column paper was published. This year it will be a seven-column paper. By taking the paper the full year a saving of a half dollar is effected.

The paper costs only one and one-fourth cent a day, less than you pay for a paper on the street, yet gives you the only exclusively collegiate news service in Nebraska. Students who have been in school more than a year have found the Nebraskan an essential of college life. Many send the paper to their friends and relatives, as well as subscribing themselves.

Everyone taking a subscription will be given a pennant, with the inscription, "The Daily Nebraskan—1923."

ZUPPKE USING NEW MEN IN SCRIMMAGE

Illinois Coach Having Hard Time With Backfield, Ends and Tackles.

(Special to Nebraskan.) Light scrimmage featured the University of Illinois football practice yesterday. Coach Robert Zupke was using a backfield composed of new men, with the exception of McIlwain, the Illinois' star half.

In addition to McIlwain the new men were Hall, a junior, at quarter; H. Wheaton at half and Earl Britton at full. Zupke faces a hard task in developing ends and tackles for the Nebraska game.

Over 100 freshmen have reported for practice and have been going through light workouts, although they are not yet in uniform. About 50 more candidates are scheduled to report before the end of the week.

KINSINGER IS ADDED TO LAW COLLEGE FACULTY

James W. Kinsinger is the new addition made to the faculty of the Law College for this year. Mr. Kinsinger is of the law firm of Frost and Kinsinger, counsel to the Midwest Life Insurance company. He has a part time position, and will teach the subject of quasi-contracts.

Charles A. Robbins, the oldest member on the law faculty, has been promoted to full time in the Law College. To do this, he has given up his practice in the city, and he is now devoting all of his time to the school.

George N. Foster, full time professor of last year, is now on for part time. The one subject he is now handling is trusts. He has accepted a position as counsel for the Union Automobile Insurance company.

No definite registration reports have as yet come in concerning the Law College. It is expected, however, that this will be a big year. It is known that three more girls have registered in the freshman class. This makes a total of five girls now in the college. It appears that co-education applies to law as well as to the other colleges.
