NO OLYMPICS ON HOMECOMING DAY

Dedication of Stadium Will Leave No Time for Annual Tussle.

The annual freshman-sophomore Olympics will not be held Homecoming day this year, the Innocents decided recently. Because of the dedication of the new stadium on that day, there will be no time for the fray, so it has been postponed until the morning before some other game. The definite date has not been set.

The first Olympics were held in 1908. Dr. Condra is the "daddy" of the idea which has now become a tradition. The late Dr. Bessey gave the affair its name of "Olympics." The Innocents have been in charge of it since 1910.

The main purpose of the tradition is to create better fellowship among the men of the two classes, and to give the new men a chance to show their athletic ability.

ASK BIG SISTERS TO FIND LITTLE SISTERS

Senior Advisory Board Says Freshmen Girls Still Asking for Sponsors.

Senior advisory board is sending out another plea to big sisters to get acquainted with their little sisters at once. Not a day passes but several freshmen girls appear at Ellen Smith hall and ask who their big sisters are.

Upperclass girls—those who have been chosen for big sisters, have a distinct service to perform, the board believes. Little sisters need them and want to know them now.

Some new girls have changed their addresses since registration and they are especially difficult to locate. If they will give their new addresses to some member of the senior advisory board their big sisters will be informed. Or if any big sister cannot find her little sister she should let the board know.

The senior advisory board is planning a picnic for Thursday, October 25, for all big and little sisters. It will be held at Antelope park so that there will be no limit to the number who may attend. Tickets will be on sale late next week.

"If This is Memorial Hall Where is the Armory?" asks Freshman

The freshman stood in the midst of the campus and pondered. The catalog stated that the Armory was right across from U hall but—after a thorough investigation he had found the catalog wrong! That building was not the Armory. It was Memorial hall.

What should he do? He took off his green cap and chewed the red button awhile. What if it should ever circulate that such a misrepresentation had been made? In a panic he turned to one of those holding down the nearby wall. "Oh, say, is that Memorial hall?" he queried. "It is," answered the amused upperclassman. "Well! Look here," exclaimed our friend, the freshman. "A big mistake's been made. The catalog has it labeled the Armory! Some one has been negligent." He stopped for breath. The senior gazed at the freshman's catalog and grinned. "Well! What'll we do about it?"

STUDENTS MUST AID CAUSE OF EDUCATION

Dean Buck Tells Freshmen That American Students Bear Responsibility.

If education is to be furthered and if the traditions of learning are to be carried on, the universities and university students of this country must do it, Dean P. M. Buck of the College of Arts and Sciences told the freshman lecture groups, Monday evening and Tuesday morning in Social Science auditorium. The subject of his talk was "The Liberal Arts College."

Whether or not we wish to do so, we have the responsibility. America is the one country today that is fitted for advancing learning, the Dean stated, after comparing the economical conditions of this country with the chaotic conditions of other important nations on the globe. Social, political, and economical conditions in the Old World are such that learning can barely exist, he explained.

While traveling around the world last year Dean Buck visited and lectured at many European and Asiatic universities. He noted that the existing economical conditions of each country had effect upon learning and students.

The students of other countries are dependent, alarmed, doubtful about the future, he continued. They do not know from one day to the next what misfortune may befall them or into what kind of anarchy their country may be thrown. The general feeling of the people of Europe and Asia is one of profound depression.

"What a contrast such is to the feelings of our students!" Dean Buck exclaimed. "Here they are optimistic, and positively directed toward a happy future."

Giving a student an opportunity to learn is one of the most important aims of the College of Arts and Sciences, the Dean insisted. To be educated one must know himself, and to know himself he must know that which is about him—or nature—and the society in which he is placed—or man. Until then one is not educated, declared the Dean.

GIRLS FROM ESTES SPEAK AT VESPERS

University Women Tell of Y. W. C. A. Conference There Last Summer.

The Estes Park conference held annually for Y. W. C. A. girls from the five west-central states—Nebraska, Wyoming, Kansas, Colorado, and New Mexico—was the subject of talks made by Desma Renner, Ruth Carpenter, Margaret Hager, Mary Creekspaum and Esther Swanson at Vespers Tuesday night. Lila Wyman led the meeting and Marion Yoder sang a solo.

"The Program of the Day" was the talk by Desma Renner who outlined the course of the day from breakfast to the campfire songs and "goodnight."

Margaret Hager told of the interested Bible study groups that took keen interest in Biblical characters. The undergraduate field representative, Mary Creekspaum, explained what the representatives from the various colleges discussed in their meetings.

Ben Cherrington, representing the Y. M. C. A., pointed out at their last meeting how closely the resolutions of the two organizations held to the same ideas of purpose and work.

Esther Johnson gave the closing talk on "Recreation." Leaders from each group planned systematic outdoor exercise for each day. Bus trips, horseback riding, and hikes were the favorites.

The meeting closed with the conference song, "Follow the Gleam." An investment in Nebraska spirit—buy a student ticket, $26 for $7.50.
