Merely Opinion

It goes, "Beat Illinois." Sing it, yell it, think it, and the team will do the same.

Nebraska has no college center where students may gather for the common purpose of making displays of spirit. It is the lot of every individual to work as a unit for the benefit of the whole.

High school men wearing sweaters with letters on them will have to leave them at home. The only letter worn and recognized on the campus of the University of Nebraska is the official "N." If freshmen insist upon wearing the high school letters, the "N" club will enforce the rules in a definite manner.

There is more spirit being displayed on the Nebraska campus this year than ever before. This University is fast finding its bearings and moving into the place for which but few Universities are able to qualify.

DENTISTRY COLLEGE LOOKS FOR BIG YEAR

Thirty-eight Pre-dentals Register; Clinic Remodeled During Summer

With the registration of thirty-eight men as pre-dental students, the College of Dentistry looks forward to one of the best years it has ever had. During the summer months the clinic has been renovated and remodeled and the faculty predicts the highest degree of efficiency during the coming year. "Everything running smoothly," is the latest report.

As was announced last spring, the officers of the Dental Association are C. E. Burke, president; A. J. Thompson, vice-president, and R. H. Wudel, secretary-treasurer. In a few weeks a meeting of the Association will be held, when the plans for the coming year will be discussed.

Stanley J. Hall who graduated from Dartmouth College in June and who has been spending the summer in the east, has returned to Lincoln where he will make his future home.

IT GOES, "BEAT ILLINOIS"

Thursday afternoon one of the greatest football teams in America leaves Lincoln to meet the pride of the "Big Ten." The coach of the "Wonder Team" has expressed the opinion that he would be glad to see the greatest send-off in the history of Cornhuskerdom.

And the loyal Cornhuskers can do it!

When that train leaves the station there should be five thousand students at the train to send off the Nebraska team. There is no reason why there should not be. It is up to every individual in this institution to see that he is there.

The team has attracted national attention. It is up to the students to do the same. Unexcelled spirit can do that.

SUPPORT THE PLAYERS.

This is the University Players edition of the Daily Nebraskan. Every year the students in the dramatic department give several plays. They are characterized by the department as an effort to keep spoken drama alive. The days of the legitimate stage are not over, but dangerously threatened by the movies which are produced on a commercial scale and in such large quantities that they are shown cheaply.

Every play is well known. Every production is the finest piece of work that the department is capable of offering to the theater-goers.

Students will see some of the better plays of the modern stage if they will only support the University Players.

STUDY VERSUS ACTIVITY.

Some students come here to study and study only. Others come here to enter activities and that only. The real student is the one that comes for both. He is more valuable than either of the other two.

Many of the important positions have been taken from student politics to faculty and student supervision. Among other things, scholastic standing is considered very carefully. Then, it is quite evident that he who would enter activities would do well to keep his grades at a comfortable level.

However, there is need in the University for men who are active in affairs. They must sacrifice grades to be so. There is no question but that they do. Others enter no form of activity but keep up their scholastic standing.

This University is a unit that functions as does the rest of the world. All kinds of men are needed to make this a University that attains a great level. It has set a high mark and has earnestly tried to reach that mark.

DEFENSE OF THE IDLER.

As well known and as brilliant a man as Robert Louis Stevenson has written a defense for the person termed the "lounge lizard." The person who sits and dreams, the person who seems to throw all care to the weary world, the person who either dreams or thinks of topics of interest to humanity, may be justified in so doing even though it is not consistent with the trend of thought adopted by his fellowmen.

Of course there is a distinction between the genuine loafer and the "lounge lizard." The latter is different from the rest of the world. He is a counteracting force against the persons who scurry about like ants, who put the American rush into the world, who die at an early age from overwork.

There is need for the "lounge lizard." He helps maintain the equilibrium.

Some students mail their laundry on Monday. They should be more considerate. Monday is wash day.
